HUGHES' KEYNOTE ENTHUSES PARTY.

Letter of Acceptance Making Strong Plea for Nonpartisan Support Pleases Republicans.

HEARST AS REAL ISSUE.

Unless He Can Cut the Normal Up-State Plurality of 100,000 Politicians See No Hope for Him.

BY RAYMOND.

New York, Oct. 4.—[Special.]—There were two political events of great importance yesterday, which wise ones say forecast in some measure the result of the New York state campaign this year. These were, first, the appearance of Mr. Hearst in the afternoon before 15,000 people at the county fair at Fonda; and, second, the speech of acceptance by Mr. Hughes at the Republican club in this city. That they are both important is certainly true, but people may misunderstand the bearing of each event.

In the first place, as regards Mr. Hughes, there is no doubt that his letter of acceptance has proved to be a genuine political card. It has surprised and delighted not only republicans, who would be surprised and delighted at almost anything, but it is welcomed by that great mass of democrats who seem to be drifting away from Hearst and expect to anchor themselves for the time being with the republican candidate for governor.

Democrats, including men like Mayor McClellan, who bolted Hearst the day of the convention, and many others who have followed the same path since, have been in mortal terror for fear republicans would carry on a bitter partisan campaign and would drag in tariff and expansion and other things to such an extent as to make it hard for every democrat to come out openly in opposition to Hearst, who in any event is "regular," and regularity among a certain class of democrats counts for more than intelligence or sincerity.

Hughes' Start Auspicious.

Mr. Hughes' speech of acceptance, as was indicated in this column a day or two ago, evidently was inspired by his talk with President Roosevelt, or at least it was entirely satisfactory to the president, who gave the address his approval before it was delivered.

Among the solid business element in New York today, including both republicans and democrats, it is admitted that Mr. Hughes has hit off a remarkably effective campaign document. He has recapitulated briefly the supposed glories of the Roosevelt administration, but has taken pains to make it absolutely evident that national issues do not directly concern the present campaign, which necessarily must be conducted hereafter on questions bearing upon New York state alone.

When McClellan democrats heard that Uncle Joe Cannon, Secretary Shaw, Senator Beveridge, Elihu Root, and other great guns of the republican party were to thunder in New York during the campaign they were dismayed at the possible result upon their own followers. They said that hundreds and thousands of democrats who were ready and anxious to vote against Hearst could not be driven to do it if the campaign should be conducted on a national basis and with reference to national issues.

Speech of Acceptance Keynote.

From the mayor down these democrats accordingly are delighted with the skillful way in which the candidate cleared the situation, and from now on the central idea of the campaign from a republican standpoint will be these paragraphs from Mr. Hughes' speech of acceptance:

"What, then, is the supreme issue of this campaign? It is not the issue of republican record. It is not the issue of republican principles or of democratic principles. It is not a partisan issue at all. It is the vital issue of decent government. It is the issue which should array on one side all the lovers of truth, and sobriety, and honest reform, be they republicans, democrats, or independents.

"The question is whether the unholy alliance that succeeded at Buffalo shall capture the state of New York.

"Loyal, then, as we are to the republican party, we stand tonight upon a broader platform, claiming as a right the support of all good citizens, for, while we are republicans, we are citizens first, and in this campaign we stand for the honor of the state."

Hughes Has Oratorical Power.

Furthermore, while the matter of the speech of acceptance has aroused such general enthusiasm, there has been an extraordinary amount of satisfaction expressed by all republican leaders who were at the club last night and had an opportunity to see the candidate at short range. There have been a great many extraordinary illusions in regard to Hughes. He was supposed to be a cold man who could not unbend, a profound student, an abstruse mathematician, a dry as dust lawyer who delighted to pick to pieces contracts and accounts but who had no use for his fellow-man.

Mr. Hughes has achieved considerable notoriety as a mountain climber. He has passed his summers in the Alps for the last ... years or so, and has dug his way up ... many peaks at one time or another. ... that is the reason for his general ... of iciness, but it is as undeserved ... of Vice President Fairbanks. For ... although they do not rush into the ... of the ring, are particularly cordial ... who come near them, without regard ... personalities.

... aside from the matter of his ... the method of its delivery demonstrated to the satisfaction of old time republicans who heard it that in Mr. Hughes they have secured a candidate for governor with oratorical abilities of an unusual order. Not in a long while, they say, has the state had a candidate who could talk to such good purpose, take possession of his audience in such a short time, and hold the interest to the end. This means a great deal to the success of a campaign, and the preliminary estimate of the leaders is that Hughes has more than made good.

Hearst in Trying Position.

Now, as to Hearst. He was put in a trying position yesterday. He was expected to appear before 15,000 people on the outskirts of the racetrack at the county fair and make a ten minute political speech. He performed his part of the work with entire satisfaction to all his friends. That is to say, he talked

JUDGES ASSAILED FOR COOKE RULING

President Cole of Citizens' Association Denounces Action of the Appellate Court.

FAVORS ONLY TO RICH.

Reformer Says the Criminal Gets Considerate Treatment; Comment by One of the Jurists.

Because the three judges of the Appellate court have given former Circuit Clerk John A. Cooke his temporary freedom pending the hearing of a supersedeas petition, they have been severely criticised and condemned by George E. Cole, chairman of the Citizens' association, which secured the evidence against Cooke and led to his speedy conviction for wholesale grafting.

The judges are Frederick A. Smith, Frank Baker, and H. V. Freeman, and Mr. Cole, in a bulletin given out yesterday afternoon, calls their action deplorable. He says he has been informed that it is not customary to suspend a sentence when a defendant has been found guilty by a jury.

Causes Disrespect for Law.

"In my opinion," says Mr. Cole, "the example of these three judges in this case furnishes one of the causes for the prevailing disrespect for law in this community.

"Every one knows that no defendant, unless backed by wealth and political influence, would receive the extraordinarily considerate treatment that is being given Cooke."

The judges did not appear to be alarmed over Mr. Cole's sharp condemnation. Judge Baker was "not disposed to apologise or explain to Mr. Cole." He said it was a question of law and that the order spoke for itself.

Association Is "Surprised."

The protest of the Citizens' association was sent out by Secretary Shelby M. Singleton. As a preliminary part of the document Mr. Singleton stated the case thus:

"The officers of the Citizens' association, which dug up the evidence upon which John A. Cooke, former clerk of the Circuit court, was convicted of wholesale grafting, are greatly surprised at the action of Judges Freeman, Smith, and Baker of the branch Appellate court in giving Cooke his liberty after he had been given into the custody of a deputy sheriff who had orders to take him to Joliet. The explanation of their action given by the judges, that Cooke was released pending a decision as to whether he should be granted a writ of supersedeas, is sharply criticised."

Roast by Mr. Cole.

Then follows the opinion of President Cole regarding the action of the judges. Mr. Cole says:

"I think the action of Judges Freeman, Smith, and Baker of the branch Appellate court in releasing Cooke at this juncture is deplorable. The evidence presented against Cooke at his trial, which lasted three weeks, conclusively proved that he had defrauded Cook county of $24,000 by pay roll stuffing. So overwhelming was the proof that Cooke did not dare to go on the stand to refute the evidence against him.

"The verdict of guilty was reached by the jury on the first ballot, on July 30, more than two months ago. In due course his motion for a new trial was overruled by the trial court, and he was sentenced to the penitentiary. Now, after having been actually given into the custody of an officer who had orders to take him to the penitentiary at Joliet, he is again released by the action of these judges. I am informed by the state's attorney and other able lawyers who watched the case closely that there is no reasonable ground for claiming error in the case.

No Error in the Trial.

"While it is the rule of law that the defendant is to be presumed innocent until he is proved to be guilty, I am emphatically of the opinion that this presumption of innocence should be disregarded after the defendant has been found guilty by a jury and the trial judge has declared that there was no error in the trial. I am informed by eminent lawyers that it is not customary to suspend a sentence under such circumstances as this case presents, unless the court has reason to believe that there is error in the record.

"In my opinion the action of these three judges in this case furnishes an example of one of the causes for the prevailing disrespect for law in this community. Every one knows that no defendant, unless backed by wealth and political influence, would receive the extraordinarily considerate treatment that is being given Cooke. A jury has said that this man belongs in the penitentiary and the judges who aid him in evading his well deserved punishment should be held to a strict accountability by the public."

Judge Is Unperturbed.

"I don't care about discussing that decision," said Judge Baker. "It is not a question of what Mr. Cole thinks, and I am not disposed to apologise or explain to Mr. Cole. It is a matter of law and the order speaks for itself. There is nothing new about it."

Judge Baker talked considerably more about the case, but not for publication. As to whether the court would take any action against Mr. Cole for contempt of court, he said that was "another matter."

One of the judges, on this latter point, said a number of years ago Charles L. Wilson was found guilty of contempt of court because he criticised appellate judges.

"We were married in October, 1904, and almost immediately Dudley began to abuse me. He struck me several times in November and once while we were on a railroad train bound for Des Moines my husband created a scene in the car by striking me in the face."

V. SHAW KENNEDY DIVORCED

Wife Gets Decree After Telling of Husband's Waywardness.

BOTH OF RICH FAMILIES.

Defendant Plays Golf While Suit Is Being Heard in Court.

Mrs. Grace Cummings Shaw Kennedy secured a quick divorce late yesterday afternoon from Vernon Shaw Kennedy after she herself, a detective, and a woman friend had testified before Judge Chetlain regarding the actions of her husband.

The Kennedys reside at 3524 Michigan avenue and the wife is the daughter of the late Columbus R. Cummings, capitalist. She is 35 years old and is a sister of D. Mark Cummings. She is a large holder of First National bank stock and other properties and is reputed to own one of the finest collections of gems in the city.

Mr Kennedy, who belongs to the Chicago Athletic, Chicago, and other clubs, has an office in the First National Bank building in a suite with his brother-in-law, Mr. Cummings. While his wife was securing a divorce in the afternoon he was playing golf in the tournament at Wheaton. He is a director of the Hammond, Whiting and East Chicago Electric company and the South Chicago City railway company. Formerly he was interested in the Kennedy Biscuit company. He recently returned from a thirteen months' tour through Africa.

Happy for First Ten Years.

Mrs. Kennedy told the court that she had married Mr. Kennedy on May 23, 1889, that she had four children, and had been comparatively happy until the last ten years. Nine or ten years ago, she said, she first became aware of her husband's attention to other women.

"A number of my friends," said she, "told me they did not care to come to my residence because my husband made improper proposals to them. I heard this from seven or eight different channels."

After that, Mrs. Kennedy said, she lived entirely apart from her husband, although under the same roof. She said she charged her husband several times with having improper relations with other women and in one case he admitted it.

Woman Guest Arouses Suspicion.

"During the period of a few weeks," Mrs. Kennedy told the court, "I entertained a young woman in my house. I had, of course, having these former things told me, thought it strange that a young girl would be willing to stay up so late as she was in the habit of doing with a married man. Sometimes it was as late as 3 o'clock in the morning. At the same time I thought it would be unjust to suspect her unless I had evidence to corroborate it. So I decided to watch.

"I had retired, but did not sleep. At 3 o'clock, or maybe a half hour later, I stole half way down my stairway. In front of the stairway a tapestry was hanging. I saw nothing, but I heard enough to know that something wrong was going on. I felt convinced that I had cause to seek a divorce."

The name of the young woman concerned did not appear.

Mrs. Kennedy said she and her husband always had been courteous to each other before their children and the servants, but had been practically separated for the last nine years. Before her husband went to Africa he had absented himself for a half year in California. He had come home a short time ago, she said, to see the children.

Traced to Hotel and Resort.

J. G. Gunderloch, a detective, told the court he had seen Mr. Kennedy on Aug. 26 last at the Great Northern hotel, and later had seen him go into the Everleigh club at 2131 Dearborn street. The detective remained outside of the Everleigh club from 7:55 o'clock in the evening until 5:45 o'clock the following evening, but he didn't see Mr. Kennedy come out, so he got tired and went away.

The desertion charge was corroborated by the evidence of Elizabeth Casey, who lives at 6148 Kimbark avenue, and has visited the Kennedy home two or three times a week for the last four years.

"Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy," said she, "were not congenial, and they have not lived together for the last two years. He has been away for the last year in Africa, and before that spent six months in California."

The petition for divorce was filed at 4:10 o'clock in the Superior court by former Assistant Corporation Counsel Colin C. H. Fyffe, who represented Mrs. Kennedy. At 4:30 Mrs. Kennedy and her attorney appeared in Judge Chetlain's courtroom, and in less than ten minutes the decree was entered.

WIFE OF GOVERNOR DENEEN CRITICALLY ILL AT CAPITAL.

Suffering from Complication Following Childbirth, but Physician Hopes for Favorable Outcome.

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 4.—[Special.]—Mrs. Charles S. Deneen, wife of the governor of Illinois, is lying in a critical condition at the executive mansion as the result of uræmic poisoning. A girl baby was born to her this afternoon. The condition which causes the complication has existed for some time and has given anxiety to her family and intimate friends.

This is the fourth child that has been born to Governor and Mrs. Deneen. The following statement was given out tonight by Dr. L. C. Taylor, Mrs. Deneen's physician:

"Mrs. Deneen for a number of days has been exhibiting symptoms of uræmic poisoning. The child was born about 3 o'clock this afternoon. The symptoms referred to have not yet disappeared, and, while Mrs. Deneen is seriously ill, I am hopeful for a favorable termination of the condition within a short time."

Mrs. Deneen returned from Holland, Mich., a week ago Wednesday and had not expected to become a mother for about two weeks. She was taken seriously ill on Monday last. Dr. Frank Cary of Chicago was called in consultation Tuesday evening.

FROM CAB TO PATROL WAGON

John A. Roche Resists Driver's Charge and Is Taken by 'Cop.'

LUNCH PARTY BROKEN UP.

Police Station Ends Chapter I.; Lawyer Says There Will Be Others.

As a consequence of being arrested yesterday for resisting what he considered extortionate fare John A. Roche, whose father was a mayor of Chicago, has started on the warpath for the scalps of cabmen who overcharge and policemen who aid and abet them.

The first move of the young man, who is 26 years old, will be to seek the revocation of the license of Cabbie Simon Marks, 2432 Wabash avenue, who charged $1.50 for a drive from the Great Northern hotel to Rector's, with a five minute stop at the Northern Trust company. He will then file charges with the civil service commission against Patrolman Felix Quigley, who arrested Mr. Roche.

Beginning of the Incident.

It was during the rainstorm shortly before noon that Mr. Roche hailed Marks' cab at the Great Northern hotel and drove to the Northern Trust company, Monroe and La Salle streets, a distance of four blocks. The cabman waited for him while he cashed a draft, a period of about five minutes, Mr. Roche says. Then he drove to Rector's, one block away, and dismissed the cabman. Marks told him his charge was $1.50.

"That's too much," said Roche. "I'll pay 50 cents or $1, but not $1.50."

"No, sir, not a cent less than $1.50," maintained Marks.

"Well, then, I'll pay you $1.50, but you'll have to earn it," returned Mr. Roche. "Wait for me here. I'll pay you after you have earned it."

With that Mr. Roche descended to Rector's and joined his party, in which was his attorney, Elmer Schlesinger of Moran, Mayer & Meyer. The cabman followed him down the stairway, saying:

"I can't wait for you—I've got other business. I'll take $1 for the drive."

"No, you said $1.50," insisted Mr. Roche.

Brings In the Policeman.

It was between the bouillon and a pair of stuffed tomatoes that the cabman reappeared on the scene, followed by Patrolman Quigley. Mr. Roche still refused to pay the fare demanded. The policeman then told him he would have to go with him.

"You have no warrant and you have no right to enter this place and arrest a person without one," said Attorney Schlesinger.

This argument did not affect the policeman, who marched Mr. Roche out of the restaurant. They were followed by the attorney and the cabman. At Central police headquarters Mr. Roche again refused the cabman's demands. The patrol wagon was called and the young man and his attorney were taken to the Harrison street station.

"Somebody must make a stand against these robber cabmen some time, and Mr. Roche is going to do what he can to stop the wholesale plundering of the gullible public," said Attorney Schlesinger. "Under the ordinance Marks should not have charged more than 50 cents for the drive, which was less than a mile. The wait at the bank was less than fifteen minutes, and therefore could not be charged for."

TINY SISTER ISLE HOLDS CUBA'S FATE

Supreme Court's Decision on Pines Has Vital Bearing on the Republic's Future.

OWNERSHIP A QUESTION.

United States Has No Sovereignty, Root Says, and Claim Would Start Up Big Row.

BY JOHN CALLAN O'LAUGHLIN.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 4.—[Special.]—The Supreme court of the United States may render a decision next Monday which will have a tremendous bearing upon the Cuban situation.

The court heard during its last term a case involving the sovereignty of Cuba over the Isle of Pines. The treasury department had ruled that goods dutiable under the tariff laws of the United States imported into this country from the Isle of Pines were subject to duty as importations from a foreign country within the meaning of the revenue law.

The men who had been agitating for the acquisition of the island by the United States contended that the action of the treasury department was illegal, as the Isle of Pines was American territory. If the Supreme court decides that the island is not a part of Cuba, but American, it will be likely to embarrass the American occupation of Cuba, for the Cuban people will contend that the Americans are taking advantage of the moment to seize portions of their territory and yet keep faith with them and with the world.

Island Cuba's, Root Believes.

Secretary Root, who is one of the best lawyers in the country, is confident the Supreme court will hold the island is lawfully subject to the control and government of the republic of Cuba. In the secretary's judgment the United States has no substantial claim to the Isle of Pines. The treaty now pending in the senate recognizing Cuba's sovereignty over the island merely accords to Cuba what is her's according to international law and justice.

Even if the Supreme court holds the island is indubitably Cuban it is apparent, in view of the trouble in Cuba, that the senate will not ratify the treaty now before it. Senator Foraker, who made the report from the committee on foreign relations recommending ratification of the treaty, is in Washington and said tonight it was his purpose to press the ratification of the treaty as soon as congress convened. The senator declined to discuss the probable action of the senate, but the disposition of the men in opposition to the treaty is to push it to a vote and force its rejection.

The rejection of the treaty would not, however, put an end to the control of the Havana government over the island. A treaty directly contrary to one now pending would be necessary to do that, and Secretary Root has authorized the statement that there is not the slightest prospect of such a treaty being made.

Nation Must Abide by Pledge.

The attitude of the secretary in this matter is in accordance with the policy he adopted immediately after he entered the state department and which he explained to the people of South America on his recent tour. Four years ago, when Germany was accused of having designs on American territory, the German emperor communicated to President Roosevelt the assurance that his government did not covet a foot of soil in the western hemisphere. This declaration was a matter of considerable gratification to the United States and to South America. Save for one incident, which was disavowed promptly, Germany never has violated this assurance.

Secretary Root has made a declaration similar to the German emperor's, and he proposes to abide by it in even stricter fashion. So long as he is secretary of state Cuba will remain Cuba, provided the people there can maintain a sufficient show of order to prevent the necessity of American intervention. The policy of Secretary Root will be extended to Santo Domingo, where the United States has intervened to the extent of collecting the customs dues of the island.

It was learned today the secretary proposes materially to modify the treaty pending in the senate authorizing the United States to arrange the fiscal affairs of the republic. Through the mediation of Assistant Secretary of State Bacon the Dominican government floated a loan in New York during the last summer which will prove sufficient to enable it to liquidate the foreign indebtedness it has incurred.

Santo Domingo a Problem.

The pending treaty must be radically changed in view of this new circumstance, but so far as can be ascertained now, the purpose of the authorities here is to continue American fiscal control for the benefit of the bondholders while limiting the extent of intervention. The senate had an agreement to vote on the treaty immediately after congress convenes and the indications were it would be rejected, especially as the democrats had caucused against it.

By amending the treaty Secretary Root believes the caucus action of the democrats will be nullified and the senators will feel justified in voting upon the treaty according to their individual judgment and not in compliance with the command of their party.

There is no question that the attitude of the administration toward Cuba, the Isle of Pines, and Santo Domingo, which are grouped in the eyes of pan-American diplomats, is considered by them as a confirmation of the declarations made by the secretary on his South American trip. The ultimate fate of Mexico and the Central American republics is annexation to the United States. Such an event is in the lap of time, however, and in the interim the Cuban question will be settled by the incorporation of the Pearl of the Antilles into the American union.

The South Americans fear this incorporation is the first step in a greater scheme of territorial aggrandizement which they ascribe to America, and they are consequently anxious that the United States delay the acquisition of Cuba until the time when they may be strong enough to protest.

Attempts have been made in South America to organise an alliance against the United States, but this will not be necessary, according to pan-American diplomats, if the American people live up to the declaration of Secretary Root. Collectively, at this time they can do nothing against America, but united in the future and with European assistance they would constitute a formidable enemy. The international situation could never be clearer for American occupation of Cuba.

Cuban Action Pleases Chile.

Among the callers on the secretary today were the ministers from Hayti, Peru, Bolivia, and Chile, and the secretaries of the Panama and Argentine legations. There was only one subject talked of—the West Indian situation. Secretary Root communicated to them the decision of the president to withdraw from Cuba as soon as the elections can be held. This causes considerable satisfaction, especially to Chile, which has had no special love for the United States, and only a couple of years ago entered into negotiations of a treaty of alliance with the United States of Colombia against America.

While talking today with a prominent naval officer the fact was recalled that the president was almost on the point of making a naval demonstration in Chilean waters to put an end to Chilean antagonism to American construction of the Panama canal. The Asiatic fleet was ordered to Honolulu in preparation for orders to South America. Fortunately Chile changed her attitude, and the ships were ordered back to China.

SECRETS IN CUBAN CRISIS.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 4.—Secretary Root made public today the correspondence leading up to the intervention in Cuba. The correspondence took place between Consul General Steinhart at Havana and Acting Secretary Bacon of the state department. An important feature developed in the dispatches was that intervention was asked by the Cuban government as early at Sept. 8, and that as long ago as Sept. 14 President Palma had determined to resign as president of the republic, and that the vice president and cabinet minister also had determined no longer to continue in office. It is also shown that intervention by the United States had long been planned by the Palma government and was communicated to the state department in a letter by Consul Steinhart as early as Sept. 5. The correspondence follows:

"Havana, Sept. 8, 1906.—Secretary of State (absolutely confidential): Secretary of state of Cuba has requested me, in the name of President Palma, to ask President Roosevelt to send immediately two vessels, one to Havana, other to Cienfuegos. They must come at once. Government forces are unable to quell rebellion. The government is unable to protect life and property. President Palma will convene congress next Friday, and congress will ask for our forcible intervention. It must be kept secret and confidential that Palma asked for vessels. No one here except president, secretary of state, and myself know about it. Very anxiously awaiting reply. Send answer to

"STEINHART, Consul General."

"Havana, Sept. 10, 1906.—Secretary of State, Washington: President here worried because no reply received to my message and asks war vessels be sent immediately.

"STEINHART, Consul General."

Roosevelt Delays Action.

"Department of State, Washington, D. C., Sept. 10.—Steinhart, Havana: Your cable received. Two ships have been sent, due to arrive on Wednesday. The president directs me to state that perhaps you do not yourself appreciate the reluctance with which this country would intervene. President Palma should be informed that in the public opinion here it would have a most damaging effect for intervention to be undertaken until the Cuban government has exhausted every effort in a serious attempt to put down the insurrection and has made this fact evident to the world. At present the impression certainly would be that there was no real popular support of the Cuban government or else that the government was hopelessly weak.

"As conditions are at this moment, we are not prepared to say what shape the intervention should take. It is, of course, a serious thing to undertake forcible intervention and before going into it we should have to be absolutely certain of the equities of the case and of the moods of the situation.

"Meanwhile we assume that every effort is being made by the government to come to a working agreement, which will secure peace with the insurrectos, provided they are unable to hold their own with them in the field. Until such efforts have been made we are not prepared to consider the question of intervention at all.

"BACON, Acting Secretary."

Explains Cuban Situation.

"HAVANA, Sept. 10, 1906.—Secretary of State, Washington: Your cable received and directly communicated to the president, who asks the ships to remain for a considerable time to give security to foreigners in the island of Cuba, and says that he will do as much as possible with his forces to put down the insurrection, but if unable to conquer or compromise, the Cuban congress will indicate the kind of intervention desirable. I appreciate the reluctance on our part to intervene, especially in view of Secretary Root's recent statements. Few, however, understand the Cuban situation, and a less number are able to appreciate the same. This is, of course, without any reference to superior authority. Palma applied public funds in public works and public education, but not in the purchase of war material. Insurrectionists for a considerable time prepared for the present condition, hence the government's apparent weakness at the commencement. Yesterday's defeat of the rebels gives the government hope. Attempts were useless from the start. STEINHART,

"Consul General."

Intervention Out of Question.

"Department of State, Washington, D. C., Sept. 11, 1906.—Steinhart, consul general, Havana: Your letter of Sept. 5 has had the careful consideration of the president, who, for your private information, believes actual immediate intervention to be out of the question. We are considering, however, and would like your opinion as to whether or not to send a word of emphatic warning as to the certainty that intervention will come in the end unless the people of Cuba, for the sake of their country, find some way to settle their difficulties irrespective of personalities, cease their contentions, and live in peace. This you may convey confidentially to President Palma, but not for publication. You will urge President Palma to use in the most effective manner all the resources at his command to quell the revolt. BACON."

Palma Asks for Intervention.

"HAVANA, Sept. 12, 1906.—Secretary of State, Washington.—Secretary of state of the republic of Cuba at 3:40 today delivered to me memorandum in his own handwriting, a translation of which follows and is transmitted, notwithstanding previous secret instructions on the subject:

"'The rebellion has increased in the provinces of Santa Clara, Havana, and Pinar del Rio, and the Cuban government has no elements to contend it, to defend the towns and prevent the rebels from destroying property. President Estrada Palma asks for American intervention and begs that President Roosevelt send to Havana with the greatest secrecy and rapidity 2,000 or 3,000 men to avoid any catastrophe in the capital. The intervention asked for should not be made public until the American troops are in Havana. The situation is grave and any delay may produce a massacre of citizens in Havana.'

"STEINHART, Consul General."

Roosevelt Warns Cubans.

"HAVANA, Sept. 13, 1906.—Secretary of State, Washington: Your cable 11th received and instructions complied with. My opinion is that a message reading as follows should at once be cabled to our chargé d'affaires here to be communicated to President Palma and if possible given at the same time to the press:

"'The president of the United States directs me to communicate to you that he regrets the present state of affairs in Cuba and directs me further to say that you must use in the most effective manner all the resources at your command to quell the present revolt or else in the end intervention on the part of the United States of America will become a necessity which, for the sake of your country (must) be avoided.'

"I have used, as far as possible, your own phraseology and I believe if so sent will have a favorable result in the Cuban congress next Friday. All reference to make a compromise or like ideas must be omitted; it is most important that the dignity of the government is upheld to guarantee its future stability. STEINHART, consul general."

Intervention Again Asked For.

"HAVAN, Sept. 13, 1906.—Assistant Secretary of State, Washington: President Palma, the republic of Cuba, through me, officially asks for American intervention because he cannot prevent rebels from entering cities and burning property. It is doubtful whether there will be a quorum when congress assembles next Friday (tomorrow). President Palma has irrevocably resolved to resign and to deliver the government of Cuba to the representative whom the president of the United States will designate as soon as sufficient American troops are landed in Cuba. This act on the part of President Palma to save his country from complete anarchy and imperative intervention come immediately. It may be necessary to land force of Denver to protect American property. Probably about 8,000 rebels outside Havana. Cienfuegos also at mercy of rebels. Three sugar plantations destroyed. Foregoing all resolved in palace. Present, the president, secretary of state, secretary of war, and,

"STEINHART, consul general."

Palma Insists on Retiring.

"HAVANA, Sept. 14, 1906, 2:41 p. m.—Secretary of State, Washington: President Palma has resolved not to continue at the head of the government, and is ready to present his resignation, even though the present disturbances should cease at once. The vice president has resolved not to accept the office. Cabinet ministers have declared that they will previously resign. Under these conditions it is impossible that congress will meet, for the lack of a proper person to convoke same to designate a new president. The consequences will be absence of legal power, and therefore the prevailing state of anarchy will continue unless the government of the United States will adopt the measures necessary to avoid this danger.

"STEINHART, Consul General."

Amazement in Havana.

HAVANA, Oct. 4.—That ex-President Palma early in September asked for American assistance in the protection of foreign lives and property is not considered surprising here. But that he suggested calling congress to ask for American intervention as early as Sept. 8 is considered surprising and that on Sept. 13 he officially asked for intervention and had then irrevocably decided to resign causes amazement.

The correspondence between the state department and Consul General Steinhart in connection with Cuban intervention reveals the truth of the rumors current here at the time, and which were persistently denied at the palace, ex-President Palma declining even to speak of intervention.

Had this correspondence not been published the impression would have continued here that Señor Palma yielded to intervention only after Messrs. Taft and Bacon had found it impossible to reconcile the Cuban differences.

Secretary Root's assertion about giving the republic another trial is regarded, in view of the present outlook, as idealistic rather than practical.

LARGE HEARTED ATHLETES NOT WINNERS, SAYS DOCTOR.

German Physician Gives Interesting Observations on Contestants in Olympian Games—Why Americans Lead.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

BERLIN, Oct. 4.—However admirable large heartedness may be in an ethical sense it seems altogether undesirable as a physiological quality. A German physician publishes some interesting comparisons made at the recent Olympian games respecting the size and stamina of the hearts of American, British, and German competitors.

He examined the hearts of the Germans before the games and at once concluded they would not prove formidable rivals. The size of their hearts was so abnormally great in contests requiring strength, energy, and endurance it was physically impossible that they could succeed. The results proved the truth of the forecast. The few German athletes who won places were possessors of minimum sized hearts.

In the American sportsmen the heart conditions are in striking contrast to those of the Germans. Many of the American athletes had hearts of smaller dimensions than the smallest heart the doctor had ever measured in a German hospital. An invincible sprinter possessed the smallest heart among the American competitors.

Among the Englishmen examined by the doctor the heart was found to be slightly larger than the American heart, although it was smaller than those of any other nation.

The physician cites a curious case. A German and an Englishman competed in the same contest. Both were suffering in a similar degree from a certain indisposition, but while he found the German's heart at the end of the struggle had enlarged to double its previous size, the Englishman who was winner returned from the contest with his heart smaller. The writer maintains that Germans, from a wrong system of training and injudicious living, are cultivating serious heart and nerve troubles.

BUELOW FIRM ON THRONE WAR.

Chancellor Writes That Accession of Duke of Cumberland in Brunswick Is Impossible.

HOMBURG, Oct. 4.—Two important letters from Prince von Bülow to the ministry of the duchy of Brunswick, answering the resolution of the diet of the duchy passed on Sept. 25, were published today. Prince von Bülow, as chancellor of the empire, and a minister of Prussia, declares that the accession of the duke of Cumberland to the throne of the duchy is out of the question, as the duke is still tolerating anti-Prussian agitation in order to regain the throne of Hanover.

The two letters indicate that Prussia, in accordance with the imperial bundesrath, is determined not to allow the duke of Cumberland or his son to accede to the throne of the duchy.

The duke of Cumberland, a son of George I. of Hanover, a cousin of King Edward, and a general in the British army, is the rightful heir of the last duke of Brunswick, but having refused to comply with the conditions which Prussia attached to his succession, Emperor William appointed the late Prince Albrecht as regent of the duchy. The duke of Cumberland promised his father on his deathbed never to surrender his rights to the throne of Hanover.

AUSTRIA'S MOVE ALARMS ITALY.

Rome Demands of Vienna Categorical Explanation of Movements of Troops on the Frontier.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE AND LA PRENSA OF BUENOS AYRES.]

ROME, Oct. 4.—It is stated that the Italian government, concerned at the continual armaments of Austria and massing of troops on the frontier, has through its ambassador at Vienna demanded categorical explanations. The duke of Genoa today had an interview with the minister of marine to discuss the provocative attitude of Austria, and recent Austrian naval maneuvers close to the Italian coast.

$10,000 FOR A BOOK OF POEMS.

American Bibliophile Pays Big Sum for Volume Dating Back to the Sixteenth Century.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, Oct. 4.—An American bibliophile has secured for $10,000 a volume of poems of the late sixteenth and early seventeenth century, including Shakspeare's "The Passionate Pilgrim." It is believed that only one other copy is in existence—that in the Bodleian library at Oxford.

NOTES FROM FOREIGN LANDS.

HONGKONG—The emigrant steamer Charterhouse, voyaging between Koihow and Hongkong, foundered off Kainan Head on Sept. 30. Capt. Clifton and sixty passengers were lost. Chief Engineer Dowse, twenty-three of the crew, and two women were picked up after they had been drifting for forty-three hours.

PARIS—Minister of Public Instruction Briand inaugurated the autumn salon. The critics say the tone of the exhibition is grotesquely impressionistic and that the display of unlimited license is not redeemed by artistic quality.

COPENHAGEN, Denmark—King Haakon, Queen Maud, and Crown Prince Olaf of Norway arrived here on their first official visit abroad since the king's coronation.

TEHERAN, Persia—The shah of Persia, Muzaffar-ed-Din, is reported to be seriously ill.

Aged Man Beaten by Robbers.

The savings of Carl Heit—$150—with which he expected to complete the payments on his cottage at 8705 Butler avenue, were taken from him last evening by robbers, who attacked him in front of his house. Heit is 70 years old. The robbers then beat Heit severely.

CUBANS MOVING FOR ANNEXATION.

Native and Foreign Elements Openly Express Hope for Continued U. S. Control.

PLAN FOR TAKING A VOTE.

Meeting Called for Sunday to Devise Method of Holding a Plebiscite.

HAVANA, Oct. 4.—The desire for annexation, which has been concealed carefully for the last four years, now is voiced openly, and the wish that the United States retain some measure of actual control in Cuban affairs is heard more insistently than ever.

Representatives of leading elements, both Cuban and foreign, have been asked to attend a meeting next Sunday to discuss the feasibility of holding some sort of plebiscite by which all classes of the population would be enabled to express their ideas on what the future form of government should be.

One plan suggested is the formation into groups of the various foreign elements, each of which will formulate its own project of government.

The idea of holding the next elections in January has been abandoned entirely, the general preference among Cubans appearing to favor the holding of elections in June.

Near Riot in Havana.

A disturbance which at one time threatened to become a riot occurred this evening as the result of the conspicuous riding through the streets of this city of former insurgents.

The chief of police had just telephoned an order to all the police stations to take the small arms from all insurgents throughout the city, when Damasco Castillo, an ex-insurgent, was seized by the police while riding past a precinct station. Castillo resisted and in the mêlée which followed his arm was cut with his own machete. As soon as he was overpowered he was taken to the Vivac jail, followed by a crowd of several hundred persons, including a number of mounted ex-rebels.

This crowd surrounded the jail and the excitement was growing when Alfredo Zayas, the liberal leader, arrived on the scene. After a long parley he procured the release of Castillo after the man had surrendered his revolver to the police. Señor Zayas is of the opinion that the taking of the weapons of the ex-rebels, when they are at the disposal of the disarming commission, is unjust persecution.

Forty mounted policemen charged and dispersed a crowd in Jesus del Monte this afternoon, which was following a dozen mounted ex-rebels.

The first actual laying down of arms near Havana occurred this evening, when ninety-five guns were accepted by Maj. Ladd from 125 of Col. Acosta's command.

Gen. del Castillo, who is ill, came into Havana this evening after having issued orders naming Maj. Ladd as his successor and directing his subordinates to obey the American officer.

Disarmament Is Progressing.

Reports of the disarmament operations show considerable delay and confusion, but no real opposition. On the whole the work is proceeding smoothly, and the only complication encountered was met and disposed of today by Gen. Funston, assisted by Gen. Agramonte of the disarmament commission. It appears that Gen. Asbert's agreement to disarm and disband was conditional on the surrender and disarmament also of all the policemen in the town of Guines. Gens. Funston and Agramonte went in an automobile to Guines to straighten out the matter.

Upon their arrival the mayor of Guines, Señor Ayala, absolutely refused to discharge the police. Gen. Funston declared that unless the mayor agreed to the conditions an armed force would have to be sent to disarm Asbert's army, which numbers 1,100 men, and that this would possibly result in bloodshed. Argument had no effect on the mayor until he was told that he could retain the police on the pay roll and reinstate them after quiet had been restored.

Gen. Funston further suggested the sending of marines to police the town temporarily, and this plan was accepted. Gens. Funston and Agramonte then visited Gen. Asbert at the village of Cottero and found him agreeable to this compromise. Accordingly twenty-five marines will be sent to Guines tomorrow to police the town and to receive, under the supervision of Gen. Agramonte, the arms of Asbert's force.

Fear a Future Revolt.

Gen. Asbert, like other rebel commanders, is particularly anxious that every man of his command lay down his arms. The reason is that these commanders aspire to and expect to be prominent factors in political control after the next election, and they do not desire the presence of large bodies of men who might rise against them should they be permitted to retain their arms.

Eleven hundred members of the militia have laid down their arms at Cienfuegos, which was regarded as the most delicate point in the island. The insurgents there hesitated to disarm before their opponents.

Some hitches occurred in Pinar del Rio, where there were a number of Gen. Guerra's troops. Their commanders told Maj. Ladd that they had no orders from Gen. Castillo to disband. Gen. Castillo was missing and Maj. Ladd hunted for him for hours in an automobile. Castillo was finally found in retirement at the palace of Anita. He said the failure to issue orders was all a mistake and that he would write them tomorrow. To this Maj. Ladd would not agree and he strongly insisted that Castillo write the orders immediately, which the general did. Maj. Ladd delivered the orders in an automobile and the work of disarmament went on.

Rebels Mistake Funston.

While on their way from Havana to Guines Gens. Funston and Agramonte were halted by insurgent sentinels, who threatened to fire upon them in the belief that they belonged to the rural guards. The sentinels were profuse in their apologies when they learned who was in the automobile.

The news that Gen. Funston was passing through spread throughout the section and on the return trip to Havana women along the route pelted Funston's automobile with flowers.

There were some shots in the vicinity of Santa Clara last night fired by volunteers who had not yet been disbanded, but Gov. Aleman telegraphed Gov. Taft this afternoon that disarmament in Santa Clara province was going on steadily and quietly. Señor Aleman has consented to remain as governor of the province.

The rebels of Santiago province have joined the general disarming movement. The latest dispatch received by Gov. Taft from Santiago says that 700 rebels at Santiago, Guantanamo, and Baracoa have laid down their arms.

Newspaper Attacks Taft.

La Union Espanola attacks Gov. Taft for the speech he delivered at the opening of the university. It says that time has again brought the hour of unworthy adulation of the indisputable power of the great politicians and supercilious warriors of North America. It declares that the republic is submitting to a summary court martial of its independence. The other papers, however, are generally friendly.

The war is not quite over. At an insurgent meeting a rural guard at Santiago de Las Vegas today, cried, "What, are you still alive," and promptly smote the rurale with his machete. The rurale struck at the same time. Both are dead and everybody is satisfied.

The Jai Alai season opened tonight. The fronton was crowded with spectators, who cheered the players as if they were insurgent generals. One of the players was Urresti, who instructed Gen. Wood when the latter was learning the game.

Reports from the tobacco growing sections say that the insurrection did not cause much damage to the crop. It is possible that the ripening will be late, but there will be nothing worse.

PRESIDENT'S REFORM SPELLING HOW IT LOOKS IN HIS 'COPY.'

The printed copy of the president's speech at Harrisburg, Pa., yesterday, prepared under his direction, contains several instances of the simplified spelling he advocates. They appear in black face type in the sentences given below:

Pennsylvania has always lookt warily before she leapt.

We need thru executive action, thru legislation, and thru judicial interpretation and construction of law to increase the power of the federal government.

Strong nationalist tho I am, and firm tho my belief is that there must be a wide extension of the powers of the national government to deal with questions of this kind, I freely admit that as regards many matters of first rate importance we must rely purely upon the states for the betterment of present conditions.

Thru your legislature you have abolished passes.

You have past a law compelling officers and employés of great cities to attend to the duties for which they are paid.

The national government can do but little in the matter of child labor, tho I earnestly hope that that little will be permitted to be done by congress.

Rebates have been stopt, a pure food law has been past.

CZAR'S VACATION AT END.

RUSSIAN EMPEROR RETURNS TO PETERHOF FROM CRUISE.

Police Redouble Their Vigilance in Watching All Doubtful Persons in the Vicinity of Tsarskoe-Selo for Fear of Plots Against the Life of the Ruler—Discovery of Bombs Leads to Suspicion of Conspiracy in St. Petersburg.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 4.—The emperor and the members of the imperial family, who have been cruising in Finnish waters on board the yacht Standart, returned to Peterhof this evening.

The emperor will move almost immediately to his winter residence at Tsarskoe-Selo.

Warned by the immunity in which Zenaide Konoplianikovo resided at Peterhof for months prior to her assassination of Gen. Min on Aug. 26, the police are verifying the passports of all doubtful persons in the vicinity of Tsarskoe-Selo, and a most strict supervision of all strangers arriving there has been instituted.

Bomb Plot Frustrated.

The capture of bombs here yesterday is regarded as of utmost importance, as it revealed, apparently frustrated, the designs of the revolutionists to convert St. Petersburg into a second Warsaw. Enough explosives to annihilate an entire regiment were seized. A band of Polish experts came here recently for the purpose of instructing the local terrorists in the best methods of using this material.

The throwing of a bomb today at Gen. Starynkewisch, governor of Simbirsk, is described here as the act of irresponsible local revolutionists, anxious to strike a blow at authority in general, and not the result of a decree of the terrorist organization. The governor was slightly wounded.

Crown Lands Taken Over.

The council of ministers has decided that the state shall take over the crown lands in the Altai, Siberia, for the purpose of providing land for emigrant peasants. Nothing will be paid for the land for five years, after which the state will pay the crown twenty-two kopecks per deciatine yearly, the crown retaining all mineral rights.

The Altai is the name given to a vast system of highlands and mountains of southern Siberia and Mongolia, forming largely the border tract of the two countries.

Ten Terrorists to Die.

CZENSTOCHOWA, Russian Poland, Oct. 4—Ten terrorists were today condemned to death here by drumhead court martial. They will be hanged tomorrow.

Nineteen Sailors Executed.

CRONSTADT, Oct. 4.—The nineteen sailors sentenced to death for participation in the mutiny of last August have been executed.

ARMY OFFICER TRAILS ELOPERS.

Wife of Russian General and Lieutenant Arrive at Paris and Disappear Again.

PARIS, Oct. 4.—Great interest was created here today When it was learned that the fugitive Russian Lieut. Gabriel Essipoff, accompanied by the wife of Gen. Oushakoff, had arrived here today from New York. They had come on the steamer Savoie, flying from the vengeance of the husband and former friend of Lieut. Essipoff.

The runaways landed at Havre this morning and arrived at the St. Lazare station tonight. They traveled under assumed names.

The fugitives disappeared today and it is believed they intend to take another ocean steamer.

The elopers fled from St. Petersburg several weeks ago, closely pursued by the general, who tracked them to various cities in Europe and finally reached Hamburg two hours after they had sailed for New York. The general followed on the next steamer, only to find upon arrival there that his wife and the lieutenant had returned to Europe on the Savoie. Gen. Oushakoff is now on board the steamer La Provence on his way here.

RAILROAD CHANGE IS COMING.

Executive Committee of Wisconsin Central Returns Proxies and Members Will Quit Directorate.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 4.—[Special.]—An official announcement sent out by Chairman William L. Bull, Gerald L. Hoyt, John Crosby Brown, James C. Colate, New York, and Henry F. Whitcomb, president, Milwaukee, forming the executive committee of the Wisconsin Central railroad, settles beyond all controversy that the Central is to change hands, and also indicates that this change was decidedly unexpected. The notice reads:

"At the closing of the transfer books, there was sent to you for signature a form of proxy for use at the annual meeting on Oct. 9. Holders of what is believed would be a controlling interest in the preferred and common stock of the company now have requested a change in the management, and your attorneys, therefore, have tendered their resignations as directors. In view of this they deem it proper to return herewith the proxy signed by you."

This significant notice followed a request sent to the stockholders under the impression that there would be no change in policy, directory, or management of the road.

The notice makes it plain that President Whitcomb, Vice President Howard Morris, and all other present elective officials of the road will retire at the annual meeting in this city next week.

The fact that President Bradford of the Chicago, Cincinnati and Louisville road is largely interested in the syndicate which bought into Wisconsin Central and probably will be made its president started a rumor that the two roads will be merged. This is denied in New York.

Dickens Club Elects Officers.

The Dickens club of Chicago met last night at the Grand Pacific hotel and elected the following officers: President, James Gorton; vice president, S. M. Jelley; recording secretary, Miss R. Symons; corresponding secretary, Mrs. A. Schoen; treasurer, R. T. Gilbert.

Psi Upsilon Members Have Dinner.

The Chicago Alumni association of the Psi Upsilon fraternity held its annual dinner last night at the Grand Pacific hotel. Some seventy-five men, including the Chicago university chapter members, joined in the affair.

ROOSEVELT TALKS IN BOLDER TONE.

Declares Federal Powers Must Be Enlarged to Cope with Lawless Wealth.

STATES UNABLE TO ACT.

Corporations Find "No Man's Land" Between National and Local Laws and Defy Both.

Harrisburg, Pa., Oct. 4.—[Special.]—Not since he has been chief magistrate of the republic has President Roosevelt spoken so boldly in attacking the lawlessness of wealth as he did here today.

At the same time the president denounced the "rancor," "brutality," and "mob violence" of the radical agitators who are trying to inflame the people against wealth.

The occasion was the dedication of Pennsylvania's new state house, which cost, with its furnishings, $13,500,000—$9,000,000 of the total having been spent for furnishings.

Speaks in Drizzling Rain.

The president spoke in the open air in a drizzling rain to a large crowd, which took its wetting good naturedly.

The president began his speech with a tribute to the greatness of Pennsylvania in the history of the republic, after which he branched directly into a discussion of the remedy for the lawlessness of corporate wealth.

"Each generation," said the president, "has its special and serious difficulties; and we of this generation have to struggle with evils springing from the material success of which we are so proud, from the growth and prosperity of which, with justice, we boast. The extraordinary industrial changes of the last half century have produced a totally new set of conditions, under which new evils flourish; and for these new evils new remedies must be devised.

"Some of these evils can be grappled with by private effort only; for we never can afford to forget that in the last analysis the chief factor in personal success, and indeed in national greatness, must be the sturdy, self-reliant character of the individual citizen. But many of these evils are of such a nature that no private effort can avail against them.

Need More Federal Power.

"These evils, therefore, must be grappled with by governmental action. In some cases this governmental action must be exercised by the several states individually. In yet others it has become increasingly evident that no efficient state action is possible, and that we need through executive action, through legislation, and through judicial interpretation and construction of law, to increase the power of the federal government.

"If we fail thus to increase it, we show our impotence and leave ourselves at the mercy of those ingenious legal advisers of the holders of vast corporate wealth, who, in the performance of what they regard as their duty, and to serve the ends of their clients, invoke the law at one time for the confounding of their rivals, and at another time strive for the nullification of the law, in order that they themselves may be left free to work their unbridled will on the same rivals, or on those who labor for them, or on the general public.

How Corporation Lawyers Work.

"In the exercise of their profession and in the service of their clients these astute lawyers strive to prevent the passage of efficient laws and strive to secure judicial determinations of those that pass which shall emasculate them.

"They do not invoke the constitution in order to compel the due observance of law alike by rich and poor, by great and small; on the contrary, they are ceaselessly on the watch to cry out that the constitution is violated whenever any effort is made to invoke the aid of the national government, whether for the efficient regulation of railroads, for the efficient supervision of great corporations, or for efficiently securing obedience to such a law as the national eight hour law and similar so-called 'labor statutes.'

"The doctrine they preach would make the constitution merely the shield of incompetence and the excuse for governmental paralysis; they treat it as a justification for refusing to attempt the remedy of evil instead of as the source of vital power necessary for the existence of a mighty and ever growing nation."

Tribute to Justice Wilson.

President Roosevelt then reviewed the reform measures passed by the recent Pennsylvania legislature, and paid a tribute to the memory of that great Pennsylvanian of colonial days, Justice James Wilson, signer of the declaration of independence, member of the continental congress, and justice of the Supreme court.

It was Justice Wilson who laid down the judicial maxim that there are no vacancies between the limits of state and national jurisdiction. In other words, there is no "no-man's land" between the states and the national government in which rich corporations can find refuge and defy the laws of both state and nation.

It is these vacancies—these "no-man's lands" between the state and federal government—President Roosevelt declared, that menaced the republic. He said:

"Such decisions put us at a great disadvantage in the battle for industrial order as against the present industrial chaos. If we interpret the constitution in narrow instead of broad fashion, if we forsake the principles of Washington, Marshall, Wilson, and Hamilton, we, as a people, will render ourselves impotent to deal with any abuses which may be committed by the men who have accumulated the enormous fortunes of today, and who use these fortunes in still vaster corporate form in business.

Must Supervise Fortunes.

"All honest men must abhor and reprobate any effort to excite hostility to men of wealth as such. We should do all we can to encourage thrift and business energy, to put a premium upon the conduct of the man who honestly earns his livelihood and more than his livelihood, and who honestly uses the money he has earned.

"But it is our clear duty to see, in the interest of the people, that there is adequate supervision and control over the business use of the swollen fortunes of today, and also wisely to determine the conditions upon which these fortunes are to be transmitted and the percentage that they shall pay to the government whose protecting arm alone enables them to exist. Only the nation can do this work. To relegate it to the states is a farce, and is simply another way of saying that it shall not be done at all.

"Under a wise and farseeing interpretation of the interstate commerce clause of the constitution, I maintain that the national government should have complete power to deal with all of this wealth which in any way goes into the commerce between the states—and practically all of it that is employed in the great corporations does thus go in.

Shun Demagogic Legislation.

"The national legislators should most scrupulously avoid any demagogic legislation about the business use of this wealth, and should realize that it would be better to have no legislation at all than legislation couched either in a vindictive spirit of hatred toward men of wealth or else drawn with the recklessness of impracticable visionaries.

"But, on the other hand, it shall and must ultimately be understood that the United States government, on behalf of the people of the United States, has and is to exercise the power of supervision and control over the business use of this wealth—in the first place, over all the work of the common carriers of the nation, and in the next place, over the work of all the great corporations which, directly or indirectly, do any interstate business whatever—and this includes almost all of the great corporations."

Much Has Been Done.

The president told of the work accomplished in the last five years by the federal government in the way of regulating corporations, citing the Northern Securities case as an example. He continued:

"A similar extension of the national power to oversee and secure correct behavior in the management of all great corporations engaged in interstate business will in similar fashion render far more stable the present system by doing away with those grave abuses which are not only evil in themselves but are also evil because they furnish an excuse for agitators to inflame well meaning people against all forms of property, and to commit the country to schemes of wild, would-be remedy which would work infinitely more harm than the disease itself.

"We have actually accomplished much. But we have not accomplished all, nor anything like all, that we feel must be accomplished. We shall not halt; we shall steadily follow the path we have marked out, executing the laws we have succeeded in putting upon the statute books with absolute impartiality as between man and man, and unresting in our endeavor to strengthen and supplement these by further laws which shall enable us in more efficient and more summary fashion to achieve the ends we have in view.

Looking to the Future.

"It behooves us Americans to look ahead and plan out the right kind of a civilization, as that which we intend to develop from these wonderful new conditions of vast industrial growth.

"It must not be, it shall not be, the civilization of a mere plutocracy, a banking house, Wall street syndicate civilization; nor yet can there be submission to class hatred, to rancor, brutality, and mob violence, for that would mean the end of all civilization.

"Increased powers are susceptible of abuse as well as use; never before have the opportunities for selfishness been so great nor the results of selfishness so appalling; for in communities where everything is organized on a merely selfish commercial basis such selfishness if unchecked may transform the great forces of the new epoch into powers of destruction hitherto unequaled.

Must Check Forces of Greed.

"We need to check the forces of greed, to insure just treatment alike of capital and of labor, and of the general public, to prevent any man, rich or poor, from doing or receiving wrong, whether this wrong be one of cunning or of violence.

"Much can be done by wise legislation and by resolute enforcement of the law. But still more must be done by steady training of the individual citizen, in conscience and character, until he grows to abhor corruption, and greed, and tyranny, and brutality, and to prize justice and fair dealing.

"The men who are to do the work of the new epoch must be trained so as to have a sturdy self-respect, a power of sturdy insistence on their rights, and with it a proud and generous recognition of their duties, a sense of honorable obligation to their fellows, which will bind them, as by bands of steel, to refrain in their daily work at home or in their business from doing aught to any man which can not be blazoned under the noonday sun."

Building Cost $13,500,000.

The new capitol of Pennsylvania which was dedicated, is one of the most beautiful and imposing buildings in the United States, not only in its architecture but also in its interior decorations and furnishings. Thus far the building and its furnishings represent an expenditure of about $13,000,000.

The capitol consists of a main building and two wings, the total length being 525 feet and the breadth 254 feet. The whole is surrounded with a dome rising 292 feet above the first floor.

The $9,000,000 spent in furnishing the building has been made a campaign issue by the state fusion candidates, who are opposed to the republican candidates. State Treasurer Barry alleged there were "gross overcharges" in the purchase of the furniture and other furnishings.

President Speaks in York.

After his speech and a hurried inspection of the capitol, the president and other distinguished guests were entertained by Gov. Pennypacker at luncheon at the executive mansion.

The president left the mansion shortly before 3 o'clock and was driven to the Union station, where he boarded his special car for York. There he visited the county fair grounds as the guest of Congressman Lafean of the York district, and was driven around the racetrack. The rain fell during the drive and the president's face was bespattered with mud when he left his carriage and mounted a small platform in the center of the grounds, from which he made the second speech. Among other things he said:

"Your farm country round about is studded over with prosperous farms. And one thing I notice, on each farm the barn is larger than the house—a good proof that the right kind of man owns the farm. When a farmer's barn is smaller than his house the farm is in danger.

Warns Against Agitators.

"There are plenty of apostles of discontent; there are plenty of men who will try to teach you that our social and industrial conditions are all wrong and must be completely overset.

"But we never can afford to forget that the most important factor in the success of this country is the factor of individual citizenship. I do not care if you had the most perfect laws that could be devised by the wit of man or the wit of angels, they would not amount to anything if the average man was not a pretty decent fellow; and I base my firm belief in the future of this country because I believe the average American is a pretty decent fellow. Nothing can take the place of the individual factor of the average man's quality and character, his industry, his energy, his thrift, his decency, his determination to be a good man in his own home, a good neighbor, and a good citizen in his relations to the state. Of all men distrust most the man who tries to set one set of Americans against another set of Americans.

"Among your friends and neighbors, which one is it that wins success, the man who does his best with the tools at hand or the man who is always sitting down and thinking that some one should give him a push along? No government can help that man who is always sitting down.

Must Supervise Wealth.

"There is every reason why the government should exercise a constantly increasing supervision over and control of the great fortunes used in business. Never for one moment, however, permit that movement for the supervision of wealth to degenerate into a movement of hatred and malice.

"Hatred and malice are mightily ugly sentiments, and are just as bad if you hate and envy a rich man as if you hate and look down upon a poor man. The safe doctrine is to give each man fair play and just a little more than fair play if you can.

"This government will succeed because it shall never fall into such a pit as the republic of old fell into; this government shall not be a government by a plutocracy and it shall not be a government by a mob. It is to be and it shall be a government of the plain people, where each man zealously guards his own rights and no less scrupulously remembers his duty and pays due regard to the rights of others; a government whose guiding principle is and shall be that each man, rich or poor, whatever his rank, whatever his occupation, whatever his creed, is to be judged solely on his worth and merits as a man."

ROOSEVELT WARNS GOV. KIBBEY

In View of Charges That Arizona Executive Might Influence Statehood Vote Watchers Are Ordered.

Phoenix, Ariz., Oct. 4.—Gov. Kibbey today received a letter from President Roosevelt calling his attention to charges that under the organization of which he is the active leader there will not be a fair count of the votes on the question of statehood and directing the governor to have representatives of the statehood people present at the canvassing of the votes. Gov. Kibbey sent a copy of the letter to Thomas E. Wilson of Tucson, president of the joint statehood league, and asked him to furnish the names of statehood advocates to serve on election day and witness the count in each precinct.

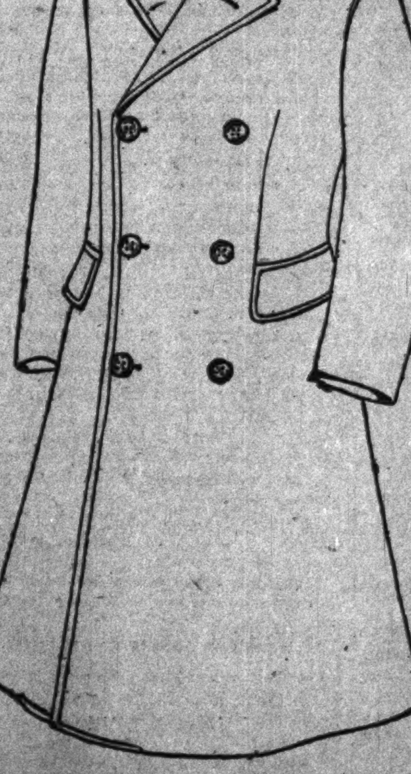

THINK GIRL PLANNED FORGERY.

Galesburg, Ill., Officers Do Not Believe Hyrmal Jacobs Was Forced Into Crime as Claimed.

Galesburg, Ill., Oct. 4.—[Special.]—Hyrmal Jacobs, alias Elsie Jacobs, alias Florence Scott, alias Emma Burns, the college girl held in jail for a $1,000 forgery, was bound over by Justice Hamilton today to await the action of the grand jury. During the short hearing she displayed the same indifferent air she has shown from the beginning.

The officers no longer give much credence to her story that Harry Lowe of Berwyn compelled her to commit the forgeries. They found letters from Lowe, however, which showed that she had been in his company.

They now believe the forgery was her own act to procure money to pay her debts, but think some one else may have suggested the method to her.

The Ultra Fashionable Overcoat for Fall and Winter Wear

The men who want entirely new and different models of overcoats for fall and winter wear will have no difficulty in being satisfied this season.

The exclusive men's clothes shops which show all the models of celebrated designers of men's attire remind one of the exclusive women's shops, where, in order to attract the discriminating buyers, it is necessary to show models by Paquin, Donat and Felix.

The garment shown here is one of the ultra fashionable and will be worn by men who want overcoats that are not only warm but dressy.

It is about 52 inches long. The back is cleverly draped; the front is form tracing; the skirt is decidedly bell. The lapels are broad and peaked. The collar is of velvet, the same shade as the cloth. The pockets have flaps. Six large bone buttons give an aristocratic air that differentiates it from everything else shown on the street.

JOHN D., AT GOLF, OPENS ON CRITICS

In Talk on Green He Denies Charge of Dictating to the Late Dr. Harper.

WARNS AGAINST FRANCE.

Jealousy There Almost Hatred, He Declares; Sees Evil in Curb on Individual.

Cleveland, O., Oct. 4.—[Special.]—John D. Rockefeller gave himself wholly into the hands of an interviewer between putting practice on his private course yesterday and every hole the golfing interviewer let him in tapped a new keg of odd and interesting information. Incidentally he denied the charge made against him, chiefly in connection with the University of Chicago, that he sought to force his own views on education on the institutions which flourished by reason of his endowment.

"That has hurt me most of all," he said. "I never have made a suggestion as to the course of education in any college that has received anything from me. The idea is monstrous, absurd. It is wicked insofar as it has had a tendancy to hurt splendid institutions of learning and hamper the work of the men who give their lives to the youth of this country. It is worse than unfair to such men.

"That charge hurt the late Dr. Harper even more, I think, than it hurt me. It was cruelly unjust to him. You will remember that he denied it emphatically in terms that left no doubt as to the sincerity of his feeling in the matter."

Government Ownership a Peril.

From matters educational Mr. Rockefeller drifted to the question of government ownership, which he vigorously opposed.

"If we limit opportunity," he said, "we will have put the brakes on our national development. Will the individual strive for success if he knows the hard won prize is to be snatched from his fingers at the last by his government? We are still too young a nation to begin tearing down. We must build up, build up, build up for years to come. The very children in our schools should be taught the need of our development."

Mr. Rockefeller discovered the need for constant development during his recent visit to France.

"The French people hate us and they will grow up if they can," he is quoted as saying. "They want our money. They want the patronage of our tourists. But they hate us. They never let slip an opportunity to take quick advantage of our mistakes. This is a struggle for supremacy. We must win or they will, and there will be no quarter for us if they win. And now there is Japan, rising to be next to a power we cannot estimate. We cannot foretell what her competition will be, we do not know the resources of the new territory which she controls, we cannot guess the commercial and industrial possibilities of the Japanese.

"At this critical stage we are giving the enemy ammunition to fire at us. He is quick to seize this advantage. Take the attack we made upon our own packing business, for instance. I was in Europe when the attack was made at home upon these men and their industry and I could watch the effect of it there at close range. Those fellows abroad snatched at our own charges against our own business with the greatest glee. They used them promptly as ammunition with which to attack America and everything American, especially American manufactured products and trade.

Harm Done by Packing Expose.

"I do not believe there was a line of American goods sold abroad that was not injured, nor an American agent doing business abroad whose work was not hampered by this. We must sell abroad or do less business. Reducing the volume of our production means less work, less wages, less business transacted, at the very least. It is checking our development instead of furthering it. Is it common sence, then, to handicap our export trade at home, to attack the good name of our business for the benefit of our foreign rivals?"

Of the recent subpoena requiring him to appear in court in an action against the Standard Oil company, Mr. Rockefeller said:

"While I was in active business I used to always respond: But now I am not in a position to give these inquiring people the information they want. They know that as well as I do, and they really wanted information from other men they would summon, the men who have the information they want. They know that also. So I am reluctantly compelled to conclude that it is notoriety they want rather than information."

France Jealous, but Doesn't Hate.

On seeing his remarks in print today, Mr. Rockefeller was surprised at the paragraph in which he was quoted as declaring that France hated this country.

"I cannot, of course, recall the exact words of a running conversation during a game of golf," he said, "but if the word 'hate' was used it was in the sense of a natural jealousy not on the part of France alone but of any European competitors of the United States on account of our great industrial success in recent years. I cherish none but the most kindly feelings toward France, and have occasion to do so, especially for all the courteous attentions shown me by the French people during my recent visit there, from the time of my arrival until my departure, and my expressions to them were only of the most friendly character on the part of the United States toward France for the kindness shown us in the past, and especially in our early history."

John J. Jackson, one of the proprietors of the Becker & Jackson restaurant, 34 Lake street, whose former wife committed suicide June 2, because he refused to take her back to live with him, was married last night to Miss Ellen Murphy, address not mentioned by her request.

The ceremony was performed at 6 o'clock at St. Joseph's Roman Catholic church, by the Rev. Theobold Mueller. After this the bridal groom, accompanied by two friends, and gave their names after much bashful hesitation, as Miss Maggie Shields and J. Dillon, went to the Saratoga restaurant for supper.

Here the two couples were tucked away in private room some one sent in a hurry for the reporters. The reporters arrived after the meat course. Mr. Jackson, a fine aged man with a napkin tucked into his collar, looked uneasy, and Mrs. Jackson took command of the situation. She had an air of quiet.

"I should like this handled with some discretion," she said.

"I don't think it necessary to give my address. I was Miss Ellen Murphy. It does not matter where I lived. I will not tell my former names," she concluded, after referring the last matter to Mr. Jackson, who nearly hid his head as he swallowed a large piece of bread in some haste.

OIL KING'S CLAN MEETS.

DESCENDANTS OF ROCKEFELLER GATHER FOR ANNUAL PICNIC.

Kith and Kin of Richest Man in the World at Flemington, N. J., to Honor First of Family Who Came from Holland—Spokesman Proud of Dutch Ancestry—John D. Recently Gave $5,000 Toward Monument to Mark Johann's Resting Place.

Flemington, N. J., Oct. 4.—[Special.]—John D. Rockefeller hereafter may use a real coat of arms if he wishes. This may not be news to John D., but it all came out here this evening, when the Rockefeller family—little cousins to the rich, they sometimes style themselves—met in the opera house for their second reunion.

The coat of arms occupied most of the stage. This is the way it looked to a reporter not versed in heraldry, whose lack of knowledge was helped out by a local expert: Two gold rocks on a red field, two silver horns, whether of oil or of plenty, or both, could not be ascertained, on a silver field. The motto in the dead language made famous by Virgil and others reads: "None more faithful."

John D. Rockefeller's attention also was called to the fact that he may at any time, if he has not done so already, join the Sons of the American Revolution. Most of the papers read proved beyond a doubt that the oil king's ancestors mostly were high privates in the rear rank.

Boast of Dutch Blood.

Nearly a hundred Rockefellerites gathered in the banquet hall. They boasted of the blue blood of their Dutch ancestry, much as other reunionists do, and John D. and oil never would have been mentioned had it not been that the town's electric light plant slipped a cog and left the opera house in darkness. Some one started a chorus, "We've got to have oil," and a general laugh followed when the waiters came to the rescue bearing lamps filled with the genuine Rockefeller product.

John D. Rockefeller, it was brought to light (no joke intended) by the family history, is three times the great-grandson of Johann Peter and Diehl Peter. The Rockefeller brothers, who came over from Holland, settled in Germantown, N. Y., and some of the early descendants of the clan sojourned for a time in Westcamp, N. Y. Strange as it may seem, these early Rockefellers tried their hands at the manufacture of tar and pitch products, since made famous by their descendants, but failed to make even a living at the job. Times became so hard there was dissension in the camp, and after some real Dutch profanity Johann Peter hit the trail for Pennsylvania. But it was too early and the Rockefeller instinct had not developed enough to smell the oil fields of that state.

Johann Peter stopped in the middle of New Jersey, and settled at Larison's Corner. The corner marked the intersection of the Indian trails, and it is suspected Johann Peter had a monopoly of firewater. In spite of being the forebear of a trust Johann Peter died in bed with his hair still firmly attached to his head. He was laid to rest in the little cemetery at the corner.

John D. Gives $5,000.

Recently John D. Rockefeller's attention was called to the resting place of his ancestor, and he gave $5,000 to suitably inclose the cemetery and erect a monument to his great-great-great-grandfather. The monument is a simple granite stone. The inscription reads: "In memory of Johann Peter Rockefeller, who came from Germany about the year 1723. He gave this land for a burial place for his family, its descendants, and his neighbors. This monument was erected in the year 1906 by John Davison Rockefeller, direct descendant."

John D.'s (or John Davison, as he appears on the monument) ancestors also were thrifty as the will of one Peter shows. Peter bequeathed to his wife Elizabeth $300 of good Jersey money. Elizabeth also got her choice of beds and two small iron pots.

Tomorrow the Rockefeller family will visit Johann Peter's resting place and there will be an address and more family history. Judging from the reunion exhibit most of the Rockefellers are prosperous. They bear little resemblance to their "rich cousin," as they call John Davison. For the most part they have hair, lots of it, even in old age. It is noticeable, however, the most prosperous have the least hair. The question arose as to whether amassing money made one bald or benevolent baldness brought money.

First in Phonetic Spelling.

The Rockefellers have cornered other things beside oil. Dr. C. W. Larison, a descendant, was the originator of the scheme of phonetic spelling before President Roosevelt had learned to misspell in the ordinary manner. The doctor read a paper tonight and spelled in a manner that would have seemed strenuous even to the president.

The reunion closed for the night with a talk by E. R. Lewis, John D. Rockefeller's personal representative in the matter of the monument. Mr. Lewis' toast was "Our Rich Cousin." The Rockefellerites did not seem to recognize the portrait when he spoke of a relative of whom they felt proud by "the large portion of the world's goods he had gathered in by personal efforts and fair dealing," but they understood and applauded when he said "who ever heard the name of Rockefeller connected with anything gay, frivolous, or convivial?"

SUIT FOR $110,000 DAMAGES AGAINST THE CHICAGO CLUB.

Organization and Its Former Officers Accused of Conspiracy to Evict Kindergarten College from a Building.

A charge of conspiracy to have the Chicago Kindergarten college ejected from the building in which it had been a tenant for ten years is made in a suit for $110,000 damages begun yesterday against the Chicago club and Daniel H. Burnham, Albert W. Goodrich, Edward D. Kenna, Melville E. Stone Jr., and William J. Louderback, members of the club, and William B. Bangs, its manager, by Rumah A. Crouse and Elizabeth Harrison, owners of the Chicago Kindergarten college.

The plaintiffs declare the defendants induced former Building Commissioner George Williams in May, 1903, to condemn the structure tenanted by the college, which adjoins the Chicago club, and the lessees were obliged to vacate the premises.

Condemned as a Firetrap.

In his report on the building, Building Inspector Peters at that time called it "a veritable firetrap." Protests were made by the tenants, "whose lease was not due to expire in less than two years, but these were unavailing." Because of the eviction the plaintiffs declare they lost their patronage of about 500 students and a like number of boarders who intended to become pupils at the college. The plaintiffs say they had spent $300,000 in improving the property used by them for the purpose of the college, and the building was not then and is not now unsafe.

Revenue from Boarders Lost.

A building at 3715 Langley avenue, containing thirty-four rooms, was used as a temporary home for women who intended taking courses at the kindergarten college and the annual revenue of $10,000 derived from this, it is alleged, ceased on the publication of the building department's action.

The revenue of $20,000 a year from the school, it is declared, was lost also.

The building occupied by the college was leased from the Chicago club in June, 1898, and the lease expired June 15, 1900. The lease was renewed to June, 1903, and Oct. 9, 1902, it was signed for another two years, which expired in 1905.

AUTO CRASHES INTO TRAIN.

Miss Francis Copeland and Her Chauffeur Are Thrown Out of Machine, but Neither Is Injured.

Miss Frances Copeland, 528 Forest avenue, Oak Park, and a chauffeur escaped serious injury yesterday when an automobile in which they were driving crashed against an Oak Park elevated railway train on the surface track at Oak Park avenue crossing and South boulevard. The chauffeur saw the train approaching, but the automobile was running down an incline and the brakes failed to operate quickly. The machine was overturned and the occupants were thrown out, but were uninjured.

Elmer Wall, chauffeur for Morris J. Vehon, 1063 Racine avenue, paid Justice Boyer a fine of $15 and court costs for speeding in Evanston. He was arrested on Sept. 8 and fined $10 and costs for scorching. Later in the day he was again arrested for a like offense.

Roy L. Sargent, 1224 Pratt avenue, and Charles A. Nash, 19 Stratford place, were arrested for speeding in Sheridan road. Both were released on bonds.

LIPTON IS MORRIS' GUEST.

SIR THOMAS CALLS HIS CHICAGO RECEPTION "GRAND."

Yachtsman and "International Good Fellow" Entertained in Evening at Grand Boulevard Residence, Where Some 500 Persons Pay Him Their Respects—Says He Is Here Seeking Cup, Not Wife—Program of the Day.

Sir Thomas Lipton received an enthusiastic welcome last night at the residence of Edward Morris, 4455 Grand boulevard. More than 500 guests gathered there, and the heart of the "international good fellow" was gladdened by the sight of lines of carriages which congested the boulevard for a block on either side of the Morris house.

A repast was served to relays of 250 guests in a large marquee erected at the back of the house. The tent was draped in cream colors and studded with 2,000 frosted incandescents. Smilax was distributed in profusion. In the center of the white canvas covered floor was a great table seating fifty persons, and about it were smaller tables decorated with green plants and roses. Two huge pillars of yellow chrysanthemums supported the canopy of the tent.

Musicians Hidden Behind Flowers.

The first floor of the house was decorated with large bouquets of American beauty roses. Behind a curtain of wild smilax an orchestra of Italian musicians was hidden in the reception hall, while in the marquee a Hungarian orchestra in bright scarlet uniforms accented the color scheme of the dining room.

"I have seen many royal feasts in the eastern part of this country, but this is simply grand—grander than any of them," asserted Sir Thomas with characteristic gallantry as he surveyed the arrangements that had been made in his honor. Attended by Edward Morris, his host, the lionized would-be "cup lifter" was kept busy until a late hour in making new acquaintances and receiving his older friends with the Lipton handshake.

Earlier in the evening Sir Thomas and Col. Neill were entertained at a private dinner by Mrs. Morris. Mrs. Morris wore a gown of yellow mousseline de soie with ropes of pearls. Of course Sir Thomas escorted her to the formal dinner, which did not occur until almost 11 o'clock.

Those Who Received.

In the receiving line at the larger and later entertainment were Mrs. J. B. Murphy, Mrs. William Leavitt, Mrs. Ira Morris, Mrs. M. L. Rothschild, Mrs. Herbert Swift, Mrs. Louis F. Swift, Mrs. Edward Swift, Mrs. Ernest Everss.

Among the guests invited were:

Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Allerton, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hamill, Mr. and Mrs. J. Ogden Armour, Dr. and Mrs. James Nevins Hyde, Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Hanney, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Cudahy, Mr. and Mrs. Jenkin Lloyd Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cathcrwood, Mr. and Mrs. Noble B. Judah, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Cramer, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Lytton, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Counselman, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Meeker, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dawes, Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Mitten, Mayor and Mrs. Edward F. Dunne, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Morris, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Eddy, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Morris, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fernald, Mr. and Mrs. John J. Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Forgan, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Mandel, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Fenton, Mr. and Mrs. Levy Mayer, Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Foreman, Mr. and Mrs. Frank R. McMullin, Mr. and Mrs. John Farson, Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus H. McCormick, Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Forgan, Mr. and Mrs. H. R. McCullough, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Gunning, Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Noyes, Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Hutchinson, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Plamondon, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hately, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Powers, Mr. and Mrs. John C. Hately, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Hynes, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Revell, Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Swift, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Swift, Mr. and Mrs. Mason B. Starring, Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Trude, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Trude, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Theurer, Mr. and Mrs. Bertram W. Winston, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Young, Mrs. P. D. Armour, Mrs. Herbert Morris, Lawrence Heyworth, Leslie Carter, Dr. W. A. Evans, Milton Foreman, Judge Marcus Kavanagh.

Seeking Cup; Not Wife.

"If it were true that I am over here looking for an American wife, Chicago would be the place for me to come, but at present I am in the business of trying to lift cups, and I think one worry at a time enough," said Sir Thomas when asked to state his possible matrimonial intentions. A report had been circulated that the visitor was to marry a Chicago woman.

Sir Thomas was entertained at the Saddle and Sirloin club during the day. He also paid a visit to Mayor Dunne. George M. Cohan, song writer and actor, has promised to sing some original verses tonight at the banquet to be given for the Irish yachtsman at the Chicago Athletic club.

BREADMAKING CALLED SIGN OF CIVILIZATION BY PROFESSOR.

Cambridge Authority and Other Educators Deliver Addresses at Dinner Given by Geographic Society.

Breadmaking hereafter may stand as a symbol of the highest civilization. According to Dr. Alfred Cort Haddon, professor of ethnology in Cambridge university, the most highly civilized peoples of the world raise cereals and bake bread. He made this statement last night in responding to a toast at a dinner given in his honor by the Geographic society at the Stratford hotel.

"The natives of Australia never have attained a high state of civilization," he said, "because they raise no cereal and are unable to bake bread. You see, the geographical situation has considerable to do with the people themselves. We never can expect the Eskimos to attain a high civilization for similar reasons. The habits and life of people are determined to a vast extent by geographical conditions."

Prof. Paul Ehrenreich of the University of Berlin also was a guest. Acting President Judson of the University of Chicago discussed the opportunities for geographical research. Other speakers were Prof. Henry J. Cox, president of the society; Prof. George A. Dorsey, Prof. George E. Vincent, and Prof. Rollin D. Salisbury.

LITTLE GIRL BURNS TO DEATH.

Fondness for Playing with Fire Has a Tragic Ending for Veronica Young of Hammond, Ind.

An unconquerable desire to play with fire resulted yesterday in the tragic death of Veronica Young, 4 years old, daughter of Frank Young, a prominent resident of Hammond, Ind.

The child had secured some matches and she started a fire in a lot where her mother had sent her to play. Flying sparks set fire to her clothing, and the child ran home, a living torch.

In extinguishing the flames Mrs. Young and her son, 14 years old, were burned badly. The little girl died in fearful agony. Mrs. Young is an invalid and is prostrated over the tragedy. Her recovery is doubtful.

FOOD TESTS ON YALE STUDENTS.

Slow Eating, with Sons of Old Eli as Victims, Shows Good Results.

IT ADDS TO ENDURANCE.

Where Appetite Is in Doubt Non-Proteids Are Given the Right of Way.

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 4.—[Special.]—Prof. Irving Fisher, professor of political economy in Yale university, has been conducting experiments to discover whether attention to slow eating and the enjoyment of food would affect the working powers of individuals, and announcement was made tonight in the Yale Alumni Weekly of some of the results obtained. The Weekly says:

"These experiments were made with nine Yale students, based on previous experiments by Director Russell H. Chittenden of the Sheffield Scientific school. Prof. Fisher said the experiments began in January and lasted four and a half months. The men improved 50 per cent in endurance during the first half of the experiments. He now states the second half showed as marked improvement as the first, and that at the end of the experiment the men were able to do double the amount of physical work, as shown by gymnasium contests, that they were capable of in January. This increase in working power is ascribed by Prof. Fisher entirely to dietetic causes.

Change in Diet Natural.

"The first endurance tests, taken in January, followed the Christmas vacation, when the men had been resting and were in especially good condition, while the final test was made at the end of a long term of college work. The men led sedentary lives and took no more exercise than they had been accustomed to before the experiment began. Prof. Fisher says the change in diet was not brought about by any prescription, but was entirely natural, the changes being due merely to the fact that the men masticated their food more thoroughly than previously.

"During the first half there was thorough mastication of food, with attention to taste and enjoyment of food, and not to the mere mechanical act of mastication or implicit obedience to appetite. The men ate nothing which they did not choose of their own free will. Nothing was set before them except as ordered by them. In order to enable them to choose properly, a wide range of choice was provided. Meats were available three times a day, but it was found by thorough mastication the men gradually lost their desire for meat and substituted cereals, fruits, and nuts, so at the end of the first half of the experiment their daily consumption of meat was little more than half its original amount.

When in Doubt Bar Proteids.

"During the second part of the experiment the men continued the two dietetic rules mentioned and added a third—namely: when the appetite is in doubt as to its choice of foods, the benefit of the doubt was given to nonflesh foods and other foods low in 'proteid.' In June it was found the men had decreased their consumption of flesh foods to one-sixth of the original amount of their 'proteid' brought down to the level advocated by Prof. Chittenden. One of the nine men failed to improve in endurance. He was the least faithful of the nine in following out the dietetic rules.

"Prof. Fisher states the practical conclusion from these experiments is it is in the power of the healthy individual to double his endurance in five months by increasing thoroughness in mastication, prolonging the enjoyment of the food, and acquiring a more sensitive and accurate choice of the amounts and kinds to meet the ever varying daily needs of the body."

MEDICAL SCHOOLS REPORT A SCARCITY OF CADAVERS.

Usual Source of Supply of Human Bodies for Dissection Is Said to Be Closed Temporarily.

Some one has cornered the market in cadavers. The University of Chicago medical department has been endeavoring to supply a class in dissection, but so far the students have been forced to listen to lectures on anatomy.

The usual channels through which the university secures cadavers for purposes of dissection are declared to have been closed temporarily.

Most of the cadavers used by the University of Chicago come from the county hospital, it is said. There are numerous free lance dealers, who do a profitable business, but it is seldom that the University of Chicago has transactions with them.

LETTER FILE MAKERS FAIL.

William H. and Abelard Maloney Dawson File Petition in Bankruptcy with Combined Debt of $260,000.

A petition in bankruptcy was filed yesterday by William H. Dawson and Abelard Maloney Dawson, comprising the firm of Dawson & Dawson, letter file manufacturers. The partnership debts aggregate about $11,800 and the personal indebtedness $247,847.

They had been in the letter file and desk manufacturing business for some years, with offices at 49 Dearborn street and in the Medinah temple.

Attorney Samuel F. Knox, representing the bankrupts, said one of the Dawsons lost $100,000 in the mining business some years ago. He refused to say what relationship there is between Abelard Maloney Dawson and William H. Dawson, and declared they do not wish it known.

PRESIDENT'S SON EARNS FEE AS WITNESS BEFORE GRAND JURY.

With His Friend Blagden He Gives Testimony in Case Resulting from Row on Boston Common—Neither Like Experience, but Are Cheered Up When Officer Hands Over Pay Slips as They Leave the Court—Makes Blagden Feel Rich.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 4.—[Special.]—Theodore Roosevelt Jr. and his friend, F. Meredith Blagden, appeared as witnesses before the grand jury today and told their story of the row on Boston common, which resulted in injury to a policeman.

They went into the star chamber together, accompanied by Police Lieutenant Jones and the patrolmen who served the subpoenas in the case. They were before the grand jury for twenty minutes. There were three other witnesses.

Shaun Kelly Not Called.

Shaun Kelly, who surrendered himself to the Cambridge police Tuesday night, after the Boston authorities had vainly sought for him with a warrant, was not called before the grand jury by District Attorney Moran, in view of the fact that he is regarded by the police as the possible assailant of Patrolman Fraher, and figures as defendant in a complaint pending in the lower court.

The examination of young Roosevelt and the other witnesses was conducted personally by District Attorney Moran. When young Roosevelt and Blagden left the grand jury they appeared much agitated, and seemed to feel the situation keenly. Neither would make a statement. They were unattended by counsel.

Pay Slips Surprise Them.

After edging through the crowd they proceeded to the district attorney's office, where they were guarded from reporters by patrolmen. As they were leaving the court house they were escorted by a court officer.

"Here are the tickets for your witness fees," he said, handing them each a little slip that called for $1.25. The young men looked at them as if they did not know what it was all about. It was explained that as witnesses they were entitled to the same fee as others who testified.

"Well," remarked Blagden to young Roosevelt, "what will we do with all this money when we get it?"

This caused a laugh among the other people who stood about.

STRIVE TO SECURE BIG REGISTRATION

Politicians Work to Enroll Voters Tomorrow, First of the Two Days.

NEW BOOKS TO BE MADE.

Republicans Expect Large Results; Women Urged to Claim Their Rights.

Both republican and democratic party managements are working to secure a good registration tomorrow—the first of the two days for enrollment of voters. This is a year of new registration, enrollment on the registry books being required of all voters.

Republicans have hopes of higher registration figures than are expected by democrats. The republican county organization announces its expectation of a 200,000 registration tomorrow and its hopes that the second day's enrollment will bring the figures within sight of the present total of 375,-000.

The democratic organization, according to Secretary John Tansey, looks for a 70 per cent registration, 410,000 being taken as the total vote of the city, that being the high water mark of registration.

Democrats Bill the City.

To wake the voters to the necessity of getting their names on the books the democratic organization has billed the city with large posters and is supplementing these with 200,000 dodgers, which have been placed in the hands of the precinct captains.

It has not proved the easiest task in the world to locate these same democratic precinct captains. Secretary Tansey took the list as prepared by the committeemen for each ward and sent out letters asking for their codperation. A number of the replies show that the committeemen did not take the trouble to inquire whether the men they appointed to the positions wanted the places or whether they would accept.

The result is that a number of men in various parts of the city are surprised to find themselves called on by the central committee for political service. In one instance the wife of the "captain" took matters in her own hands and replied to the committee that its affairs were of no concern to her, her husband, or her family; that her husband was a hard workingman, busy enough in his endeavor to support the family, and would the committee please chase itself and not send any more letters to her address.

Urges Women to Register.

Mrs. Catherine Waugh McCulloch, chairman of the press committee of the committee for the extension of suffrage to women, calls attention to the fact that women are entitled to register and that many are restrained from doing so by not knowing their rights. She also says many of the election officials at places of registration are ignorant of the fact and endeavor to prevent women applicants for enrollment.

"Some of them put our women voters to great inconvenience," she said, "by silly questions or by absolute refusals to allow them to register."

Miss Caroline Grote, the democratic candidate for state superintendent of public instruction, will hold a reception tomorrow afternoon at the Sherman house, with the especial object of meeting her acquaintances among school teachers.

Bryan's Speeches in Illinois.

Congressman Henry T. Rainey, democratic member from the Twentieth congressional district, announces three speaking dates for William Jennings Bryan in his district for Oct. 15 and one in the Twenty-third district, where Dr. M. D. Foster is the democratic candidate, for Oct. 16. Bryan also is expected to speak in the Twenty-first district for former Congressman Caldwell, now candidate on the democratic ticket.

One of Mr. Bryan's first "epistles" to the democratic party in Illinois, when his dispute was started at long distance range with Roger Sullivan carried the statement that he would not appear in the state to make political speeches until the state organization had purged itself of Mr. Sullivan and his companions. The organization has not purged itself perceptibly, but Mr. Bryan seems to have side stepped his original conditions, now being willing to enter and speak.

Mr. Rainey had been quoted as announcing that Bryan would speak for the state ticket, but he affirmed later that the Nebraskan was not willing to go to this length, but would make some speeches for congressional candidates in close districts. He is booked in Rainey's district for Pittsfield, Jacksonville, and Carrollton, all on the same day.

County Finance Committee.

Chairman O'Connell of the democratic county central committee announced the following finance committee:

John T. Connery, chairman,	Adam Ortseifen,
Fred W. Blocki, treasurer,	William A. Doyle,
William Quinlan,	Edward Tilden,
Eugene Keeley,	Robert J. Roulston,
Peter Reinberg,	George E. Brennan,
	J. J. Townsend.

Other names are to be added to the committee subsequently. During the day the speakers who will do the hewing of wood and the drawing of water in the plain work of the campaign for the democratic ticket were gathered at headquarters, and a school for spellbinders was conducted by some of the political managers, who assume to know just what sort of argument should be handed out to the attentive voter during the argumentative season of the work.

Eight meetings have been arranged for tonight by the democratic organization—in the First, Seventh, Sixteenth, Seventeenth, Eighteenth, Twentieth, Twenty-second, and Twenty-third wards.

OLSON POINTS OUT FLAWS IN DEMOCRATIC ARGUMENTS.

Candidate for Place of Chief Municipal Court Justice Shows Why Jurists' Acts Should Not Be Reviewed.

Assistant State's Attorney Harry Olson, candidate for chief justice of the Municipal court, criticised his democratic opponents last evening for proposing that the municipal judges be given power to review judgments decided by an individual judge of the court.

Mr. Olson spoke at a meeting of nearly 200 "first voters" at North Clark and Roscoe streets, at the republican headquarters in the Twenty-fifth ward. He declared the propositions of the democrats would endanger the efficient administration of justice and place greater powers in the hands of the chief justice than the law intended.

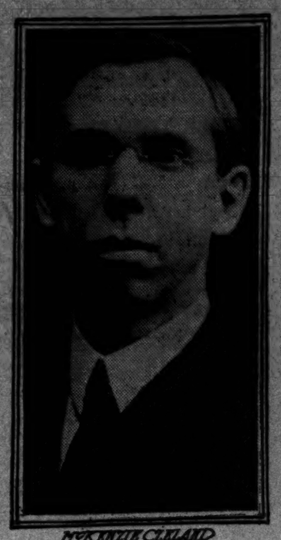

"I notice that my democratic opponents have made it part of their platform that whenever litigants may be dissatisfied with judgments entered an appeal may be taken and a majority of the judges of the Municipal court shall have power to decide," said Mr. Olson. "This would be taking away individual responsibility and placing it in the hands of the majority of the judges."

Freeman K. Blake, candidate for Municipal judge, declared the judicial candidates on the democratic ticket are too old to be of value as municipal judges. Other speakers were State's Attorney Healy, President Brundage of the county board, Joseph Bidwell Jr., candidate for clerk of the Circuit court; John C. Scovell, candidate for municipal judge; and Frank P. Schmitt, candidate for state senator, who presided.

German Reformed Church Officers.

Terre Haute, Ind., Oct. 4.—[Special.]—The synod of the German Reformed church of the northwest, including a half dozen states and with 130 delegates, today elected the following officers: President, the Rev. John F. Winter, Terre Haute; vice president, the Rev. H. C. Nott, Milwaukee; corresponding secretary, the Rev. J. Vernhorst, Jeffersonville, Ind.; state clerk, Dr. Janett, Sheboygan, Wis.; treasurer, Elder F. Hoff, Terre Haute. Delegates from the central and Ohio synods were adjourned.

NEW PLEDGE BY SMULSKI.

CANDIDATE AGAIN DECLARES HIS FINANCIAL POLICY.

Repeats Promise Made Before His Nomination That, if Elected State Treasurer, He Will Turn Into the Coffers of Illinois All the Interest on Public Money Which He Handles —Republican Nominees to See Ball Game.

John F. Smulski, republican candidate for state treasurer, issued a public statement yesterday, reiterating the pledge he had made informally before he was nominated, not to take for his own use any interest on state money should he be elected.

Mr. Smulski, Gov. Deneen, and a few others in the state organization desired to have this pledge incorporated in the party platform by the state convention, but they were opposed and obliged to abandon the idea of having the party commit itself to this policy.

Pledge Is Renewed Formally.

At the time the republican candidate announced his intention of binding himself personally, and this he has done in the following statement:

"I have received numerous inquiries as to what disposition I shall make of the interest on public funds should I be elected state treasurer. I wish, therefore, to announce publicly that if elected state treasurer every dollar of interest collected by me on public funds or funds coming to me as state treasurer will be turned over to the state.

"I made this announcement prior to the republican state convention and prior to my nomination. I repeat this pledge now, without qualifications. A strict account will be kept of funds deposited in banks and the statements of these banks will be submitted to the proper authorities for verification. Every dollar of interest on public funds controlled by the state treasurer will be credited to and paid to the people of the state of Illinois.

"I shall accept the salary of state treasurer as provided by law as my only compensation."

At republican state headquarters efforts are being made to schedule Mr. Smulski for as thorough a tour of the state as he will consent to make. Several counties have invited him and Gov. Deneen to make political speeches, but the booking committee at headquarters does not know yet to what extent it can schedule either of them. The governor is wanted in Peoria, Rockford, and several other cities.

Candidates to See Ball Game.

Republican county, sanitary, district, and Municipal court candidates intend to take advantage of the crowd at the first world's championship baseball game between the Cubs and White Sox on Oct. 9. Arrangements have been made to present both teams with silver cups on behalf of the republican candidates at the first game. The candidates themselves are to be present—"bunched" if it is possible to secure that many seats. The politicians realize that there will be nothing but baseball in Chicago next week, and they wish to edge into a little of the light if they can find a way. W. Clyde Morrison has charge of the republican arrangements.

CANDIDATES FAIL TO APPEAR.

Farmers in Blue Island and Disappointed at Absence of Democratic Aspirants After Promise.

Residents of Blue Island and farmers in the vicinity attending the monthly street market were disappointed yesterday when the democratic candidates failed to put in an appearance. Harry R. Gibbons, candidate for sheriff, and other democratic candidates had promised to speak, and a large crowd waited long after market hours.

Ernst Hummel, candidate for county treasurer, and A. W. Schwane, candidate for county assessor, came later in the afternoon, but by that time the crowd had gone home. Several of the farmers expressed their disappointment over the affair.

The Scandinavian democracy of Cook county met at 78 La Salle street last night and indorsed the democratic ticket. A campaign committee was appointed, L. J. Malmin and Jens N. Hyldahl made speeches.

Alleged Swindlers Freed.

Salt Lake City, Utah, Oct. 4.—Laura Adams and Harry Morgan, who were arrested here on complaint of the Portland and Chicago police, on a charge of robbing Anton Fritz, an eastern tourist, of $9,000, and of conspiracy to murder him in Chicago, were discharged in the District court today.

District Attorney Moran Rules Democrats and Gets the Nomination.

INDORSE BRYAN BY TRICK

Williams Catches Convention Napping and Forces Resolution After Fight.

For governor.....JOHN B. MORAN
For lieutenant governor.....E. GERRY BROWN
For attorney general.....JOHN W. CUMMINGS
For auditor.....T. L. KISGEN
For secretary of state.....CHARLES C. PAINE
For treasurer.....GEORGE M. HARRINGTON

Boston, Mass., Oct. 4.—[Special.]—Under conditions almost identical with those in the state of New York, the Massachusetts democratic convention today nominated for governor District Attorney John B. Moran, a political henchman of William Randolph Hearst and the candidate of the Independence league.

Moran dominated the convention as completely as the Hearst-Murphy combination dictated at Buffalo, save in one particular. He was outwitted by George Fred Williams, who, in the last moments of the convention, forced through a resolution favoring the presidential candidacy of William Jennings Bryan, despite the vigorous opposition of the district attorney's lieutenants.

This was the one drop of bitterness in Moran's cup. Otherwise he drank deep of victory, for not only was he nominated by acclamation but the convention went on record as indorsing the leadership of William R. Hearst and extending to him the congratulations and good wishes of the democracy of Massachusetts.

Convention Bossed by Radicals.

It was the most remarkable convention in the history of the state and marked the beginning of a new era for the Massachusetts democracy. From the first until just before adjournment the so-called radical wing of the party, of which Moran is sponsor and leader, was indisputably in control. The old time factors, Josiah Quincy, Congressman John A. Sullivan, Congressman William S. McNary, and the element represented by such democrats as former Gov. William L. Douglas and Henry M. Whitney, were merely powerless. The Moran sentiment, which they vainly had sought to stem before the primaries, swept everything before it.

The entire ticket was chosen by acclamation. Two of the candidates besides Mr. Moran had been nominated by the Independence league, Brown for lieutenant governor and Hisgen for auditor.

Cheer Bryan; Howl at Hearst.

The platform as originally presented and adopted praised Bryan without stint, but failed to indorse him for the next presidential nomination. The references to the Nebraskan aroused the convention to wild enthusiasm, which changed almost into a howl of objection when in the next paragraph tribute was paid to the leadership and democracy of Hearst. Hisses and cries "No, no!" and "Bryan only!" came from all over the hall.

Then the Hearst supporters, given new vigor by the memory that the Hearst Independence league had indorsed Moran for governor, almost drowned out the Bryan delegates. The permanent chairman, former Mayor John P. Feeney, in vain rapped for quiet. He surrendered, exhausted, and the reading of the resolutions was not resumed until the convention had spent itself.

At the end, the demonstration against and for Hearst began all over again. The voice vote on the question of adopting the platform as read was a roar, rather than a chorus of ayes and noes. The vote was doubted, and upon a rising vote being taken the chair declared the resolutions adopted.

Battle Ends in a Draw.

Again the storm of opposition swept over the hall. One delegate, after many interruptions, succeeded in moving that the resolutions be reconsidered. On the first test of strength over the Hearst plank there was a defeat for the Hearst supporters. A motion to lay the motion to reconsider upon the table was defeated, though by a close margin. On the question of reconsideration there was a vigorous debate. Finally the chair declared that the motion to reconsider was lost and ignored many protesting delegates who doubted the vote.

After all the nominations had been made and when many of the delegates had left for their homes George Fred Williams quietly moved that the convention go on record as favoring the nomination of Mr. Bryan by the national democratic party of 1908. This new sensation threw the convention into chaos again. The wave seemed to split even the Moran forces.

Granville S. McFarland of Cambridge, the secretary of the Moran campaign committee, charged that the resolution had been presented with "felonious intent," but in the end it was declared carried after a voice vote, and the convention was immediately adjourned.

SEES EXTRAVAGANCE IN RULE.

Wisconsin Democratic Candidate for Governor Charges Republicans with Reckless Administration.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 4.—The democratic state campaign opened here tonight when John A. Aylward, the candidate for governor, spoke on the principles of his party.

"In the history of this state," said Mr. Aylward, "there has never been such a reckless waste of the public moneys. Boards and commissions have been multiplied until now we have some thirty-three commissions, each with its members, assistants, clerks, and stenographers. The reading of the recent candidates' platform calls for additional commissions. A multitude of useless officers and employés have been fastened upon the state for political purposes.

"For denial of the republican platform claims of 'conspicuous economy and businesslike administration of affairs of state' and in support of our charges we appeal to the public records as kept in the office of the secretary of state."

The speaker also dwelt at length on state issues, scoring the republican administration for the alleged excessive expenses incurred by the various departments of the state government.

LA FOLLETTE WILL TESTIFY.

Senator Agrees to Shed Light on "Yellow Dog" Funds Contributed by Railroads to Secure His Defeat.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 4.—Senator Robert La Follette of Wisconsin, it was announced today, has agreed to appear as a witness before the Minnesota state railroad and warehouse commission concerning the existence of "yellow dog" funds said to have been contributed to by the railroads to bring about his political downfall. Senator La Follette has not only agreed to himself appear and give testimony but says he will bring other witnesses to support the contention of the attorney for the shippers' association, that such funds were formed out of the gross earnings of the companies.

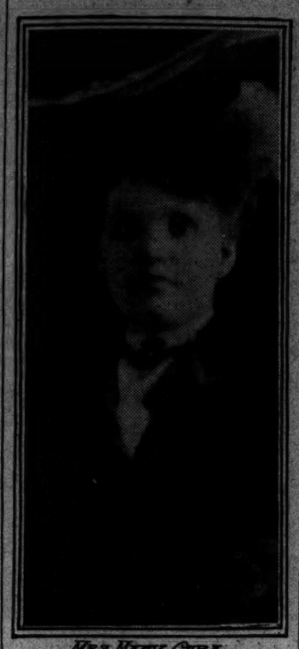

At the hearing today it was openly charged by Attorney Manahan that President Marvin Hughitt of the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Omaha railroad paid $50,000 from the funds of the company as a contribution to the campaign funds of one of the national political parties.

A. T. Clark, vice president of the same road, testified that there were vouchers to show that twenty men had been employed in recent campaigns in Wisconsin.

Governor's Day at State Fair.

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 4.—Today was Governor's day at the state fair and there was a great crowd on the grounds. Gov. Deneen and other state officers, Senator Culloon, federal officers, and judges of the Supreme court of Illinois held an informal reception.

Jilts Admirers to Marry Turk.

MRS. MARY CARA

The fickleness of Mrs. Mary Cara, who jilted two sweethearts in order to marry a turbaned Turk, caused a small riot in Justice Dooley's courtroom yesterday afternoon, when he was asked to untie the Gordian knot of the young wife's complicated love affairs.

August Lempke, a German, met Mrs. Cara, then Miss Mary Healy, at a Clan-na-Gael picnic Aug. 25, proposed marriage, was accepted on the spot, and made his fiancée numerous presents, which have not been returned. Pierce Hennessy, a brother to Mrs. Cara's sister-in-law, having courted Miss Healy with great success, felt justified in going to the county clerk's office and getting out a license for himself and Miss Healy. Patico Cara, a Turk, on Sept. 12 married the same Miss Healy. He said the least of the lot.

The courtroom scene was caused by the actions of Pierce Hennessy when he learned he had been jilted. He went to Mrs. Cara's house and waved a pink marriage license scornfully in her face. The bride showed what she thought of it by tearing the license up.

HUGHES' KEYNOTE ENTHUSES PARTY.

easily, steadily, and with such complete lack of embarrassment as to prove almost monotonous. He aroused absolutely no enthusiasm, but there was no hostility. The great crowd listened attentively and respectfully. It melted away as soon as he had ceased talking, and practically the only cheers were those of the well drilled little band of Hearst shouters who always accompany the candidate.

If such a thing had happened in the city it would be called a "frost," but happening where it did and as it did it would be a great mistake to call it anything of the kind. On the contrary, it was perhaps something of a triumph. The country people were evidently eager to see Hearst.

Editor on Advertising Tour.

Republican newspapers, orators, and country store oracles for years have discussed Mr. Hearst as a dangerous type of politician. He was represented as a socialist, anarchist, and disorganiser of the worst stripe. It certainly did him no harm, therefore, that 15,000 country people who were curious enough as to his personality to pack themselves into a race course to hear him speak discovered that he looked like any other well bred business man, that he spoke in a measured tone of voice, and that he had not the outward earmarks, at least, of the socialist or criminal.

There was, it is true, no enthusiasm Catchwords which usually arouse a volley of applause in the city were passed by in silence in the country. The candidate was speaking to an aggregation of well to do farming people, and they were, perhaps, not in quick sympathy with the idea that the country was oppressed to any great extent by the money power.

An attempt will be made by all republican speakers and newspapers to have it appear that Mr. Hearst has broken down entirely in the country, whereas there has been no failure. As he himself said before he went away, he proposed to make a tour of county fairs, just to let the people look him over, size him up, and determine for themselves what sort of fellow he was likely to be. To this extent his agricultural tour has been a success. Later on, when he attempts to fire the country heart with regular political meetings, it will be time enough to discover how he is succeeding.

Fight in Up State Counties.

That he must succeed in the country goes without saying. Republicans have an old time normal upstate majority of about 100,-000 votes. If they can maintain that figure, which of course has been largely exceeded in recent years, Hearst would have to make such a showing in Manhattan as is fully unlikely. McClellan carried Greater New York in 1904 by Mayor Low by 62,696. Hearst will have to do better in the city than that by a good deal, and at the same time he will have to hold down the republican majority above the Harlem to less than 100,000 if he can possibly do so.

It is for this reason it has been decided that fully 75 per cent of the democratic work in this campaign shall be devoted to upstate counties, leaving Murphy to make the best showing he can for Manhattan.

MAKES SPEECH ON CIVIC LIFE.

Prohibition Candidate for Legislature Compares Business and Political Duties at Evanston.

R. J. Bennett, prohibition candidate for the legislature from the Sixth senatorial district, addressed a gathering at the home of Edwin F. Walker, 2454 Evanston avenue, Evanston, last night on "Duties of Citizenship." He made a comparison of business and civic life. "A large portion of my life has been devoted to commercial pursuits, and I believe there is close resemblance between the obligations of a business man and those that appertain to our duties as citizens," he declared.

Girl Tells of Suicide Pact.

New Philadelphia, O., Oct. 4.—[Special.]—A suicide pact between two young girls was revealed today by Miss Barbara Herron, aged 14, of Midvale, who is suffering from a badly burned mouth as a result of drinking carbolic acid. The girl declares the acid was given her by her friend from Dennison, whom she calls Myrtle.

BEVERIDGE PAYS TRIBUTE TO BRYAN

Senator Denounces Abuse of Idealist; "Righteous, but Not Right."

ROOSEVELT A DREAMER.

Difference Is President Achieves His Ideals; No Chance of Government Ownership.

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 4.—A misguided martyr, righteous, but not right, is Senator Albert J. Beveridge's definition of William J. Bryan. An achiever of ideals is his definition of President Roosevelt, who, he believes, is as great an idealist and dreamer as Bryan.

Senator Beveridge analyzed the two men, comparatively and quantitatively, in a speech delivered here tonight in the interest of the republican congressional and state tickets. He analyzed also Bryan's dream of government ownership to the end that the day never would dawn in this country when it might be realized.

Senator Beveridge said:

"I have no patience with the abuse of Mr. Bryan. Mistaken in policy, he is yet a hero of conscience. At St. Louis he refused to sell his moral birthright for a mess of pottage. Surrounded there by the master manipulators of an unrighteous cabal that sought to snare and thought to fool the American people, he refused to submit and trampled beneath his feet their offers of influence and power. And today he is the same undismayed soldier of conviction, choosing to utter his thought however it may shatter his fortunes.

"This is the stuff out of which is made great preachers and reformers. Such was Peter the Hermit; such Rienzi; such Robespierre and Danton; such was Patrick Henry and Wendell Phillips. But such have never been nor never can be the statesmen of a people. There is in them so much of poetry, so much of fanaticism; there is so much of the dreamer, so much of the martyr, that, while they see splendid visions and dream grand dreams, they cannot make those visions realities or bring those dreams to pass.

Bryan Righteous but Not Right.

"And yet these men are needed by humanity. Always among the people there should be the voice of protest; Mr. Bryan is superbly that. Always in free institutions there should be the critic and the objector; Mr. Bryan is supremely that. Always unrest should have its advocates; Mr. Bryan is grandly that.

"And so tonight, conceding, nay, gladly asserting, the morality, courage, and fidelity to what he believes best for the people, I only question the soundness of Mr. Bryan's views. He is righteous but not right. In the minority he and his followers are useful; in the majority he and his followers, intending to work out good, would work out ruin.

"The true statesman has the divine gift of achievement, the noble art of getting things done. . . . And such a man is he who in five years has got more things done for the people's good than even Mr. Bryan's fertile brain ever thought of; who has accomplished more reforms than were ever wrought in the same time in our history; who is this moment in the midst of the mighty work the people have given him to do, and who today, with strength, justice, and righteousness, is leading the American people onward to a fuller practical realization of their hopes, the president of the American people—of all the American people—Theodore Roosevelt.

Roosevelt Dreamer and Doer, Too.

"Theodore Roosevelt has been able to do what he has done because, like Mr. Bryan, he is an idealist, but, unlike Mr. Bryan, he is a man of affairs; because he has courage as high as Nebraska's great radical, a conscience as sensitive but a skill and experience with men that enables him to use for the people's good the qualities of human nature as he finds them; and a wisdom which compounds for the welfare of the people not only our strength but also the defects of those with whom he works.

"It is just the difference between the dreamer and the achiever. Both are necessary, both pure, both devoted to the republic. But one is the administrator; the other is the objector."

Addressing himself to the subject of government ownership, Senator Beveridge said:

"Government ownership is wrong because it is not a principle which can be applied to all industry, which, like the railways, affect all the people; government supervision is right because it does apply to all industries, which, like the railways, are so great that they affect the people. Government ownership is wrong because it is fatal to individual initiative; government supervision is right because it preserves individual initiative but prevents individual abuses."

MURPHY AND HEARST TO SPLIT?

War Between Head of Tammany and Independence League May Affect the Gubernatorial Race.

New York, Oct. 4.—[Special.]—The split between Charles F. Murphy and the Independence league assumed proportions today which threatened to end the Murphy-Hearst alliance unless Mr. Hearst himself averts it.

William J. Conners, chairman of the democratic state committee, left tonight for Chatham, N. Y., where he will meet Mr. Hearst tomorrow morning and appeal to him to do something to prevent placing in the field two separate tickets involving the wholesale slashing of Hearst by the Tammany forces. Hearst had made two demands of Boss Murphy:

First—That he have six out of ten Supreme court justiceships.

Second—That nominations be refused to "Big Tim" Sullivan, "gas" senators, and others whom he has attacked.

Murphy agreed in part to the latter demand, but positively refused to yield to the former. Third day conferences today left matters in worse shape than before.

The outcome of the deadlock was in the air when the senatorial conventions met tonight. Murphy was unwilling to take any step which might be a compromise, and gave orders that the convention in the battery district where "Big Tim" Sullivan was to have been nominated for the senate be adjourned until Monday. "Big Tim" agreed to this plan and the question of his nomination was left open, pending the result of Conner's mission to Chatham tomorrow. If no agreement is reached "Big Tim" will be nominated Monday night and it will be a fight all along the line, in which event Tammany men declared tonight Hearst will be cut unmercifully and will lose New York City.

Murphy renominated none of the "gas" senators tonight, thus leaving the way open for an agreement with Hearst.

STUDENT Y. M. C. A. DEMANDS NEGRO LEAVE DORMITORY.

Indignation Meeting of Snell Hall's Hostile Occupants Is Held When D. W. Woodard, a Freshman, Insists on Remaining—Secretary Swan of Religious Organization Voices Protest, but Is Defied—Southerners Add to Feeling.

D. W. Woodard, a freshman negro student at the University of Chicago, has started a tempest among the students by his determination to retain a room in Snell hall, a university dormitory conducted by the Y. M. C. A., but managed financially by the university authorities.

Residents of the hall held a meeting yesterday and decided to ask Woodard to withdraw from the dormitory. The negro intends to make a fight to hold his room, which was rented by the university authorities until the end of the fall quarter, Dec. 23. He has paid his room rent in advance.

Claim Right to Oust Negro.

Students living in the hall, all of whom are Y. M. C. A. men, expect the faculty to stand by them in their efforts to oust Woodard. They declare the tenants of the hall are a self-governing body and have a right in their choice of companions and the power to overrule the action of the university's officials in renting a room to Woodard.

George Swan, secretary of the Y. M. C. A. and in charge of the dormitory, was delegated by the residents of the hall to ask Woodard to pack his trunk and seek another room. Swan is a leader in the attack upon the negro and has the backing of all the student members of the Y. M. C. A., among whom are numerous southerners.

Students Upheld by President.

President Judson refused to make a statement on the trouble, but upheld the students in their declaration that they are a self-governing body. The matter probably will come up for faculty consideration at the weekly meeting tomorrow.

Woodard, who entered the university on Monday, Oct. 1, and is a resident of New Jersey, points to the fact that four negroes lived in Snell hall during the summer quarter, and on this ground believes he will be permitted to remain by the faculty. The Y. M. C. A. men declare the hall was not conducted under their auspices during the summer.

PRISON FARE HER PRICE OF HONOR.

Faithful Wife Shares Husband's Food, Refusing Offers from "Friends."

60 FAMILIES HOMELESS.

Fire Drives Out Tenement Dwellers; Three Persons Are Badly Injured.

NEW YORK BUREAU CHICAGO TRIBUNE. New York, Oct. 4.

Chooses Prison Fare Before Dishonor.

"My husband told me his past for three days before we were wedded, and I told him it made no difference with my love. He proved his love by sharing his prison fare with me." This is the attitude of Mrs. Phillis Shapdaline Pillsbury, whose husband, Louis Cleveland Pillsbury, was taken into the Adams street court in Brooklyn today accused of forgery. For five weeks Pillsbury and his wife have shared his jail food with his wife.

The peculiar spectacle of a prisoner sharing his prison rations with his wife at liberty results from Pillsbury's father and relatives refusing his appeals for aid. Spurned by his family he appealed to some supposed friends—politicians—to aid his starving wife. The "friends" visited the wife, but the price they placed on their aid was her dishonor, and the modest, faithful wife chose the coarse fare of the cells.

Pillsbury is accused of raising money on a worthless check. Thomas J. Molloy is the complainant. Mrs. Pillsbury said today:

"In the Raymond street jail my husband wrote to the men he had trusted, asking them to aid me. They came to me, saw that I was young—possibly thought I was pretty. They mistook my character and talked about taking me out to wine suppers. These and other inferences made it plain to me what they meant, and I sent the sneaks from me. I would rather starve first. But that was not necessary. The men at the Raymond street jail allowed me to join my husband at his meals. They are men, not wolves."

After the publication of Mrs. Pillsbury's plight the Jerry McAuley mission took up her case and attempted to secure her an honorable position. One philanthropist sent her $5.

Ninety families were driven from their homes, three firemen were injured, property valued at $50,000 was destroyed, and surrounding property valued at millions threatened by a fire which started early today in the heart of the leather district.

Fire Drives Out Ninety Families; Three Men Hurt.

The flames were extinguished only after three hours of the hardest kind of work. One of the buildings threatened was St. Gregory's hospital.

The fire started in a building occupied by De Zoge Bros., paper merchants, and immediately spread to three four story tenement houses adjoining. Ninety families were aroused by policemen and firemen. An aged woman was carried out.

A hose which had been carried up a ladder broke from the grasp of six men who were holding it and knocked three of them to the ground.

The light that failed three years ago and left Margaret Huber, then 7 years of age, stone blind, has been brought back by a series of operations which opthalmologists declare remarkable. A street car filled with terrified passengers dashed across New York today at full speed, while the motorman, Leo Schwartz, suddenly bereft of his reason, stood flourishing a heavy controller bar and threatening to brain any one who approached him. He finally was subdued, after a desperate struggle with half a dozen policemen and street railway employes, during which several passengers jumped from the swiftly moving car and sustained painful bruises. One of the men who fought the mad motorman was severely injured.

MINE DEAD MAY TOTAL 40

EIGHTEEN BODIES RECOVERED AT POCAHONTAS, VA.

Victims of Explosion in Colliery Recovered—Confusion as to Number of Fatalities Owing to Fact That Some of Workers Escaped by One of Entrances—Carload of Coffins and Burial Supplies Ordered—Scenes of Horror at Pit.

Pocahontas, Va., Oct. 4.—Nineteen known dead and from thirty to forty more men entombed and doubtless all dead, is the situation at the West Fork mines of the Pocahontas Collieries company, where an explosion occurred late yesterday afternoon.

Nineteen bodies were recovered from the mines as the result of the heroic work of a band of thirty-five men constituting a rescue party that worked incessantly through the night and day. It was not until 7:30 o'clock this evening that the rescuers reached a point nearest Paul entry, where the explosion occurred. The work of rescue was slow as the conditions confronting the party were difficult to surmount.

Order Carload of Coffins.

The authorities anticipated the fearful extent of the casualties today by ordering a carload of coffins and burial supplies, which are now on the way. The order is being rushed at Bluefield, and the burial supplies, which include sixty coffins, are expected to reach Pocahontas early tomorrow morning.

Supt. William Leckie of the mine, who entered the mine as one of the rescuing party, had a narrow escape from death. He was overcome by the fumes and had to be carried out. Edward Jones, the inside mine foreman, led the first rescue party, and when that party failed to return in a reasonable time a second rescue party under Supt. Leckie followed.

Confusion as to Death List.

Some confusion was caused in the determination of the exact number of men entombed by the fact that when the explosion occurred the exchange of shifts was in progress, added to which was the fact that a number of the men escaped from the Tug Fork entrance.

The scenes around the mine were pitiful. Relatives and friends gathered in groups at the entrances and elsewhere and gave vent to their grief as the bodies one by one were brought out.

S. B. Cook, one of the victims, whose body was found within 300 feet of the outside of the mine, was the only survivor of the big explosion in the Pocahontas mines in 1884.

While the force of the explosion was terrific, the foremen, who were at the mine offices, did not know there had been any trouble until the men and mules failed to come out at the time for quitting work.

INVESTS 29 CENTS; GETS $1,275 AND IS A GENERAL FOR A DAY.

Chicago Traveling Man's Flurry in Cuba's War Market Nets Him Big Commission; Taft Has to Buy Back.

Wichita, Kas., Oct. 4.—[Special.]—C. A. Mosher, a Chicago traveling man, who has made this city his headquarters for years, yesterday was given a commission in the Cuban army and today requested to resign. His commission came directly from ex-President Palma, who also commissioned him to raise a regiment of Rough Riders.

Mosher's letter to Palma requesting a commission was indorsed by several influential business men of Wichita. In replying, Palma sent him a commission as a general, dating the commission back three months. When Secretary Taft arrived at Havana, Mosher was asked to resign and return the contract sent him by the Cuban government, in which the expense of enlisting, equipping, and mobilizing the regiment was to be paid out of the Cuban treasury. In the same letter a draft was sent him for his salary as a Cuban general since the date of his commission, which was $1,275.

Mosher is an old soldier, having served in the union army with Grant. To substantiate his story he has the money and the communications to show. His actual expense of securing the commission and contract with the money was 29 cents.

Assistant Corporation Counsel Says, However, They Have No Especial Right of Way in Streets.

The city fire department has no special right of way in the streets, and other vehicles, cars, and pedestrians need not yield to them, according to Assistant Corporation Counsel Edward T. Wade.

Mr. Wade gave this opinion yesterday to Coroner Peter Hoffman, who wanted to know whether the members of the fire insurance patrol have the same rights on the streets as the city fire department, when they are responding to an alarm.

He said neither department has any right of way and the rules of the road are as binding upon the firemen as upon drivers of ordinary vehicles.

UPTON SINCLAIR ACCEPTS CALL.

Author in Consenting to Run for Congress on Socialist Ticket Says Prophecies Came True.

Trenton, N. J., Oct. 4.—[Special.]—Upton Sinclair, author of "The Jungle," has accepted the socialist nomination from the Third congressional district in a letter made public this afternoon. He says the prophecies of the party are beginning to come true. Now he sees with wonder that even the "slum proletariat of New York unrighteousness is beginning to stir, and the pirate chieftains of Tammany Hall are beginning to talk of the rights of the people."

5 DEAD; 10 HURT IN TRAIN WRECK.

Passengers Victims of Collision on Boston and Maine Road Near Troy, N. Y.

WRECK AT A STATION.

F. L. Block, Peoria Business Man, Loses Life in Accident; Tragedy of Honeymoon.

Lansingburg, N. Y., Oct. 4.—Five passengers were killed outright and a score were injured in a rear end collision between a regular passenger train and a military special on the Boston and Maine railroad, directly in front of the Lansingburg depot, north of Troy, about 5 o'clock today.

Dead.

BLOCK, F. L., Peoria, Ill.
DACEY, MRS. J. W., Arlington, Mass.
POOLE, MRS. H. S., Concord, N. H.
SHAW, MRS. WALLACE E., Bath, Me.
STEVENS, MRS., Boston.

Injured.

Belcher, Frank, Medford, Mass.; both legs fractured.
Block, Mrs. F. L., Peoria, Ill.; believed spine fractured.
Mauson, Miss, Bath, Me.; back badly sprained.
Mauson, Miss, Bath, Me.; leg crushed.
Mauson, Miss Virginia, Bath, Me.; three ribs broken.
Seymour, W. K., Kenton, O.; scalp wounds.
Stevens, George D., Winchester, Mass.; compound fracture of ankle and arm.
Van Fassett, W. and wife, Boston; burned.

The collision took place on a heavy grade and sharp curve. The passenger train was one that leaves Boston daily at 9:30 a. m. for Albany. It consisted of five cars, a baggage car, smoker, day coach, and two parlor cars, and today was about one hour late when it reached Lansingburg station, waiting there for a chance to get into the Troy depot.

Without any warning the special came thundering along with eighteen cars, and crashed into the passenger train, smashing the last two cars, which were Pullmans, like eggshells.

Cars Roll Down Embankment.

Both these cars were swept from the track and rolled down the embankment. The engine of the special kept on for a dozen yards and then turned turtle, the front end plowing into the ground and the car behind being telescoped by the tender.

The special was drawing four troops of the Fourteenth United States cavalry from Fort Ethan Allen to Newport News, where they are to embark for Cuba. The soldiers quickly got to work to rescue the injured. In a comparatively short time most of those pinned down by the wreckage were on their way to the Leonard hospital, near the scene of the wreck.

Many of the passengers on the regular had left the train when it came to a standstill and were pacing up and down the track when the crash came.

One man's grief was pitiable. His name was J. W. Dacey, and he ran up and down the track crying for his wife. In a few minutes her lifeless form was identified. They had been married last night at Arlington, Mass., and were on their honeymoon, having planned an extended trip.

Peoria Business Man Victim.

Peoria, Ill., Oct. 4.—Fred L. Block, who met his death in the Lansingburg, N. Y., wreck, was a member of the firm of Schipper & Block of this city and Pekin, the largest department store in Illinois outside of Chicago. Mr. Block was also interested in a number of the banking institutions of the city. Together with his wife, Mr. Block left Peoria about three weeks ago for a trip through the east for his health. He was about 50 years of age and is survived by his widow, two sons, Carl and Hayl, and one daughter, Miss Anna Block.

WOMEN MORE TIME TO VOTE, SAYS THE REV. ANNA SHAW.

President of National Suffrage Association Tells Why Her Sex Should Have the Ballot.

Elgin, Ill., Oct. 4.—[Special.]—The Rev. Anna H. Shaw, president of the National American Woman's Suffrage association, voiced the plea of woman for the ballot here tonight in an address to the Illinois Equal Suffrage association.

"Women have more time than men to vote," she said. "Therefore they should be given the privilege. If men need the ballot for economic reasons women need it for the same. Women work for small wages because no incentive is offered for them to work to the pinnacle of perfection."

Mrs. Shaw denounced women card players, saying those having so much spare time could better utilize their time by visiting sweat shops and seeing the pictures of child workers, which she graphically described.

This afternoon Dr. Luema G. Johnson of Chicago in an address said it is the aim of the women that one of the provisions of the new charter which will soon be drawn up for Chicago shall be municipal suffrage for Chicago women. After that they believe it will be easier to secure the ballot for all Illinois women.

The following officers were elected this afternoon:

President—Mrs. Ella S. Stewart.

First vice president—Dr. Anna E. Blount, Oak Park.

Second vice president—Mrs. Elmina Springer, Chicago.

Recording secretary—Mrs. Alice S. Tracy, Chicago.

Corresponding secretary—Miss S. Grace Nichols, Chicago.

Treasurer—Mrs. Ellen E. Foster, Evanston.

Auditor—Mrs. D. E. Jones, Chicago.

Superintendent legislation — Mrs. Catherine Waugh McCulloch.

The reports of the secretary and treasurer showed an increase in membership and finances in good shape.

TELL BAD FORTUNE: IN PERIL.

Five Gypsy Women Have Trouble Getting Away After Death of Three Is Predicted.

Five gypsy fortune tellers, one of whom predicted that the husband and two sons of Mrs. Tony Tavolacchy, 123 Erie street, would meet violent death from a "black hand" society, had trouble yesterday escaping from the house. Mrs. Tavolacchy became hysterical, neighbors rushed in, and seeing the five strange women believed they had done some harm. A policeman, attracted by the outcries, heard all the evidence in the case and escorted the gypsies safely away.

400 GIRLS TO BE DETECTIVES IN Y. W. C. A. TRUNK MYSTERY.

Residents in Philadelphia Association Building to Aid Police in Running Down Child Slayer.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 4.—[Special.]—The 400 young women living at the Young Woman's Christian Association building will hold a massmeeting tomorrow to consider means of aiding the investigation into the mystery of the dead baby found in a resident's trunk. The young women feel deeply the notoriety which the discovery has given the association, and at the meeting will pledge themselves to report hereafter all occurrences which might bring discredit upon the association.

They are to be put upon their honor to give every aid in the investigation now being conducted by the police. The girls will be addressed by members of the board of managers, and possibly by one of the city detectives.

The investigation was pressed in every direction by the authorities today. The trunk of every girl living in the building was examined. At present the police believe the placing of the body in Miss Elizabeth Smart's trunk was the act of an enemy.

16 MILLIONAIRES SUED FOR $1,600.

Action Against Directors Echoes International Mercantile Crash.

TEST CASE AS BEGINNING.

New York Adjustment Company to Go After $1,200,000 More if Successful.

New York, Oct. 4.—[Special.]—An echo of the scandal attendant upon the crash of the International Mercantile agency a year ago was heard today in a suit begun in the supreme court by the McClure Adjustment company against sixteen of the wealthiest and most prominent business men in this country and Canada, and also against Thomas N. McCauley, the Canadian who organized the corporation.

The defendants were directors of the agency, and it is alleged by the McClure company they conspired with McCauley, who fled the country soon after the crash, to sell to the public its stock, which they knew to be worthless.

Defendants All Millionaires.

The individual fortunes of the defendants vary from $1,600,000 to $7,000,000. They are: Henry K. Pomeroy, president of the New York Stock exchange; Milo M. Belding, the silk importer; S. F. McKinnon, a merchant of Toronto; Robert Mackay of Montreal; John Macfarlane, wholesale paper manufacturer, Montreal; George W. Sadler and James Robinson of Montreal; W. K. George, Toronto; Leroy W. Baldwin, H. M. Belding Jr., Duncan D. Parmly, and Charles A. Henderson of New York; Edward L. Gould of Bradford; John Flett of Toronto; and Delos P. Phelps of Chicago.

The McClure Adjustment company, the plaintiff, was organized a little while ago to undertake such cases as that of the International Mercantile agency. It holds now $1,200,000 worth of the stock of the McCauley concern, which was purchased by the public, and which, it alleges, was sold for the interest of the defendants named. This stock has been assigned to it, and the complainant in the case sets forth in substance that every one of the defendants who were directors in the International Mercantile agency became such at the solicitation of McCauley and for the express consideration of allotments of stock ranging from 10,000 to 50,000 shares.

Hope to Recover $1,200,000.

It is charged also that the reputation and prominence of these men were the bait with which McCauley hooked the public and especially the clients of the McClure company.

Affidavits in complaint purport to give a history of the International Mercantile agency from the time it was organized under the laws of New Jersey in 1903 up to the crash.

In this action only $1,600 is sought to be recovered from the seventeen millionaires, but it was explained today by Duncan McClure, president of the McClure company, and George B. Sidener, its general counsel, the case was more of a test than anything else, although they feel sure ultimately of obtaining judgments for the entire $1,200,000.

INSURANCE REBATE EVILS ASSAILED BY COMMISSIONERS.

National Association at Washington Convention Adopts Resolution Attacking Method.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 4.—The National Association of Insurance Commissioners today adopted a resolution against the so-called rebate evil, from which it was stated the public had suffered even at the hands of some of the biggest companies. It was explained that many insurance companies run regular get rich quick schemes under the guise of offering enormous dividends that are wholly impossible of realization.

It was shown that frequently some wealthy and influential man in a community is offered a secret or special contract, reducing the cost of the insurance to him on the promise that he will work for the ends of the company in his locality. It was represented that many people who take the chance of getting large dividends are induced to insure beyond their capacity to pay.

The convention already had adopted the standard blank for obtaining information from the various companies doing business in the several states.

An address of general interest was made by Carlos S. Hardy of Chicago on "The Future of Fraternal Insurance." Mr. Hardy is secretary of the Supreme lodge of the Endowment Rank, K. of K. He says unquestionably there is a necessity for raising the rates on fraternal insurance to meet the increasing charges upon it.

Mutual Agent Dismissed.

New York, Oct. 4.—Col. Biscoe Hindman of Louisville, Ky., general agent for the Mutual Life Insurance company for the states of Tennessee and Kentucky, was dismissed from the service of that company today. The announcement was made after a meeting of the committee on insurance and agencies by Second Vice President Dexter. Col. Hindman is a candidate for trustee on the "selected fusion ticket" of the Mutual Life, which is to be voted on at the coming election of the company.

OFFER TO SOLVE CONVICT PROBLEM

Rebuild Joliet Penitentiary with Prisoners, Say Warden and Union Men.

WOULD SERVE TWO ENDS.

"New Administration" of Industrial Workers Bounced from Office.

Representatives of the Illinois State Federation of Labor and Warden E. J. Murphy of the Joliet penitentiary have evolved a plan which aims to replace the Joliet penal institution buildings with a brand new and up to date set at practically no cost. Simultaneously, according to their plan and hopes, the convict labor question "would be settled for at least ten years."

The plans have been placed in the form of a report drawn up by President Barney Cohen of the state federation and Edwin R. Wright of Typographical union No. 16. This report, it is expected, will be adopted by the annual convention of the state federation to be held at Streator on Oct. 16. Then efforts will be made to have necessary measures passed at Springfield to enable the backers of the project to carry out their plans.

The matter was taken up by the labor leaders after Mr. Wright had visited the Joliet, Chester, and Pontiac institutions. He had expected to learn that prisoners were being paroled from these places by wholesale to become printers in some of the strike bound printing houses in Chicago. Upon this subject he has not prepared his report, but an interview with Warden Murphy convinced him that if the convict labor problem could be solved so easily the federation might well take it up.

Here Is the New Plan.

The plan is outlined briefly as follows:

New penitentiary to be constructed of the stone from the quarry located on the state's present holdings.

The new structure to be placed in the center of a big farm a few miles from Joliet, the land to be purchased with a part of the revenue to be derived from the sale of the present site.

The stone to be cut and the building constructed from basement to garret with convict labor.

All of the woodwork to be furnished by the woodworkers now employed in the institution, the only cost of such work being the lumber.

The foundry at the penitentiary, now practically idle, to be used for iron castings and for bars, the only cost of which would be for raw iron.

The biggest item of expense in the construction of the building under this plan would be the cement to hold the stones together. Ordinarily the total cost would reach well into the millions.

The warden even has planned for the years to come after the new building is completed. Then, he hopes, a big per cent of the prisoners will be employed in the labor of tilling the soil on the farm, "thus preventing competition with outside union laborers, such as now is causing considerable trouble."

Industrial Workers Again Fight.

The Industrial Workers of the World, who have differed among themselves on many matters in the last few days, furnished a lively climax for their "running" debates yesterday afternoon. The headquarters of the organization, 148 West Madison street, was the scene of a meeting between the "revolutionary socialists" and another faction of the workers which ended seriously.

Charles Sherman, the deposed international president of the workers, was seated in the most comfortable leather chair in the office, in front of the only roll top desk in the place, although he had been notified that he had failed to be reelected. Therefore he, E. E. Trautman, secretary of the organization; Philip Veal, one of the leaders; and F. W. Haslewood, Vincent St. John, and Eugene Fischer, newly elected members of the executive committee, had been appointed to notify the former president that his services no longer were required and to take possession of the office.

The five men walked up the steps to the office, and one of them, nobody knows just who, made known their errand. Just then several muscular men appeared from dark corners of the office, fell upon the intruders, and pushed, kicked, and pounded them one and all down the stairs into the street below. Then the doors were barricaded, desks were pushed against them, and the "new administration" was dared to step foot onto the disputed territory once more.

The "new administration" seated itself on the sidewalk to gather its scattered wits, then departed without making any further effort to carry out orders.

No new jurors were secured in the Shea trial at the Criminal court.

SEEK RULING ON 8 HOUR DAY.

American Railway Mail Association Members at Session Pass Resolution to Get Official Sentiment.

The American Railway Mail association, in its closing session at the Masonic temple yesterday afternoon, adopted resolutions asking the postoffice department at Washington for a ruling on the eight hour question. The executive committee was authorized to take such action as was deemed best upon the receipt of the ruling on the question from Washington. A resolution was adopted commending the Harriman railroads for their postal car service. The cars are of steel, fitted with electric lights and other conveniences. A number of minor resolutions were adopted, following which the election of officers for the year was held, and Fort Worth, Tex., fixed as the meeting place for 1907.

Policeman of Lake Street Station Is Discharged by Chief Collins for Gun Play.

It is unbecoming conduct for a policeman in Chicago to shoot himself. If any should follow in the steps of Patrolman Thomas Broderick of the Lake street station, who shot himself recently, while in a state of alleged intoxication, they will be discharged by the chief. Broderick lost his star as soon as his superior heard of the affair. The eligible list for patrolmen of the police department may be posted by the civil service commission next Monday.

LAKE COUNTY AFTER RESORTS.

Indictments Returned Against Thirty-three Persons in Highwood and Other Districts.

The work of the Lake County Law and Order league in prosecuting the resort keepers of Highwood and the Lake region resulted yesterday in the indictment of thirty-three persons at Waukegan. A new charge is made against them, that of maintaining a nuisance. Under that charge they may be fined and imprisoned if found guilty. All but four of Highwood's saloonkeepers were fined also on charges of selling to minors and selling on Sunday.

Dr. Knapp Must Answer to Grand Jury on Charge of Causing Mrs. Furdell's Death by an Illegal Operation.

Dr. Knapp, 1519 Leland avenue, a woman physician, who refused to tell her first name, was held to the grand jury yesterday by a coroner's jury to answer the charge of performing an illegal operation on Mrs. Mary Furdell, 37 years old, 432 Cornelia street, who died Sept. 29 in St. Mary's hospital. Dr. Knapp refused to testify at the inquest. She was represented by Attorney Arnold Tripp, who said he will procure a writ of habeas corpus today for her release.

WAR ON CHEAP THEATERS.

"FIVE CENT" HOUSES ANGER MILWAUKEE AVENUE PEOPLE.

Seventeenth Ward Improvement Association Decides an Ordinance to Curb Places Is Necessary, as They Are a Menace to the Community—City Government Scored for Lax Attention to Municipal Cleanliness and Order—Officers Elected.

War has been declared upon the "5 cent theaters" along Milwaukee and Chicago avenues by property owners and residents of the neighborhood.

Plans were made yesterday evening at the annual business meeting of the Seventeenth Ward Improvement association, which, if carried out, will mean a decided reduction in the number of cheap amusement resorts operating in the locality, strict regulations governing their exhibitions, and a closer police surveillance. The immediate object of the association, which, with the enthusiastic support of Ald. Lewis D. Sittis, it hopes to obtain shortly, is the passage of an ordinance placing close restrictions on the granting of licenses to the enterprises.

Startling conditions were reported by members of the association who have investigated the "5 cent theaters" in the neighborhood. Milwaukee avenue has proved itself a fertile field for these amusement enterprises, the number of them increasing month by month until at present there are three and four to a block along the more thickly populated sections.

"Theaters" a Menace and Disgrace.

"These places have got to be not only a disgrace but a menace to this community," said S. C. Baumeister, the retiring president of the association. "Their shows are immoral, most of them, and they attract the worst kind of a miscellaneous crowd, but that is only a small part.

"The other night a '5 cent theater' at Chicago avenue and Holt street was raided and a crowd of young girls found there at 1 o'clock with a lot of men. Of course the doors were shut and the theater was supposed to be closed. Now, we have no reason to think that this sort of thing is not going on at other places, and it is a condition that must not be allowed to continue. At least we can obtain a requirement that the proprietors of these places must obtain signatures of consent from property owners in the neighborhood to obtain licenses. That will close a lot of them."

"If I can do anything," said Ald. Sittis, "to help in the drafting and passing of this ordinance you can count on me."

Criticises City Government.

Vigorous criticism of the methods of the city government in dealing with street cleaning and maintenance was expressed by William Kernopp, president of the Milwaukee Avenue Improvement association.

"Chicago is a wealthy city," he said. "Our taxes are high enough—I won't say anything more—but that city is dirty, the streets are dirty, and up here are torn up and the holes are left. The ward inspector doesn't see them and the city doesn't know they exist. If the citizens want anything done they must attend to it themselves.

"Something is radically wrong—rotten to the core. They tell me they 'haven't got the money,' but I hear of appropriations that ought to accomplish something. We are paying heavy taxes. Where do they go?"

The following officers were elected for the year:

President—Joseph Schrader.

Vice president—Albert Gollnick.

Secretary—Fred Hacker.

Treasurer—Lewis Koch.

The meeting was held at the St. Bonifacius school hall, Cornell and Noble streets.

WILL OF THOMAS H. WICKES IS CONTESTED BY CHILDREN.

Charge Is Made That Former Vice President of Pullman Company Was Unduly Influenced by His Nephew.

Trial of the suit of three children of the late Thomas H. Wickes, for years vice president of the Pullman company, to break their father's will, began yesterday in Judge Honoré's court. The contestants are Thomas H. Wickes Jr., Mrs. Laura Annetta Wickes Felt, and Florence Wickes Johnston, who declare that their father was of unsound mind when he signed the will, and that he was unduly influenced by his nephew, Hugh P. Walden, one of the largest beneficiaries.

The hearing will occupy the attention of the court for several days and many prominent persons, it is said, will be called to testify.

According to the terms of the will Thomas H. Wickes Jr. is to receive but $500 a year out of the $300,000 estate, and Mrs. Felt and Mrs. Johnston receive only the income on $100,000 during their respective lives. The homestead at 3910 Prairie avenue, $80,000, and other personal property were bequeathed to Walden, who had for years acted as Mr. Wickes' private secretary. Several bequests to charity were made.

TWO FUGITIVES ARE DISBARRED.

Supreme Court Forbids Alleged Embezzlers H. B. Wickersham and G.S. Baker from Practicing Law in Illinois.

Herman B. Wickersham and George S. Baker, both fugitives from justice under charges of swindling clients, were disbarred yesterday by the Supreme court from the practice of law in Illinois.

Wickersham was reported a few days ago to be in or near Chicago, but the detectives of the state's attorney's office could not find him. He disappeared in June, 1903, jumping the bond which had been given for his appearance by Peter F. Young, 729 Douglas boulevard. Wickersham had been president of the Lincoln park board and of the Marquette club.

Baker, who lived in Evanston, disappeared last May, just prior to the day on which he was to have been put on trial for embezzlement. The February grand jury indicted him for withholding $625 from a client, Eleanor A. R. Du Plain. The Guarantee Title and Trust company charged Baker with withholding from Mrs. H. E. Edwards $2,000 paid to him by Thomas Kees of Evanston.

OBITUARY.

GEORGE CLARKE, a famous actor of the old school, and for many years identified with Augustin Daly, is dead after a lingering illness at his home in Norwalk, Conn. He long had been a sufferer from diabetes and retired several years ago. Clarke's last appearance in New York was made at the new Liberty theater as "Tad" Lincoln in a play called "Lincoln." Upon the death of Augustin Daly he gave it out he had retired from the stage forever, but made this latest flyer just to be again among his friends of old. Previous to the time he signed with Augustin Daly he played opposite parts to Edwin Forrest. He had toured the English speaking countries of the world and won laurels for his excellent work wherever he appeared. After Daly's death he became interested with some Philadelphia millionaires in the establishment of the American Academy of Dramatic Arts, but the project failed. Clarke was born in New York nearly seventy years ago. He joined Daly's company thirty-five years ago and played everything from light comedy to Shakspeare. In the latter he was most successful.

NAFTALY NEWMAN, 64 years old, 1804 State street, died of heart disease Wednesday in a tent in the yard at the rear of his residence, where, with his daughter and son, he was making preparations for the celebration of the feast of the tabernacles. Mr. Newman was a loan broker and was prominent in Jewish religious societies.

ALEXANDER MARTIN, 55 years old, 372 West Monroe street, a retired South Water street commission merchant, fell dead at Washington boulevard and Ogden avenue Wednesday evening. He retired from active business eight years ago. A widow and five children, Archibald, Gerald, Jessie, Jane, and Alexandra, survive.

CAPT. WILLIAM H. VISGER, aged 40, one of the best known St. Lawrence river steamboat men, died suddenly at Alexandria bay of heart failure.

COURTS TO DECIDE FIGHT OVER CLUB

Lawyer for South Shore Organization Holds Conference with Prosecutor.

EXPECT A QUICK VERDICT

Manager Selected as Man Who Will Be Made Prisoner on Technicality.

Quick action in the courts is expected to settle the question of whether the South Shore Country club has a right to sell liquor in the Hyde Park prohibition district.

This was decided yesterday at a conference between Dr. Howard S. Taylor, city prosecutor, and George P. Merrick, representing the club. The conference will be continued this afternoon.

If one legal proceeding is adopted—a petition for quo warranto by the city—the club may stand a chance to lose its charter. This is the measure that is favored by Prosecuting Attorney Taylor. Under one of the other proceedings there would have to be an arrest of some officer of the club. Walter McNally, the manager, has been selected as the victim. There was some talk of arresting President William C. Thorne, but he went to New York.

Saddler and Cyclers Uneasy.

There was considerable disquietude during the day among officers and members of the Saddle and Cycle club. It was ascertained definitely that it was in local option territory, and on that account was in the same boat with the South Shore Country club.

"I shall treat all clubs and individuals alike," said Mayor Dunne, firmly.

The mayor was so much in earnest in the morning that he ordered the arrest of Manager McNally at once. Later it was decided by the opposing counsel to wait until today.

Four Legal Methods Possible.

Mr. Taylor explained the four legal proceedings that could be employed to get a quick decision on the south shore controversy, as follows:

Quo warranto—The city could petition the supreme court for a writ of quo warranto and require the club to show what right it had to exist and to sell liquor.

Injunction—The city could bring a multiplicity of suits against the club for violating a city ordinance, and the club could enjoin the city.

Habeas corpus—The city could arrest the club manager or some officer, who would refuse to give bail and apply for a writ of habeas corpus.

Justice court proceeding—City could proceed against club in a justice court for violating the city ordinances, which would be followed by an appeal to the higher courts.

Robert McMurdy, attorney for the Hyde Park Protective association, which is stirring up all the trouble for the South Shore club, attended the conference.

"Personally, I favor the quo warranto proceeding," said Mr. Taylor. "It will be the quickest."

Both Have Federal Licenses.

It was learned during the day that both the South Shore and the Saddle and Cycle club have taken out government licenses. According to Prosecuting Attorney Taylor the clubs are in conflict with the state as well as the city law.

J. T. Ryerson, secretary of the Saddle and Cycle club, and John Lewis Cochran, one of the directors, looked up the local option district in Lake View and decided that the club was within the limits, but was "out of the way" and was "doing no harm."

Ald. Dunn of the Twenty-fifth ward said the club had no right to sell liquor, but he for one was not going to stir up the matter. R. J. Barnett of 2420 North Paulina street is president of the North Side Protective association, which is affiliated with the Arthur Burrage Farwell association.

Question of Vacated Avenues.

Another attack is being planned upon the South Shore club by the south side aldermen, who are seeking to recover the use of Bond and Yates avenues, vacated by the city last spring for the use of the club.

EXCUSES 'GUM KING'S' NEW WIFE

James Moloney Says W. J. White Has Strange Influence Over His Own Former Spouse.

James Moloney, president of the Moloney-Bennet Belting company, whose divorced wife, Helen Sheldon, married William J. White, the Cleveland "gum king," in New York on Wednesday, showed devotion yesterday toward the woman who left him to become the wife of another man. He defended her and praised her while he upbraided her new husband.

"The marriage was not a surprise to me," he said. "I can only sympathize with my former wife for marrying White. He is unfit for any woman to associate with. He must have exercised some strange influence over her, and for that reason I would not censure her."

The wedding of "Miss Sheldon" to the manufacturer ended a courtship begun last winter while the Moloney and White families were at Palm Beach. Mrs. Moloney sued for a divorce last April and was granted a decree. Later Mrs. White brought suit for a divorce against her husband, a decree being granted last Tuesday.

Mr. Moloney lives at the Auditorium Annex.

ACCUSED BY PRIEST; IN JAIL.

Man Charged with Attempted Blackmail Is Unable to Secure a Bondsman.

Because he could not furnish bail Daniel Dambski, 310 Noble street, who, with S. J. Roskosz, a Polish politician, 402 West Superior street, was charged with attempting to blackmail the Rev. Francis X. Lange, pastor of St. Josaphat's Roman Catholic church, was placed in jail last evening. He was arrested by Constable Walsh of Justice Cochrane's court. Roskosz was released on bonds and the cases of both will be heard before Justice Cochrane on Oct. 10.

The priest asserts that the men attempted to blackmail him by circulating stories regarding alleged immoral conduct.

Dambski waited for two hours in the hope of securing a bondsman. His lawyer, E. W. Austen, was unable to secure one. Attorney Clarence S. Darrow denied he represented the defendants.

State's Attorney Will Announce Tomorrow His Decision as to County in Which Trial Will Be Conducted

State's Attorney Healy will make known in Judge Smith's court tomorrow morning his decision in the matter of the transfer of the Iroquois theater cases to an adjoining county. Attorney Levy Mayer suggested Danville, Rockford, Bloomington, Quincy, and one or two other cities, any one of which would suit the defense as the place of trial.

The list was submitted to Mr. Healy in June, but he said he had been too busy in the Cooke and Stensland cases to take the subject up.

"Mr. Healy telephoned me on Tuesday to be in court at 11 o'clock Saturday morning and that he would select one of the counties from the list given him," Mr. Mayer said last night. "The defense does not care what county is selected. Cook county is the only place we object to."

Danville appears to have the best chance. Mr. Healy said last night that he had been in negotiation with the state's attorney there.

Aged Man Dies Suddenly.

Lewis Stern, 80 years old, 4812 Loomis street, died suddenly last evening of heart disease while seated at a table in his home. The butchers' union took charge of the body and removed it to their headquarters, 3618 Lowe avenue. Stern had no known relatives or friends.

ATTEMPTS SUICIDE AT GRAVE.

Despondent Man Kneels Beside Daughter's Tomb and Shoots Himself in Presence of Many Mourners.

Peter Gossman, 44 years old, a brass finisher, knelt at his daughter's grave in St. Boniface cemetery, and in sight of a crowd of mourners, yesterday shot himself in the neck.

He fell unconscious across the grave. Cemetery attendants notified the Summerdale police, who took the wounded man to the Alexian Brothers' hospital, where a physician tried in vain to extract the bullet. His condition is critical.

Gossman arrived in Chicago several days ago from Cleveland, O. It is believed he became despondent because of his failure to obtain employment. His wife and two children are in Cleveland.

Armed Force Subdues Gamblers.

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 4.—[Special.]—Following a brutal attack on Constable F. Wilson, who led a force of officers in a raid on Lane's gambling house, in which the officer was badly beaten, the state's attorney tonight sent out a force of armed officers with instructions to shoot if they were interfered with. When the officers arrived at the gamblers' place all was dark.

Arrange for St. Andrew's Dinner.

The St. Andrew society of Chicago met at the Great Northern hotel last evening and made preliminary arrangements for the annual banquet to be held at the Auditorium the last week in November. Thomas C. MacMillan, the president, said 500 persons probably would attend the dinner.

The Measure of a Man's Usefulness.

A man's usefulness is measured by what he gets done—not by what he expects to do.

You may expect to do much—but, if you are constantly using your time for trivial matters, how can you get done the work you expect to do?

THE GARMENTS OF A GENTLEMAN

IT is just as dishonest to adulterate truth as it is to use impure fabrics. Those clothes makers who advertise their product as "hand-made throughout" are indulging in a piece of high-sounding nonsense which must prove a boomerang when the truth is known. Hand and machine combine to produce THE CLOTHES THAT ABT BUILDS and really good clothes are never made in any other way. The long heavy seams cannot be accurately and securely sewn by hand. Ask your wife why she uses a sewing machine on certain portions of her gowns and lingerie. Of course the shaping, the draping, the cutting and the finishing—the finer points—are all done by hand and here is where character, smartness and individuality appear.

FRIEND OF LAVIN TESTIFIES IN BE

Patrolman Sheahan Says Inspector Did His Duty in Running Down Burglars.

DIAMONDS ALL RETURNE

Trial Board Hears Pathetic Appeal for Furlough to Regain Health.

Patrolman Thomas J. Sheahan, for fourteen years the confidential agent and "private man" of Inspector P. J. Lavin, made a remarkable deposition from his sick bed yesterday afternoon, clearing up, according to the defense, the last shred of doubt as to what became of the disputed Weber diamonds, and establishing Lavin's activity in inquiring into former Policeman P. F. Mahoney's complicity in the Hagemann robbery.

The full police trial board, consisting of Commissioners Prentiss, Powell, and Wenter, listened to the statement made by Sheahan at the residence of his brother-in-law, William Smith, 351 Ninety-first street, South Chicago. Inspector Lavin was present, but Attorneys Rosenthal and Comerford, who engaged in a fist fight the last time an attempt was made to take the deposition, were not there. Edward W. Sweig, the court reporter, was the only other official present.

Sheahan, haggard and unshaven and weak, was alert mentally. In a clear and positive manner he related his story, prompted by the questions of Commissioner Prentiss.

Sheahan Tells His Story.

"At the time of the Hagemann burglary I was stationed under Capt. Lavin at the Stewards station," said Sheahan. "The morning after the burglary I was detailed to investigate the case. From James Carrol, a milkman, I learned that a policeman had been seen near the scene at the time of the explosion.

"Carroll, when taken to the station, talked excitedly, and could not identify Mahoney.

"Park Policeman Hamlin, whom I saw next," continued Sheahan, "said Mahoney had steered him away from two men on a bench on the night of the robbery. Then I helped arrest Clark and Barry at 1245 Wabash avenue. Lavin directed that. I did not see Mahoney, and knew nothing of his guilt until I brought back Curran from Oklahoma.

"Lavin sent me on that job. He learned that Curran was in on the deal, and he first sent me to Kansas City, where Curran was supposed to be. I found that Curran had gone."

"Did you ever know J. B. Wyman, a saloonkeeper?" interrupted Mr. Powell.

"No. I never got any tips from him. Lavin told me where to go."

Goes and Gets Curran.

"Where did you go next?"

"Lavin sent me to Lawton, Oklahoma, where he had learned through some letters that Curran was working for Tim Hogan, a gambler. I started for Chicago on the night Curran was arrested. He would tell me nothing at all.

"When I got back to Chicago I took Curran to the Hyde Park station to Ex-Inspector Hunt's office. That night Mahoney was brought face to face with Curran, but Curran denied that Mahoney had anything to do with the robbery. This was all I had to do with the case beyond working in the grand jury."

Contradicts Sergeant White.

On the Weber case Sheahan's testimony contradicted flatly that of Desk Sergeant White, who testified on Wednesday regarding the inventory.

Lavin sent me to Louisville to get Wilkinson after Capt. Boyd had locked him up," Sheahan said. "He admitted the burglary to me and told me he and Jack Nolan had pulled it off, adding that he left Nolan in a Main saloon, and I telegraphed this to Louisville. But Nolan had gone.

"Regarding the jewelry, Wilkinson gave me a pawn ticket for one ring from a Louisville shop and another on a shop in Twenty-first street. Besides these he had one large diamond stud and one diamond ring. He said these had been in earrings, but he and Nolan had split and had them reset. This is the reason the Webers could not make positive identification. The marks were gone. They had to go on size.

"Wilkinson also told me of selling two stones to Dr. Schultz in Chicago and told of selling the check for $90 which she gave him. I brought Wilkinson and all the stuff back to Chicago. I had charge of all the jewelry from that time until I turned it over to Weber myself, taking an inventory signed by Louis Weber.

"Sergeant White was there when I received the goods. We all stood at his desk. White had the inventory and checked up with Weber while I hanged over the stones. They had an argument about some of the property. There is no doubt that it was White. I never had his hands on the diamonds."

Sheahan Weeps, Asks Furlough.

After the story was all told Sheahan sank back in a half faint from his weakness. The tears rolled down his cheeks as Lavin rushed out to help him. While the commissioners were there, Sheahan asked them to intercede with Chief Collins for him, as he could not be refused him a furlough. His physician, A. W. McLaughlin, told the board Sheahan must go away to a sanitarium. The commissioners promised to advise the chief to grant the furlough.

One witness was examined at the morning session.

This was Mrs. Nellie Rice, 7 North Leavitt avenue, a life long friend of "Jim" Barry, the dead burglar. She told of Barry's death at the South Englewood hospital after his fight with the police, and gave this as her last statement:

"Barry told me he was dying, and asked me to get a priest. I brought one to him and the priest heard Barry's confession, and asked me to help anoint Barry for the final sacrament. I left the room for a few minutes, and when I returned Barry was praying.

"He turned to me again, at length, and I asked him if he had anything to say. He replied that he had done a number of wrong things in his life, and had wronged one man, and told me who it was, and he replied, 'That accursed devil of a policeman in the penitentiary. I wish I could live long enough to see him.'"

"I then heard him say something about a man of the name of Lavin being the one who put Mahoney in the penitentiary."

The arguments in the case are expected to end today.

RETURN FROM NORSE CROWNING

Delegates of National League Arrive After Long Absence—Stensland Caused Furore.

Dr. Andrea Doe and Attorney Olaf E. Ray, both of the committee delegated by the Norwegian National league of Chicago to attend Chicago Norwegians at the coronation of King Haakon VII., returned to Chicago yesterday after an absence of four months. Doe is Norway. Ulric Daniels, former cashier of the Milwaukee Avenue State bank, who died in Stavanger, Norway, three weeks ago, also was a member of the committee. On account of illness he was compelled to abandon the trip to Trondhjem.

Doe declared the Stensland bank failure caused a sensation all over Norway. The Norwegian newspapers, he said, gave columns to THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE for the exploits of Stensland.

"Thousands of the Norwegian peasantry are emigrating to America in the hope of bettering their condition," said Dr. Doe.

Sheahan Weeps, Asks Furlough.

After the story was all told Sheahan sank back in a half faint from his weakness. Tears rolled down his cheeks as Lavin stepped out to help him. While the commissioners were there, Sheahan asked them to confer with Chief Collins for him, as Lavin had refused him a furlough. His physician, A. W. McLaughlin, told the board that he must go away to a sanitarium. The commissioners promised to advise the chief to grant the furlough.

Sheahan was examined at the morning session by Mrs. Nellie Rice, 7 North Hoyne avenue, a life long friend of "Jim" Barry, the dead burglar. She told of Barry's death at the South Englewood hospital after his fight with the police, and gave this as a dying statement:

END OF ORPHANS' MYSTERY.

IRENE AND ELMER WRIGHT IDENTIFIED THROUGH "TRIBUNE."

Published Picture Is Recognized as That of Two Children of a Railroad Engineer—Their Grandmother, Mrs. Poole, It Is Reported, Has a Home for the Little Girl with Friends in Milwaukee—Mother in a Consumptive's Grave.

The days of Irene and Elmer Wright as "unknowns" at the Knox County Orphans' home at Vincennes, Ind., are numbered. The mystery as to the whereabouts of their relatives, concerning which the officials of the home have been making inquiries, was cleared up in record time by THE TRIBUNE yesterday.

Incidentally, a strange story of the experiences of the children, who are now 6 and 4 years old respectively, came to light. For two years the brother and sister have been taken from asylum to home and back to asylum again by friends to whom the father of the children apparently abandoned them.

A few weeks ago they were left in a mysterious manner at the Knox county home by a woman who said she was their stepmother. Within a few days they probably will be with their grandmother, Mrs. Thomas Poole of North Lake, Wis., who has been looking for them ever since their disappearance in 1904.

After making several ineffectual attempts to discover relatives of the two children, the authorities at the home wrote to THE TRIBUNE and a photograph of Irene and Elmer was published. O. H. Liska of Edison Park, an employé of the Diamond Match company, saw the pictures and recognized the two as the children of a former acquaintance, Frank Wright, a fireman in the employ of the Belt railway company of Chicago. Early in 1904 Mr. and Mrs. Wright, with their two children, were living in the vicinity of Eighty-first street and Normal avenue. It was there that Liska knew them.

"Mrs. Wright was a consumptive," said Liska. "Late in the summer of 1904 Wright took her to the Mary Thompson hospital and applied for admission for her. He was told that her treatment would cost $7 a week, and, after trying to get me and my wife to pay a part, said it was too much."

Mother Dies at Dunning.

"Then he took her to the county hospital. For some reason she wasn't admitted there. Afterwards she went to Dunning, where she died, in August. Wright took Irene and Elmer to the Chicago Home for the Friendless, and they were kept there for two months while some court investigated their condition.

"After that I lost track of them and of Wright. At the Home for the Friendless they said the children had been taken away, but they had no record of who had taken them or where they had gone. Mrs. Poole, their grandmother, has written me about them several times, but I heard nothing of them until I saw their pictures in THE TRIBUNE this morning.

"I understand Mrs. Poole has a home ready for Irene with friends in Milwaukee. I imagine that when her grandmother finds her Irene will have a strange story to tell."

The grandmother will be communicated with at once. Wright, whom Liska believes to be still in Chicago, could not be found.

MAYOR THINKS FOR COLLINS; SALOON DOORS TO BE SHUT.

Chief of Police Changes His Mind About Openings Between Bars and Resorts After Dunne Sees Him.

A conference with Mayor Dunne yesterday induced Chief of Police Collins to change his mind in regard to closing the doors between the saloons in the levee district and adjoining disreputable resorts. He said on Wednesday he saw no reason for closing them. His later decision was announced after Mayor Dunne went to the chief's office to confer with him.

The chief issued orders to have diagrams made of the saloons and the adjoining rooms showing the connecting doors and openings, and asserted that he will order the passage ways boarded up.

"I will close all the doors leading from the saloons to the adjoining rooms," the chief said. "The saloons cannot be used for the purpose of attracting people to these places. They will have to be separated, and where I find liquor is served after 1 o'clock from any saloon the license will be revoked."

Capt. McCann reported that there are fourteen saloons in the "red light" district which have these doorways.

PROFESSED RED SCARES CROWD

Michael Higenbotham Threatens to Blow Up Chicago—Arrested Later as a Wife Beater.

Michael Higenbotham, 40 years old, 200 North May street, alarmed a crowd of persons at Ohio street and Center avenue late last night when he declared himself an anarchist and threatened to blow up Chicago.

He was arrested by Policeman Peter Meiser of the West Chicago avenue station, charged with beating his wife and causing a disturbance in the street.

Higinbotham, the police charge, beat his wife early in the evening and then taking his 6 months old daughter's red hat carried it through the streets as an emblem of the cause he upheld. He is believed to be partly demented.

YOUNG SNIDER WAS MURDERED.

Coroner's Jury Decides Son of Kansas City Millionaire Was Done to Death by Unknown Persons.

Hillsboro, Ore., Oct. 4.—The coroner's jury today found that Carey M. Snider, son of the Kansas City millionaire, whose skeleton was found on Monday, came to a violent death at the hands of unknown persons. Drs. Bailey and Wood of Hillsboro testified that death resulted from a fractured skull caused by blows from a heavy blunt instrument. Testimony pointing to George Perry, an ex-convict, as the murderer was introduced.

BARTZEN IS AGAIN ACTIVE CRUSADER

Variation of Usual Work Found When He Kicks Briber Out of His Office.

GETS 8 'HONEST' FARMERS.

City Sealer Grein Secures Arrest of Men Who Sold Short Weight Onions.

With "Fish" Murray and Sanitary Inspector Hedrick muzzled by Mayor Dunne at the instance of interests which have suffered severely from too much unfavorable publicity, Building Commissioner Bartzen and City Sealer Grein had the crusade field all to themselves yesterday.

As usual, the building commissioner had the more varied adventures and ran the gamut of his duties and prerogatives before leaving his office for the day.

Late in the afternoon he won a victory in the council committee on buildings, to which Marshall Field & Co. had presented an amendment making one stairway in each section of their new building sufficient exit. Commissioner Bartzen insisted that there should be two stairways in addition to the openings through fire walls into other parts of the store. The committee sustained Bartzen.

Then the commissioner gave his personal attention to a man who tried to bribe Inspector Richard Vaughan to prohibit a neighbor from maintaining an arbor in his dooryard during the Jewish festival. Bartzen saw the man annoying his inspector, and just as the citizen had extracted a $5 bill from his pocket the commissioner seized him and kicked him from the office.

Bartzen Defeats Plans of Mayor.

A little later Mayor Dunne ran foul of his building commissioner and came out second best. Mr. Bartzen had been threatening for some days to tear down a "spite wall" on the premises owned by Michael di Cosola at 115 West Taylor street, and yesterday Attorney N. A. Partridge, representing Di Cosola, called on the mayor and asked that all action be staid until the case could be settled in the courts. The mayor agreed and sent for Commissioner Bartzen, who came in smiling.

"Commissioner," said the mayor, "I have agreed with Mr. Partridge that nothing be done in the matter of that wall in West Taylor street for a few days."

"That's all right," answered his building commissioner cheerfully, "but the wall is down. We took it down last night."

In Justice Gibbons court in the morning the commissioner secured fines for violation of the building law against these persons:

John Dross, 782 West Huron avenue, $50 and costs.

Mrs. Jennie Phillips, 94 Custom House court, $50 and costs.

Michael J. Mitchell, 419 Forty-third street, $50 and costs.

L. W. Pierce, 198-200 Jackson boulevard, $50 and costs.

David Wright, 6240 Ashland avenue, $25 and costs.

Grein Arrests Eight Farmers.

With a squad of police City Sealer Grein raided Haymarket square early in the morning and arrested eight farmers for selling short weight onions. The prisoners, who were taken to the Desplaines street police station, were fined $25 and costs each by Justice Chott.

"Fish" Murray seized eighteen barrels of suspicious candy at the Chicago Candy company plant, 223 Fulton street. At this place he also found two barrels of peanuts which he declared had been treated with a coating of shellac. He also seized a quantity of "licorice balls," which the inspector declared were colored with lampblack.

HUNDREDS OF COLLEGE BOYS THROWN INTO LAKE MENDOTA.

Class Rush at Wisconsin University Is Marked by Great Bitterness, and Many Battered Heads Result.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 4.—[Special.]—Five hundred freshmen and sophomores were thrown into Lake Mendota this afternoon in the class rush, the fiercest that has ever been seen at Wisconsin.

To get even for the defeat this afternoon the sophomores attacked 100 freshmen on State and Mifflin streets tonight and broke up a nightshirt parade, the celebration of the freshmen. A fierce free for all fight ensued, in which many of the participants were badly battered.

The sophomores pulled the nightshirts from the freshmen, tore them into shreds, and passed the strips around as souvenirs. Afterward they marched to the lower campus, gathering up boxes, hitching posts, and wooden sidewalks as they went, and built a huge bonfire.

Here an unsuccessful attempt was made by the freshmen to stop the sophs' celebration, but any freshman who was seen on the campus was promptly rushed to the lake.

The freshmen swear revenge, and the hazing season, which usually stops with the class rush, will be prolonged indefinitely. The feeling between the classes is the bitterest that has ever been known at Wisconsin.

Peoria Players Draw $50 Fines.

Rock Island, Ill., Oct. 4.—[Special.]—Notice was received here today that the national baseball commission has fined each member of the Peoria Three Eyes league team who participated in the last game of the recent series with the Logan Squares of Chicago in defiance of orders from Secretary Farrell. The fine is $50 and the players will stand suspended until it is paid.

WOMEN LOAN AGENTS HELD

JUDGE LANDIS ACCUSES ONE OF GIVING FALSE TESTIMONY.

Elizabeth G. Stone and Helen C. Toomey, Who Are Charged by Telegraph Operator with Making Him Bankrupt, Scorn Writs from Federal Court and Give Peculiar Testimony During Hearing—Bench Warrants Ordered—Released Later.

The disregard for a summons, even from the United States District court, shown by two loan agencies in the case of one of their "customers" who had been forced into bankruptcy, wound up yesterday in the issuance of bench warrants by Judge Landis for two women employés of the company and later in the arrest of both for perjury.

Miss Elizabeth G. Stone of E. G. Mason & Co. and Miss Helen C. Toomey of the National Guaranty company, both having the same office at 225 Dearborn street, are the women who were ordered detained by the court. One of them will have to answer to the grand jury for perjury.

Claims Juggled by Agents.

The case came into court when Michael C. O'Brien, a telegraph operator, made known to the jurist that after he had secured a restraining order on the National Guaranty company, prohibiting it from filing an assignment against his wages, the company had turned over its claim to the other concern, E. G. Mason & Co., and the latter had filed the assignment.

O'Brien made a sworn statement that when he had served the court's order on the representative of the guaranty company she had crushed the paper in her hands and thrown it on the floor of the office.

Judge Makes Perjury Charge.

Judge Landis issued subpœnaes for the representatives of both concerns to come into court, and on their refusal to respect the subpœnaes he issued bench warrants. Both appeared in court, apparently in a defiant attitude. As each was questioned by the court the other was excluded from the room.

Miss Stone testified that she had obtained O'Brien's notes from Miss Toomey on Oct. 1, and that she had received no money for them. Miss Toomey testified that she gave Miss Stone the notes over a month ago and received money for them.

On this testimony the court ordered both women into the custody of the marshal, but later they were released.

"One of these women has committed perjury," he declared. "One will have to be held to the grand jury. This is so outrageous an offense that I cannot take a chance of them not appearing."

CORPORATION COUNSEL LEWIS TAKES SMULSKI'S FORMER JOB.

Chances for I. M. O. Lawyers Now Considered Good in City Hall—Dr. Doty Threatens Lawsuits.

The office of city attorney was ended informally but effectually yesterday. Col. James Hamilton Lewis, corporation counsel, with the consent of Mayor Dunne, simply took over the duties of the position, and that was all there was to it. Incidentally the colonel named Frank D. Ayers, formerly chief assistant to John F. Smulski, to take charge of the work, but wanted it understood that he himself was at the head of the job.

As soon as the mayor received Mr. Smulski's resignation he sent it to Col. Lewis for a legal opinion as to the status of the office. The opinion already had been drawn. It was in effect that the last legislature had abolished the office of city attorney and merged its work with that of the corporation counsel's office.

The office of city attorney is outside the civil service law, and there is a strong suspicion in the city hall that before the democratic mayoralty primaries a large number of democratic lawyers of I. M. O. proclivities will be working for the corporation counsel as assistant city attorneys.

Dr. Maurice F. Doty, superintendent of local transportation, has a new plan for improving the Union Traction service. Application to the courts for the removal of the present receivers, on the ground they are not doing their duty to the public, will be considered by him.

PLAN NEW BOYS' REFORMATORY.

City Officials and School Trustees Favor Gage Farm as Site for the Institution.

City officials and members of the school board are planning an ideal reformatory for the wayward boys of Chicago, situated where there will be plenty of sunlight, fresh country air, and rich ground for farming. The suggestion has been made to Mayor Dunne that the John Worthy school, now adjoining the bridewell, should be placed on the Gage farm, the city's property in Riverside, and the mayor believes the plan is a good one. The farm comprises 200 acres, and if the reformatory could be erected on the site the boy prisoners could be kept in healthy employment in farming and gardening.

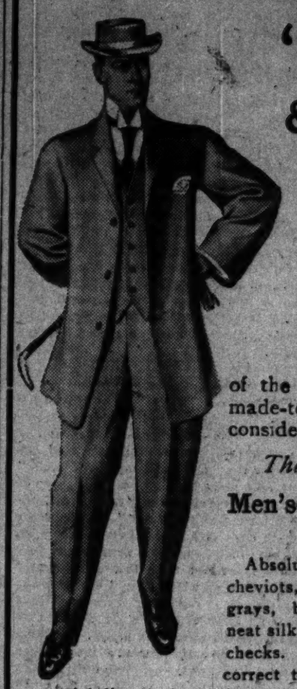

PRISON TERM FOR EMBEZZLER.

Former Collector for Chicago Telephone Company Pleads Guilty and Is Sentenced to Penitentiary.

Frank Geib, formerly employed as collector for the Chicago Telephone company at South Chicago, indicted for embezzling $1,000 of his collections, pleaded guilty yesterday before Judge Gary in the Criminal court and was committed to Joliet State prison on an indeterminate sentence. Geib was under the bond of the American Surety company, which looked after his prosecution.

PENNSYLVANIA'S CAPITOL.

The dedication of the magnificent new capitol of the state of Pennsylvania is attended with most surprising charges of graft. It is the ordinary thing for corruption to fasten itself upon such public structures, but even the extravagant outlays connected with the Albany pile seem small when compared with some of the accounts at Harrisburg. The building itself is a beautiful thing, occupying a commanding position, and of architectural proportions that should satisfy the artistic demands of the most enthusiastic Pennsylvanian. But the evidence of graft is so startling as to reduce greatly the natural pride of the citizen.

It has been declared that plastering provided for under the original plans and paid for was taken off and marble substituted. Heavy cement floors, perfectly satisfactory for all practical purposes, were covered with expensive parquetry, and over that was laid carpetings made from an exclusive design by a favored firm. A building which had been turned over to the board of public buildings and grounds as a completed structure was counted by that board as incomplete, $9,000,000 being used for "trimmings." A special corporation known as the "Pennsylvania Bronze company" was organized to make bronze chandeliers and electroliers for the building. It furnished these articles at an expense to the state of $2,000,000, and then the company disbanded. There is a hope that the total expense may not exceed $15,000,000. When the capitol commission turned the supposedly completed building over to the present board it had cost $4,000,000.

Such scandals as this reflect little credit upon the American people. The expenditures were authorized under loose legislative acts which made loopholes for all sorts of graft. That a state can secure a splendid public building without the enrichment of a gang of thieves is clearly proved by the experience of Minnesota in erecting its capitol at St. Paul. It, too, has a commanding site. Its architectural proportions are magnificent. The whole world contributed to its interior decorations. The visitor wonders that such a noble edifice could have been secured in a state well toward the west and northwest, and so far distant from the supposed seat of culture in artistic matters. There is greater wonder when the proud citizens tell of the commission of business men who undertook the task, gave to the public interest the same attention they would to their own, and then, with no unnecessary delays, turned the structure over without suspicion of graft to a grateful commonwealth. The furnishings are magnificent enough to satisfy an eastern potentate. But there are no $2,000,000 chandeliers. Pennsylvania is not Minnesota. The former has strayed far from the simple paths in which Penn and his gray frocked commoners walked.

WHEN "HOUNDING" IS JUSTIFIED.

In further recognition of the death of "Al" Adams, gambler and ex-policy king, the New York metropolitan newspapers honored his memory with conspicuous editorial attention. This is attributable, however, not to the man's benefactions to society or to a special desire to preach a moral lesson on evil living which drives a man to suicide, but to the fact that his friends have set up the plea that he was "hounded to his death" by the papers and the magazines. The press accepts this tribute with equanimity and fortitude, has no apologies to offer, and, apparently, is not in the least ashamed of its course in the matter of disposing of the schemes of the "bounded" gambler.

There is nothing to indicate that this man Adams ever had an honest impulse after he was once started in the way of defrauding the public. If at any time up to the hour of taking his life he expressed the slightest regret for his career or a desire to live honestly according to accepted interpretation of the word, it has not been made known. Unsuccessful gambling deals brought him to financial ruin, and when, at the age of 65, he confronted poverty as the reward of his crookedness and recklessness, he acknowledged failure by ending his existence with a bullet. Incidentally, the absence of tears and flowers at his funeral cannot be attributed more to the press that "hounded" him than to public opinion that loathed him.

It is the privilege and duty of the newspaper, as a public servant, to pay special and unremitting attention to such harpies as Adams. The newspaper is lacking in its mission if, in a moment of easiness and good natured toleration, it ceases to "hound" the instrument of mischief. The dishonest official complains that he is "hounded" if he is not permitted to graft unmolested, the gambler if his plans for fleecing his fellow citizens are interfered with, the unrepentant rogue if he is continually held up to public view as a man to be feared and avoided. But the newspaper that understands its duty and believes in accomplishing it is not deterred by misplaced sympathy or a spasm of good nature, even if the object of its deserved assaults confesses defeat only by self-destruction.

For this reason every worthy element that assisted in the overthrow of the gambler Adams is not agitated over the manner of his death or the causes assigned therefor by his companions. The method of death is only an incident; the discouragement of vice and the overthrow of the vicious are the chief concern of the watchful press. So far as the reputable newspaper is concerned, and newspapers generally are reputable in this respect, the "hounding" of the criminal ceases with the end of criminal operations.

PROPOSED POSTAL REFORMS.

If it be true, as charged by the postoffice department, that newspapers are carried through the mails at a loss, THE TRIBUNE and every other honest newspaper will advocate an increase of the rate of postage. THE TRIBUNE asks no beneficial interest from the government which is not accorded to the general public. It does not adopt the pitiful and unworthy plea that the newspaper exerts an educational influence or is a missionary enterprise and for that reason is entitled to assistance from the government. Neither newspapers nor any other business enterprises should solicit eleemosynary recognition from the government upon the claim of exerting a "good influence" upon the community.

Before the congressional commission reaches a decision in regard to the proposed postal reforms there should be careful consideration of the questions involved upon their merits. The postoffice department claims that the 330,000 tons of second class mail matter distributed annually constitutes 67 per cent of all mail matter carried and yields $6,000,000 a year, and that there is a loss of at least $50,000,000 a year upon this class of matter. A large part, if not all, of this loss should be attributed to the carrying of periodicals other than newspapers and of fictitious newspapers which are issued for advertising or other purposes apart from the publication of news.

Daily newspapers are not circulated much beyond a radius of 300 miles from the office of publication, whereas periodicals, such as magazines, are carried from Maine to California, to Alaska, to Porto Rico, to the Philippines, and to "the islands of the seas!" The monthly magazines are often carried many thousand miles, involving serious loss to the government, and the same is true, to a large extent, of these advertising sheets which are not newspapers at all. Most of the newspapers circulated through the mails are regularly routed and classified and sacked in the publication office. They are taken to and from the trains. Most newspaper mail is assorted and tied up in bags, ready for delivery, and does not go through the postoffice. It is not handled more than once. It is thrown from the mail car to the station platform, received by the newsdealer, and the duty of the government is at an end. That regular newspaper postage is remunerative to the government is shown by the fact that the express companies handle the same class of matter at the same or even lower rates for short distances. They are ready to carry newspapers at from a quarter of a cent to 1 cent a pound, and can give easier, better, and more economical service. So the loss of the department cannot be attributed to the handling of daily newspapers.

A large part of the deficit said to arise from carrying second class matter is to be attributed to the sending in high priced cars of postal supplies which might as well be sent by slow freight and delivered at a saving to the government. If the government undertakes to send on postal cars envelopes, blanks, and stationery used by the postoffices, then it ought to "pay the piper" and make no fuss about it.

Undoubtedly, also, there is a great abuse of the franking privilege by members of congress and departments in the transmission not merely of documents but of bulky freight not legitimately belonging in the mails. Undoubtedly the railroad companies have been overpaid by the government, but undoubtedly, also, they receive and carry enormous quantities of mail matter which should be consigned to slow freight.

Newspapers do not deny that there is need of postal reforms. They would like to see the postal deficit wiped out, and it would go far towards wiping them out if the objectionable matter alluded to were charged higher rates. Newspapers would like to see expenses diminished and receipts more nearly equal expenditures, but no self-respecting newspapers will expect or demand favors from the government or look for any service to be rendered to daily newspapers at less than cost.

NATION'S CONTROL OF GREAT WEALTH.

President Roosevelt's choice of Pennsylvania names to honor in his Harrisburg address is significant of the current of his thought. Two names only were mentioned, that of Senator Knox, who, when attorney general, set in motion the machinery created by congress for the control of interstate commerce and corporations engaged in it, and Justice James Wilson, who, earlier than Marshall, expounded the constitution as a document creating a nation.

Wilson, who had been a signer of the declaration of independence and a member of the constitutional convention, perceived that from the lack of omniscience it was impossible to foresee every contingency which might call for the exercise of sovereign power. Yet to his mind it was impossible to conceive of any gap of authority between the nation and the state. There can be no act of a citizen in his relations to other citizens which is outside the cognizance of the law. It is provided, indeed, that all powers were not expressly granted by the state to the federal government. If, therefore, a condition arises which was not foreseen and which has not been placed expressly under the control of the federal government, but which, from its nature, cannot be dealt with by any single state, a literalist might say that there is no existing power which may legally interfere. But Wilson maintained that the existence of the United States as a sovereign nation necessitated the recognition of the power to do for the states whatever the states could not do for themselves and which any other sovereign nation has the right to do for its citizens. There can be no injury to the welfare of a nation which there is not power somewhere to remedy.

In the opinion of President Roosevelt, Wilson's contention is correct, and the control of great corporations which cannot be reached effectually by individual states is, from its nature, a matter for the national authority. But if express authorization is sought it is to be found in "a wise and farseeing interpretation of the interstate commerce clause of the constitution." Under this "the national government should have complete power to deal with all of this wealth which in any way goes into the commerce between the states—and practically all of it that is employed in the great corporations does thus go in."

The accumulation of wealth in the hands of one man or its transmission by inheritance is one phase of the question, since most "swollen fortunes," as the president calls them, are accumulated through the medium of corporations. The president is careful to point out the necessity of avoiding any demagogic legislation about the use of wealth. It is not the misuse of corporate wealth but the method of acquiring it which is a fit subject for legislation. A man with one dollar may use it foolishly, and a man with a million may use it wisely; the question for the legislator is: Was the one dollar or the million of dollars properly gained?

James Wilson has been forgotten for many years, but the principle which he defended, that a nation as such and without regard to written constitutions has certain inherent powers, has become more and more widely accepted until, if not recognized as axiomatic, it is adopted as a good working theory.

CHICAGO CAN'T LOSE.

The baseball "fans" of Chicago are happy. They have lived to see the unprecedented. Two pennants have been won by the clubs representing this city, and the fight for the "championship of the world" is to take place here between one group of men lovingly called the "Cubs" and another known as the "Sox." These teams contain close to fifty members, few of them residents of Chicago, and with nothing particular to attract them to the city except the profession which they have adopted. Yet it is safe to say that every man of them takes an intense pride in the word "Chicago" printed upon his uniform. It also is true that in no other interest of the city does so large a part of the population share as in following the fortunes of the two ball clubs from day to day.

The championship of the "Cubs" is now an old story. They have gone on in their victorious career until they have won the largest number of games in the history of organized baseball. The "Sox" have had a hard struggle. The records show them to be the weakest batting club of their association. Their fielding has been superb. They have won not by batting but by brains. Watching every chance they have won many a game by taking advantage of the little things which abound in baseball. They have played on the square. Their conduct on the diamond and off has been exemplary, and, like their rivals for the popular affection, they have brought honor upon Chicago by their sportsmanship. There are many thousands, therefore, who are rejoicing in the great victory they have secured in competition with other and perhaps better organizations, as baseball teams are estimated.

The championship outcome tells its own story of the honesty of the game. Baseball is one of the few sports which have not been contaminated by evil influences. It attracts the enthusiastic support of thousands. It affords pleasure in the open air with sufficient excitement to make the spectator constantly alert. And there is the belief everywhere that each player is honest. Philadelphia might have permitted New York to win, so as to keep the championship in the east. The western teams might have thrown games to Chicago for the same reason. But there is not a shadow of suspicion of such a situation anywhere. It was a clean, hard, earnest fight for honor, and the best team, everything considered, won.

Now comes the contest for the highest championship. Citizens will be divided in interest, but there is great satisfaction in the thought that whichever team wins Chicago can't lose. One can say with Iago:

> Nay, whether he kill Cassio
> Or Cassio him, or each do kill the other
> Every way makes my game.

It will be a royal battle. With good weather there will be enormous crowds out to greet the players. The friends of one team have been "rooting" for the other, and there is every evidence that there will be a good natured struggle for the added honor which may come to either team. Both are a credit to Chicago.

DRY NURSE FOR CUBA.

While no one will criticise the attitude of President Roosevelt and Secretary Taft towards Cuba, and every one must admit that the conditions are perplexing, yet it must be said that they have led the administration into a trying and difficult situation. The United States has set itself up voluntarily as a dry nurse for Cuba. It undertook to preserve order, and to do this has with its army and navy policed territory which, constructively, is regarded as alien. Never before has an armed force of the United States engaged in such an occupation. It has, in Cuba, put down rebellion, subdued rioters, and then invited them to hold elections and take over the administration of the government.

There is no reason for assuming that after elections and the resumption of government the Cuban rioters will keep the peace for any considerable length of time. The situation is unprecedented, and unheard of in the experiences of this or any other civilized government. When congress assembles it must act definitely, for, if we continue the occupation, eventually we may do what England did in Egypt.

We may administer affairs in Cuba, denying vigorously any intention of permanent occupation. But the time may never arrive when we shall absolutely withdraw our forces. The stars in their courses fought against Sisera. The stars and stripes are fighting against the independence of Cuba.

LETTER OF MARQUISE DE FONTENOY

Copyright: 1906: By the Marquise de Fontenoy.

SOME of the grandest houses of the British nobility pride themselves on their descent from the unlawful union of one of their ancestresses with her sovereign, and far from being ashamed of the dishonor of the lady, record the memory of her departure from the path of virtue by using the royal arms, debruised by the bar sinister. Among them are those of the dukes of Grafton, of Richmond, of St. Albans, and of Buccleuch, as well as of the earl of Munster and of Lord Southampton. Greatly to their dismay, students delving in the memoirs and analogous literature of the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries have brought to light facts which throw considerable doubt as to the presence of any royal blood whatsoever in the veins of these claimants to an illegitimate descent from the throne.

Thus, the works which have recently been produced by Allan Fea and W. R. H. Trowbridge in London furnish, by means of documentary evidence, convincing proof that the duke of Buccleuch, who figures in the peerages as descended from King Charles II. and Lucy Walter, is in reality descended from this "brave, beautiful, bold, but insipid creature," as Evelyn describes her, and from the handsome Col. Robert Sidney, with whom she was notoriously infatuated. Certain it is that her son, the ill-fated duke of Monmouth, ancestor of the duke of Buccleuch, bore far more resemblance to Col. Sidney than to Charles II., so much so that the merry monarch hesitated some time before he would consent to acknowledge Lucy's boy as his offspring. The king is generally believed, however, to have wedded Lucy Walter, and it is asserted on excellent authority that the late duke of Buccleuch found in his family archives documentary evidence of the marriage of Lucy Walter with King Charles. He showed it to the prince consort, and in his presence consigned it to the flames, preferring the shame of his ancestress rather than to place in the hands of the foes of the dynasty any such arm as would be constituted by the possession of this marriage certificate.

In the same way we are shown that the duke of Grafton's alleged descent from King Charles II. and from Barbara Villiers, so well known as "my Lady Castlemaine," is untrue, and that the father of Lady Castlemaine's son, Henry Fitzroy, ancestor of the dukes of Grafton, was Sir Charles Berkeley, one of the boon companions of the merry monarch. Similar stories are related of the duke of St. Albans' ancestress, Nell Gwynne, and of Louise de Kerouailles, duchess of Portsmouth, and ancestress of the dukes of Richmond. It is bad enough to have one's nobiliary title based upon a dishonor constituted by an intrigue between one's ancestress and her liege lord, the king, but to have it shown that one's dignities, honors, and arms are the result of a fraud perpetrated on the monarch, and that one's family takes root in the betrayal not only of a husband but also of the sovereign, must be humiliating indeed.

King Frederick of Denmark, as I pointed out at the time of his accession in these letters, has inherited in a remarkable degree the political cleverness of his mother, the late Queen Louise, and is destined, like her, to play a rôle in the international concert altogether out of proportion to the size and population of his kingdom. It has now come to be regarded as part and parcel of royal etiquette that a sovereign on succeeding to the throne should pay a round of state visits to his brother monarchs for the purpose of making or renewing acquaintance with these rulers, who subsequently return the call in his capital. King Frederick has inaugurated his series of visits by going to Stockholm to pay his respects to old King Oscar, who is his consort's uncle and the father-in-law of one of his daughters.

Ever since the election of King Haakon to the crown of Norway, which formerly belonged to Oscar, there has been a considerable amount of bitterness between the courts of Stockholm and Copenhagen, the Swedish people and their reigning house having bitterly resented the action of Prince Charles of Denmark in consenting to become ruler of Norway. The king of Sweden, it may be remembered, was the only sovereign who neglected to have himself represented, diplomatically or otherwise, at the coronation of King Haakon last summer, and there has been much unpleasantness between the various royal families of Europe in this connection.

King Frederick's action, therefore, in paying old King Oscar the compliment of beginning his series of visits at Stockholm as if he valued the friendship and affection of the Swedish ruler more than that of any other of his brother sovereigns, has gone far to allay Swedish resentment. True, King Frederick was received coldly by the Swedish population when he arrived at Stockholm, but Oscar and his sons most cordially appreciated the compliment paid to them, and when Frederick left he was made the object of a friendly popular demonstration.

It is curious that although these rounds of visits made by monarchs on their accession invariably include a call at Paris on the president of the French republic, they have not until now provided for a visit to the president at Washington. This is the more surprising when one recalls how much importance the European powers attach to the friendship of the United States, which now stands in the front rank of great nations. Of course there is the excuse that it would be impossible for monarchs to pay any visit to Washington to the president as long as there was any difficulty about his returning the visit abroad. Sooner or later the moment will come when the restrictions, written and unwritten, that prevent the chief magistrate from leaving the United States, will be modified, so as to enable him to get into personal contact with foreign rulers, and then we shall see the latter flocking over here in quite as large numbers as in the case of Paris.

President Fallieres' action in dismissing the famous chef in the Elysée, M. Tesch, and in installing in his place a feminine "cordon bleu," has excited far more attention and discussion at home and abroad than the struggle between church and state, and the fight against the papacy. While it has been a bold move on the part of the chief magistrate it has been an extremely popular one. For the "cordon bleu" appeals much more to the masses of the French population than a chef.

It is to the infamous Mme. Du Barry that we are indebted to this title of "cordon bleu," applied all the world over to first class cooks of the female persuasion. On one occasion she had a violent discussion with King Louis XV. as to the relative merits of chefs and women cooks, Mme. Du Barry championing the cause of the latter against the king, who insisted that no woman could cook. After a banquet, composed of thick pheasant jelly, the crust a French roll filled with livers of eel pouts, a delicious hash of snipe, a supreme of chicken, crayfish cooked in Sauterne, a roast pullet, etc., the king surrendered, confessed that he had dined as became the father of his people, and acknowledged the superiority of the woman cook to the male chef. He asked to see the dame, and when she was brought into his presence he placed around her neck his blue ribbon of the Order of the Saint Esprit, and known as the Cordon Bleu, which, from that time forth, has been the recognized designation of a skillful and successful woman cook.

M. Fallieres is the first of the various presidents of the French republic to attach importance to cookery. His predecessors in office were indifferent as to what they ate, and allowed free sway to their chefs. Papa Fallieres is, however, individual in his tastes, and, being resolved to eat a cuisine that he likes rather than to subject his elderly digestion to the experiments of his chefs, has installed a cordon bleu ready to defer to his wishes, in place of a chef whose whole time was devoted to inventing new dishes, indifferent whether or not they were pleasing to his master.

Those who have dined at the Elysée since the change are eloquent in praise thereof, and there is no doubt that by tickling the palates of his native and foreign guests M. Fallieres will do more to render his presidency popular, both at home and abroad, than by any of his political acts.

The Ruling Passion.

"We'll have to operate on your tumor," declared the doctor solemnly.

The professional humorist was not disconcerted.

With a feeble but cheery smile he murmured:

CENTRAL BANK IS URGED TO SOLVE CURRENCY PROBLEM.

Committee Appointed by New York Chamber of Commerce Offers Two Correctives for Periodical Money Stringency.

New York, Oct. 4.—The special currency committee appointed by the New York chamber of commerce made its report today to President Jesup. The committee consists of John Claflin, chairman; F. A. Vanderlip, Dumont Clarke, Isidor Straus, and Charles A. Conant. The report reviews the currency system of the country in detail, and makes the following recommendations, the most striking of which is the suggestion of a central bank:

"1. That legislation be enacted which shall provide the country with a flexible and elastic bank note currency; and to this end we suggest that either one of the two following plans might wisely be adopted:

"(a) Let there be created a central bank of issue similar to the Bank of Germany or the Bank of France; such bank to deal exclusivey with banks; its stock to be owned in part by banking institutions and in part by the government; but in its management representatives of the government shall be supreme. This central bank shall issue currency, rediscount for other banks, hold public money, and act as agent of the government in redeeming its paper money and making its disbursements.

"Or (b) Let any national bank whose bond secured circulation equals 50 per cent of its capital have authority to issue additional notes equal in amount to 25 per cent of its capital. Let such additional notes be subject to a graduated tax as follows: The first 5 per cent, taxed at the rate of 2 per cent per annum; the second 5 per cent, taxed at the rate of 3 per cent; the third 5 per cent, taxed at the rate of 4 per cent; then an issue equal to 10 per cent of capital, taxed 5 per cent; then an issue equal to 10 per cent of capital, taxed 6 per cent.

"Let the proceeds of this graduated tax constitute a guaranty fund, in the custody of the government, for the redemption of the notes of failed banks.

"To insure the prompt retirement of notes when not needed, let redemption agencies be established at subtreasuries and other convenient points.

"Let all the notes of a bank be alike in form, and let it be the duty of the United States treasury, as at present, to redeem all the notes of a failed bank in full on presentation from the 5 per cent redemption fund, and after the exhaustion of that fund from the guaranty fund.

"2. That the law restricting the retirement of national bank notes to $3,000,000 per month by the deposit of lawful money be repealed.

"3. That future issues of United States bonds be not made available as a basis for the issue of national bank notes.

"4. That the laws regulating the operations of the United States treasury be amended in such a manner that they shall not, as now, interfere with the money market; and to this end we suggest a law requiring that all money in the general fund of the treasury above a reasonable working balance be deposited in national banks."

The report leading up to these recommendations said:

"We find that our currency is seriously defective in that its volume does not vary with the demand, so that the business of the country is alternately exposed to the evils of a redundant and of a deficient supply.

"When the need for currency increases, as it does every autumn when the crops are harvested, our banks are obliged to pay out lawful money from their reserves, and in consequence to raise their rates of interest on demand and time loans. These operations are a source of real loss to the commercial and industrial interests of the entire country. They work injury to our merchants, to our manufacturers, and to our farmers—in short, to all classes of producers.

"When, on the other hand, the supply of currency is excessive, as it usually is in the spring, the consequent congestion of banking reserves forces an abnormally low rate of interest and so tends to excite a dangerous speculative spirit in our markets and exchanges.

"We believe that this oscillation between periods of contraction and inflation is directly caused by the artificial and unnecessary inflexibility of our currency, due to restrictions which are placed by law upon the issue of bank notes."

NEWS OF THE THEATERS.

Quaint Holland.

More people than could get into Orchestra hall wanted to go to Holland with that master guide Dwight Elmendorf last evening. The house was filled to its capacity and people were turned away unable to secure admission. It was the first in the series of five travel talks the New York lecturer is to give here on Thursday evenings, and the size of the audience bore eloquent testimony to the deep impression he made during his Chicago visit last spring. Coming here then a total stranger, he, by the exceptional beauty of his pictures and the unusual charm of his descriptions, speedily won approval and a surprisingly large following. Last night showed that the impression previously made had been an enduring one and that the Elmendorf travel talks are destined to become a regular feature of future seasons in Chicago.

And this public favor is in this instance well merited. The lectures are different from any that have been given here in the past. And this statement contains no disparagement of the attractive travelogues presented by Burton Holmes, or of the charming lectures offered in the "good old days" by John Stoddard. Just as there was a difference between the purpose and the individuality of Mr. Stoddard and those of Mr. Holmes, so there is a difference between the purpose and the individuality of Mr. Holmes and Mr. Elmendorf, and this difference shows itself in the lectures themselves. Each lecturer had and still has his place and his following, and there is room in this great city of ours and our vast country for all.

The peculiar charms of Mr. Elmendorf's lectures are the simplicity and directness which characterize them. Speaking as he does in what to all intents and purposes is extempore—without having written out his lectures or memorized any previously prepared descriptions—he lets the picture on the screen tell the chief part of the message the onlooker is to receive, and he is content to throw in only a suggestion or a bit of helpful comment. And this comment is made in so conversational and so easy a manner that the hearer forgets that he is listening to a lecture and becomes conscious only of the pleasure which traveling and sightseeing under ideal conditions are affording.

The splendid voice of the speaker makes every word at once a tonal satisfaction as well as a faultless medium for the thoughts expressed, and the unmistakable enthusiasm which Mr. Elmendorf himself feels for the work in hand is infectious. It reaches out and is communicated to every one within hearing.

The Elmendorf pictures, too, are unique. Taken, colored, and prepared solely by the lecturer himself, they are the product of a single mind and a single purpose, and their power to affect the viewer seems correspondingly intensified. And, watching them throughout an evening, the impression is received that not prettiness but truth has been the desire back of their taking. While all of them are beautiful and all show a subtle observation of the artistic, yet the wish to secure something characteristic and exact seems the ever dominant intent.

In taking his fellow travelers to Holland last evening, Mr. Elmendorf showed them nothing that was not peculiarly Dutch and nothing that was not illuminative of the Dutch character and the Dutch people. He began his talk by recalling the fact that he left his hearers last spring in Spain, and as since that time a wedding had taken place there he thought it nothing but right to show them this wedding and at the same time make this glimpse of Spanish court life a connecting link between two countries which history had so closely and interestingly associated—Spain and Holland. There followed a remarkable motion picture of the wedding procession of King Alfonso and Queen Victoria—a picture which, regarded from a purely technical photographic standpoint, was a big achievement, inasmuch as the picture was taken indoors.

Then began a delightful trip through Holland—not the Holland the regulation tourist knows, but the Holland which painters love and which exists today, not in the large towns and cities, but in the little villages and along the dykes and canals. Beginning at Flushing, the journey led to Souburg, Middleburg, Veere, Domburg, Souteland, and Delft, and included a glimpse of The Hague and Haarlem, a little of Amsterdam, a few bits of Maarken, and then reached Edam and Volendam. Little out of the way places, the names of which were unfamiliar to most sightseers, furnished the chief material for the lecture, and rich was the yield in enjoyment, interest, and pleasure. The speaker's unlimited fund of bright anecdote, his keen appreciation of the humorous as well as the artistic and the beautiful, his evident love for children and all that concerns them, and his clear, broad, sympathetic view of all that different peoples and different countries disclose, and the conclusions he had reached concerning them—all these lend zest, charm, poetry, and instructive value to his talks. Among the pictures were some half dozen reproductions of Dutch master paintings in the Amsterdam museum—reproductions which have place among the finest and most satisfying that have yet been imprisoned on the lantern slide through the combined skill of the photographer and painter.

Next Thursday evening Mr. Elmendorf will describe the Rhine from Cologne to Heidelberg. W. L. HUBBARD.

Miss Hobbs.

Jerome K. Jerome's "Miss Hobbs" is a jolly and thoroughly interesting comedy, and it is being given a most excellent presentation at the Chicago opera house during the present week. The years that have intervened since last the play was seen here, with Annie Russell in the title rôle, in nowise have robbed the piece of any of its original attractiveness, and it is today as bright and up to the hour as it ever was. Its characters are drawn clearly and cleverly and the lines and situations are strikingly humorous.

The production at the Chicago is on the same scale of exactness and completeness that has characterized every offering of the new company. There is at no time any suggestion of the monotonous commonplace of the usual stock production, but on the other hand the treatment is marked throughout by a lightness and deftness of touch which lifts the performance into the realm of the interesting and worthy.

Miss Grey appears as Miss Henrietta Hobbs, a type of new woman with a mind all her own, whose mission in life it is to preach the doctrine of single blessedness. The actress, though suffering from a severe cold, which almost precluded any attempt at vocal expression, presented a carefully conceived portrayal. Conspicuously praiseworthy was her handling of the scenes with Wolff Kingsearl in the second act, and also in the yachting scene in act three. Regan Hughston is appearing with the company for the first time this week and is intrusted with the part of Kingsearl Minor. He is a juvenile of attractive bearing and good ability and proves himself a valuable acquisition to Manager Hunt's forces. William Bramwell as Wolff Kingsearl gave a performance that was in the main satisfactory, but occasionally failed to convince, a lack which was particularly noticeable in his treatment of the closing scene. Miss Gordon was suitably cast as Mrs. Kingsearl. Miss Reimer as the lovable old peacemaker, Aunt Susan, was thoroughly delightful at all times, and recalled pleasantly the association of the late Mrs. Gilbert with the same rôle.

At the Minstrels.

"Mr. Tambo," remarks the middleman, "I have an important question to propound this evening. Can you tell me why a financially embarrassed man resembles a canine?"

"No, Mr. Centerpiece, Ah can't tell yo'," says Mr. Tambo. "Why am a f'nancially 'barrassed man laik a kanine?"

"Because," replies the middleman, "he never has any money in his pants. I guess that will hold you while our charming tenor, Mr. Caruso Highsee, sings the beautiful and pathetic ballad, 'Her Raven Locks Have Turned to Gold.'"

Mr. Highsee rises majestically, puts one hand behind him, hangs his thumb over a vest button, and begins, "The old farmhouse is waiting——"

"Look yere!" shouts Mr. Tambo. "Jes' suppose de f'nancially 'barrassed man wears pants wid checks in 'em?"—Judge.

Owning Up.

"Jinks, who is your favorite author?"

"O, I don't know. Shakspeare, maybe, or else Dante."

"My boy, look me in the eye!"

"Well?"

"Search your soul and for once tell the unhampered truth."

"All right."

"Who is your favorite author?"

"Old Cap Collier!"—Louisville Courier-Journal.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT—BY H. G. WELLS.

Interesting Pen Picture by H. G. Wells, the English Author Who Has Been Inspecting America.

[Copyright: 1906: By, Harper & Brothers.]

In the White house, set midway between the Washington of the sightseers and the Washington of brilliant conversation, I met President Roosevelt. I was mightily pleased by the White house; it is dignified and simple—once again am I tempted to use the phrase "aristocratic in the best sense" of things American; and an entire absence of uniforms or liveries creates an atmosphere of republican equality that is reinforced by "Mr. President's" friendly grasp of one's undistinguished hand. And after lunch I walked about the grounds and had a long conversation with him, and so achieved my ambition to get him "placed," as it were, in my vision of America.

* *

In the rare chances I have had of meeting statesmen there has always been one common effect, an effect of their being smaller, less audible, and less saliently featured than one had expected. A common man builds up his picture of the men prominent in the great game of life largely out of caricature, out of headlines, out of posed and "characteristic" portraits. One associates them with actresses and actors, literary poseurs, and such like public performers; anticipates the same vivid self-consciousness as these display in common intercourse, keys oneself up for the paint on their faces, and for voices and manners altogether too accentuated for the gray toned lives of common men. I've met politicians who have remained at that. But so soon as Mr. Roosevelt entered the room, "Teddy," the Teddy of the slouch hat, the glasses, the teeth, and the sword, that strenuous, vehement Teddy (who had, let me admit, survived a full course of reading in the president's earlier writings), vanished, and gave place to an entirely negotiable individuality. Today, at any rate, the "Teddy" legend is untrue. Perhaps it wasn't always quite untrue. There was a time during the world predominance of Mr. Kipling when I think the caricature must have come close to certain of Mr. Roosevelt's acceptances and attitudes. But that was ten years and more ago, and Mr. Roosevelt to this day goes on thinking, and changing, and growing. . . .

For me, anyhow, that strenuousness has vanished beyond recalling, and there has emerged a figure in gray of a quite reasonable size, with a face far more thoughtful and perplexed than strenuous, with a clenched hand that does indeed gesticulate, though it is by no means a gigantic fist—and with quick movements—a voice strained indeed, a little forced for oratory, but not raised or aggressive in any fashion, and friendly screwed up eyes behind the glasses.

It isn't my purpose at all to report a conversation that went from point to point. I wasn't interviewing the president, and I made no note at the time of the things said. My impression was of a mind—for the situation—quite extraordinarily open. That is the value of President Roosevelt for me, and why I can't for the life of my book leave him out. He is the seeking mind of America displayed.

The ordinary politician goes through his career like a charging bull, with his eyes shut to any changes in the premises. He locks up his mind like a powder magazine. But any spark may fire the mind of President Roosevelt. His range of reading is amazing; he seems to be echoing with all the thought of the time; he has receptivity to the pitch of genius. And he does not merely receive, he digests and reconstructs; he thinks. It is his political misfortune that at times he thinks aloud. His mind is active with projects of solution for the teeming problems around him. Traditions have no hold upon him—nor, his enemies say, have any but quite formal pledges. It is hard to tie him. In all these things he is to a singular completeness the mind and will of contemporary America. And by an unparalleled conspiracy of political accidents, as all the world knows, he has got to the White house. He is not a part of the regular American political system at all—he has, it happens, stuck through. . . .

Now my picture of America, as I have tried to make clear, is one of a gigantic process of growth, of economic coming and going, spaced out over vast distances and involving millions of hastening men; I see America as towns and urgency and greatnesses beyond, I suppose, any precedent that ever has been in the world. And like a little island of order amidst that ocean of enormous opportunity and business turmoil and striving individualities is this District of Columbia, with Washington and its capitol and obelisk. It is a mere pin point in the unlimited, on which in peace times the national government lies marooned, twisted up into knots, bound with safeguards, and altogether impotently stranded. And peering closely, and looking from the capitol down the vista of Pennsylvania avenue, I see the White house, minute and clear, with a fountain playing before it, and behind it a railed garden set with fine trees. The trees are not so thick, nor the railings so high, but that the people on the big "seeing Washington" cars cannot crane to see into it and whoever walk about it. And in this garden goes a living speck, as it were, in gray, talking, swinging a white clenched hand, and trying vigorously and resolutely to get a hold upon the significance of the whole vast process in which he and his island of government are set.

Always before him there have been political resultants, irrelevancies, and futilities of the White house; and after him, it would seem, they may come again. I do not know anything of the quality of Mr. Bryan, who may perhaps succeed him. He, too, is something of an exception, it seems, and keeps a still developing and inquiring mind. Beyond is a vista of figures of questionable value so far as I am concerned. They have this in common, that they don't stand for thought. For the present, at any rate, a personality, extraordinarily representative, occupies the White house. And what he chooses to say publicly (and some things he says privately) is, by an exceptional law of acoustics, heard in San Francisco, in Chicago, in New Orleans, in New York and Boston, in Kansas and Maine, throughout the whole breadth of the United States of America. He assimilates contemporary thought, delocalizes and reverberates it. He is America for the first time vocal to itself.

* *

What is America saying to itself?

I've read most of the president's recent speeches, and they fall in oddly with that quality in his face that so many photographs even convey, a complex mingling of will and a critical perplexity. Taken all together they amount to a mass of not always consistent suggestions, that overlap and conflict. Things crowd upon him; rebate scandals, insurance scandals, the meat scandals, this insecurity and that. The conditions of his position press upon him. It is no wonder he gives out no single, simple note.

The plain fact is that in the face of the teeming situations of today America does not know what to do. Nobody, except those happily gifted individuals who can see but one aspect of an intricate infinitude, imagines any simple solution. For the rest the time is one of ample, vigorous, and at times impatient inquiry and of intense disillusionment with old assumptions and methods. And never did a president before so reflect the quality of his time. The trend is altogether away from the anarchistic individualism of the nineteenth century, that much is sure, and towards some constructive scheme which, if not exactly socialism, as socialism is defined, will be at any rate closely analogous to socialism. This is the immense change of thought and attitude in which President Roosevelt participates and to which he gives a unique expression. Day by day he changes with the big world about him—contradicts himself. . . .

I came away with the clear impression that neither President Roosevelt nor America will ever, as some people prophesy, "declare for socialism," but my impression is equally clear that he and all the world of men he stands for have done forever with the threadbare formulæ that have served America such an unconscionable time. We talked of the press and books and of the question of color, and then for awhile about the rôle of the universities in the life of the coming time. . . .

Now it is a curious thing that as I talked with President Roosevelt in the garden of the White house there came back to me quite forcibly that undertone of doubt that has haunted me throughout this journey. After all, does this magnificent appearance of beginnings which is America convey any thing and certain promise of permanence and fulfilment whatever? Much makes for construction; a great wave of reform is going on, but will it drive on to anything more than a breaking impact upon even more gigantic uncertainties and dangers? Is America a giant childhood or a gigantic futility—a mere latest phase of that long succession of experiments which has been and may be for interminable years—may be, indeed, altogether until the end—man's social history? I can't now recall how our discursive talk settled towards that, but it is clear to me that I struck upon a familiar vein of thought in the president's mind. He hadn't, he said, an effectual disproof of any pessimistic interpretation of the future. If one chose to say America must presently lose the impetus of her ascent, that she and all mankind must culminate and pass, he could not conclusively deny that possibility. Only he chose to live as if this was not so.

This remained in his mind. Presently he reverted to it. He made a sort of apology for his life against the doubts and skepticisms that, I fear, must be in the background of the thoughts of every modern man who is intellectually alive. He mentioned a little book of mine, an early book full of the deliberate pessimism of youth, in which I drew a picture of a future of decadence, of a time when constructive effort had fought its fight and failed, when the inevitable segregations of an individualistic system had worked themselves out and all the hope and vigor of humanity had gone forever. The descendants of the workers had become etiolated, sinister, and subterranean monsters; the property owners had degenerated into a hectic and feebly self-indulgent race, living fitfully amidst the ruins of the present time. He became gesticulatory, and his straining voice a note higher in denying this as a credible interpretation of destiny. With one of those sudden movements of his, he knelt forward in a garden chair—we were standing before our parting beneath the colonnade—and addressed me earnestly over the back, clutching it, and then thrusting out his familiar gesture, a hand first partly open and then closed.

"Suppose, after all," he said, slowly, "that should prove to be right, and it all ends in your butterflies and morlocks. That doesn't matter now. The effort's real. It's worth going on with. It's worth it. It's worth it—even then." . . .

I can see him now and hear his unmusical voice saying, "The effort—the effort's worth it," and see the gesture of his clinched hand and the—how can I describe it?—the friendly peering look of his face, like a man with the sun in his eyes. He sticks in my mind as that, as a many symbol of the creative will in man, in its limitations, its doubtful adequacy, its valiant persistence amidst perplexities and confusions. He kneels out, assertive against his setting—and his setting is the White house with a background of all America.

I could almost write with a background of all the world—for I know of no other a title so representative of the creative purpose, the good will in men as he. I mean that in no spirit of gross flattery. In his undisciplined hastiness, his limitations, his prejudices, his unfairness, his frequent errors, just as much as in his force, his sustained courage, his integrity, his open intelligence, he stands for his people and his kind.

IN THE SOCIETY WO[RLD]

MISS KATHERINE KEY[ES EN]GAGED TO ROBERT O. L[ORD]

SCORES PEEK-A-BOO WAIS[TS]

[The] President of National Cath[olic Tot]al Abstinence Society Says No[th]ing Is More Suggestive.

Fond du Lac, Wis., Oct. 4.—[Special.]—Mrs. Leonora Lake, vice president of [the] National Catholic Total Abstinence soc[iety,] scored the peek-a-boo waist today in [the] W. C. T. U. convention, saying:

"Women will look shocked when the[y see] one of their own sex showing her an[kles] when she crosses the street, but they [think] nothing of peek-a-boo waists. Nothi[ng is] more suggestive than a waist of this c[har]acter, and still women who think they [are] modest wear them and look shocked [when] their companions show their ankles."

The W. C. T. U. convention elected the [fol]lowing officers:

President—Mrs. Mary C. Upham, Marshfi[eld].

MISS KATHERINE KEYES ENGAGED TO ROBERT O. LORD.

Mrs. E. B. Chisholm and Her Two Daughters of Greenwood Avenue Will Spend Winter at Virginia Hotel—Miss Irene Schooley to Wed Marshall H. Jackson on Oct. 22—Miss Audrey Woolsey Entertains at Chicago Yacht Club.

Mrs. E. B. Chisholm and her two daughters, Miss Marjorie and Rosepha Chisholm, 4839 Greenwood avenue, will spend the winter at the Virginia hotel, expecting to take up their residence there late this month. The sisters will be débutantes of the season, and will be introduced on Saturday, Nov. 24. The form of their début event has not been decided on.

An interesting engagement announced in Evanston is that of Miss Katherine Keyes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rollin A. Keyes, to Mr. Robert Owen Lord, son of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Lord.

Another engagement just announced in Evanston is that of Miss Lulu Elizabeth Butler, daughter of Mr. Frank Selden Butler, 700 Sheridan road, to Mr. Richard Vernon Clark of East St. Louis, Ill.

The wedding of Miss Marguerite Ford Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Johnson of Michigan City, Ind., to Mr. George Beers Foster of Chicago and Milwaukee will take place on Saturday, Oct. 20, at 4 o'clock in the afternoon at the First Presbyterian church in Michigan City.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Schooley of Oak Park have issued invitations for the marriage of their daughter Irene and Mr. Marshall H. Jackson. The wedding will take place at the First Presbyterian church, Oak Park, Monday evening, Oct. 22.

The bridal party will consist of Mrs. Thomas Edwin Heald as matron of honor, Miss Paula Kroeschell of Winnetka as maid of honor, and Miss Virginia Brooks, Miss Evelyn Adams, Miss Helen Jackson, Miss Ellery Clark, and Miss Elizabeth Collins as bridesmaids, together with Mr. Paul Ripley as best man and Mr. Burt Crowe, Mr. Alfred Austin, Mr. Thomas Heald, Mr. William Heald, Mr. Edwin Vincent, and Mr. Paul Battle as ushers. A small reception will follow the wedding at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Schooley.

Miss Jeanette Andrae has chosen Thursday, Nov. 8, as the day for her marriage to Mr. Ernest J. Perry of Fond du Lac, Wis. It will be celebrated at the residence of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Andrae, 273 Hazel avenue.

Miss Catherine S. Rollo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Rollo, 2008 Sheridan road, was married to Mr. James Norman Wright of Evanston, son of Mrs. A. M. Wright, last evening. It was a house wedding, the ceremony, at 8:30 o'clock, being performed by the Rev. B. H. Burt of Ludington, Mich., uncle of the bride.

Miss Jane F. Rollo, sister of the bride, and Mr. Theodore A. Thornton of Canton, Ill., were the only attendants, Miss Rollo wearing pink chiffon taffeta and carrying a shower bouquet of Mme. Testont roses. The bride's gown was of white chiffon cloth trimmed with princess lace, and her flowers were lilies of the valley. As the bridal party entered the drawing room the ribbons were stretched by Master John N. Rollo and Master Abner Miles Wright.

Mr. and Mrs. Wright will take a wedding journey, and after Dec. 1 will be at home at 1424 Sheridan park.

Mrs. W. O. Duntley, 688 East Forty-eighth place, entertained at luncheon in honor of her guest, Mrs. Harry Hunter of Pittsburg, Pa.

Miss Audrey Woolsey, 5035 Grand boulevard, entertained at a luncheon yesterday at the Chicago Yacht club in honor of Miss Ruth Buttolph, a bride of this month. Mrs. Woolsey chaperoned the party, and the guests were Miss Buttolph, Miss Rachel Walker, Miss Jackson, Miss Marie Vietch, Miss Helen Johnson, and Mrs. Roger Sherman.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Haines, 28 Astor street, returned on Tuesday from Colorado, where they spent several weeks. They will leave town again on Monday for a brief stay in the east.

Mrs. John J. Herrick and her daughter, Miss Julie Herrick, 2221 Prairie avenue, have returned from the east, where they spent a fortnight since landing from Europe.

Mr. and Mrs. William S. Love have returned from a trip to Canada and have taken an apartment for the winter at 85 Rush street.

Mr. and Mrs. John S. Miller, 4810 Kenwood avenue, have returned from the east and are at the Virginia hotel for a few weeks. Their daughter, Miss Janet Miller, remained east in school, and their son, John S. Miller Jr., entered Harvard university.

Miss May Allport has returned from a month at the seashore and in the Berkshires, and is at 432 North State street for the winter.

Col. and Mrs. Peter Hennessy and Miss Adele Hennessy, 315 Superior street, have closed their house at Mackinac Island and will return to town today or tomorrow.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Prins, 5332 Prairie avenue, will celebrate their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary today.

Mrs. Maylon Updike, 6034 Jefferson avenue, will give a tea this afternoon in honor of Miss Marguerite Lewis, whose marriage to Mr. Royal Duncan Hawley takes place Oct. 15.

MRS. RODGERS RE-ELECTED.

Chicago Woman, for Fifteen Years Head of Catholic Order of Foresters, Is Chosen Again.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 4.—Mrs. Elizabeth Rodgers of Chicago, who has been at the head of the Woman's Catholic Order of Foresters for fifteen years, was found to have been reelected high chief ranger at a session of the convention at Plymouth Congregational church, which lasted all of last night. Other officers were elected as follows:

High vice chief ranger—Mrs. Rose Rittman, Minneapolis.
High secretary—Mrs. Julia McDonnell, Chicago.
High treasurer—Miss Katherine Birmingham, Chicago.
High auditors—Mrs. Mary Duffy, Mrs. Jenny ..., and Mrs. Catherine Philipps of Chicago.
High medical examiner—Dr. Anna Dwyer, Chicago.
High attorney—Adolph Easter, Chicago.
Trustees—Mrs. Katherine Jacoby, Mrs. Margaret ..., Mrs. Anna Klarkowski, Mrs. Marie L. Cyr, and Miss Kate Rochford, all of Chicago; Mrs. Mary ..., Milwaukee; and Mrs. Katherine Murphy, Sioux City.

SCORES PEEK-A-BOO WAISTS.

Vice President of National Catholic Total Abstinence Society Says Nothing Is More Suggestive.

Fond du Lac, Wis., Oct. 4.—[Special.]—Mrs. Leonora Lake, vice president of the National Catholic Total Abstinence society, scored the peek-a-boo waist today in the W. C. T. U. convention, saying:

"Women will look shocked when they see one of their own sex showing her ankles when she crosses the street, but they think nothing of peek-a-boo waists. Nothing is more suggestive than a waist of this character, and still women who think they are modest wear them and look shocked when their companions show their ankles."

The W. C. T. U. convention elected the following officers:

President—Mrs. Mary C. Upham, Marshfield.
Vice president—Mrs. W. A. Lawson, Madison.
Corresponding secretary—Mrs. Eliza W. Follette, ...
Recording secretary—Mrs. Augusta E. Strong, Madison.
Treasurer—Mrs. Ida M. Cook, Green Bay.

Woman's Auxiliary A. R. M. A. Elects

The Women's Auxiliary of the American Railway Mail association concluded its fifteenth annual convention at the Palmer house yesterday afternoon with a musical program. Mrs. E. L. Parrish of Detroit was elected president, Mrs. C. H. Verity of Cleveland, secretary, and Mrs. Gilbert H. Worley of Omaha, treasurer.

Domestic Science

Conducted by the School of Domestic Arts and Science of Chicago

IN spite of uncertain skies, the registration at the School of Domestic Arts, 89 State street, was large, and probably will continue for the next two days, for many telephoned that they could not come on account of the weather. Millinery is filling up rapidly; the first course in sewing is growing, for many came full of enthusiasm for the shirt waist suit who found that a knowledge of sewing was necessary before a successful shirt waist suit could be made.

The new kitchens will prove none too large for the demand upon them. Business women are waking to the interest of these classes, and the demand for evening work is larger than ever before. A new feature of this year has been the number of classes made up of friends, the classes formed before coming to the school.

In these days of trouble with maids, the great advantage of work in domestic science is not the technical skill alone but the new interest instilled in the simple home duties. Cookery becomes interesting when some knowledge of the chemistry involved makes the process one to be studied and not a matter of luck.

Cooking for fairs is one of the features. One group of girls preparing for a candy booth at a church fair is going to have candy lessons in order to prepare the latest confections.

The charity work is growing and the demand is great. The settlements and missions from all over the city are sending in their applications, and the capacity of this department will be taxed to the utmost. The women unable to come to the school will thus be able to apply their knowledge to their needs.

There was a story in last SUNDAY'S TRIBUNE, said one visitor today, about a man who had trouble till he gave his money to his wife, as she was so much more careful in spending than he was. I think if all women would prepare for homemaking as men prepare for earning, the men would be glad enough to give them money. It is harder to use money wisely than it is to earn, and women should be trained to spend money intelligently. In cookery knowledge of materials is taught and in serving and millinery knowledge of fabrics, so important to the shopper.

In cookery the classes entering for foundation work are large. There are two classes of women wanting to study cookery, one that wants to learn thoroughly from the foundation principles, the other whose one idea of cooking lessons is to learn the fancy dishes and new recipes. The former class is the one to which the School of Domestic Arts and Science caters, and this is the reason it stands for larger consecutive courses, so that the student may come out mistress of her subject. There are other schools which cater to the more frivolous point of view, but many of their students come to the School of Domestic Arts for fundamental training after all. It is interesting to notice that the men bringing their daughters want thorough work in either department.

COLLEGE HEAD WILL REJECT OFFER OF OUSTED STUDENTS.

President Harlan Says Proposition of Rebels to Sign Anti-Hazing Pledge Under Protest Will Not Be Considered.

Conciliatory measures between the eighteen rebellious students of Lake Forest college who were expelled because they refused to pledge themselves to refrain from hazing, and Dr. Richard S. Harlan, president of the institution, were begun yesterday, but no agreement was reached.

The rebels, at the close of a meeting in the Phi Pi Epsilon house, sent to President Harlan a communication in which they offered to sign the pledge "under protest," if such a compromise could be reached. Their spokesman, John Kessler, said one or more of the faculty were with them in their stand. All of the expelled students were firm in their declaration that they would not give ground before the stern attitude of the college authorities.

Dr. Harlan said last evening that he had not received any word from the expelled students, but if such a proposition as that mentioned by them was suggested it would not receive a moment's consideration. He added that he had received word in a confidential way that several of the ousted ones will offer to come within the pale of the college rules this morning.

SHAYNE GOES TO ASYLUM.

State Street Merchant, Recently Adjudged Insane, Is Committed to the Care of Dr. Sanger Brown.

The family of John T. Shayne, who was adjudged insane three weeks ago, found it necessary yesterday to take him into the County court, where Judge Houston entered an order permitting him to be sent to Dr. Sanger Brown's sanitarium at Kenilworth.

When Mr. Shayne was adjudged insane he was placed in the custody of his wife, but he gradually became so intractable that it was deemed advisable to send him to a sanitarium for treatment.

The court was informed that Mr. Shayne would visit his State street store often and attract the attention of customers and others by loud talk. He is said to have complained that he was mistreated by members of his family. It was asserted also that he frequently visited the American Trust and Savings bank, which had been appointed as conservator of his estate, and while at the bank annoyed the clerks.

Several years ago, while he and Mrs. Martha K. Hammond, who is now his wife, were dining at the Auditorium Annex, Mr. Shayne was shot by Harry Hammond, the former husband of the present Mrs. Shayne.

MRS. LONGWORTH IN CAMPAIGN.

Congressman's Wife Will Attend Opening Meeting at Cincinnati to Hear Husband Speak.

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 4.—[Special.]—Mrs. Nicholas Longworth is taking great interest in her husband's campaign for reëlection to congress and will attend the opening meeting, that is to be held Saturday evening at Music hall. Congressman Longworth has been given a prominent place on the list of speakers. The meeting will be Mrs. Longworth's first opportunity to hear him as a political orator at a party rally. The congressman has planned a number of meetings to be held in this, the First district, and it is expected that Mrs. Longworth will attend several of them.

We are about to publish a new weekly. A magazine so different in purpose and scope and usefulness that people will wonder why it was not published long ago. It seems to us that this great country of ours with all its forcefulness and enterprise can afford to be constantly in touch with itself. We believe that we have discovered a way by which we can give the people something they very much want and something that they now have no other way of getting.

The unique feature of Ridgway's is, that it will be published from fourteen cities simultaneously every Saturday morning. How are we going to do it? Well, here is our plan, and we think it will look as good to you as it does to us. We shall maintain a complete organization in each of the following centres where Ridgway's is published: New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston, San Francisco, Washington, New Orleans, Seattle, Atlanta, Denver, Cleveland, St. Louis, Pittsburg, St. Paul and Minneapolis. In each of the fourteen cities there will be a managing editor, with associate editors, correspondents, special contributors, artists, advertising and circulation managers. We intend with the aid of our editors all over the country to get to the scene of every important event at the earliest moment after it has happened. At midnight of the day preceding publication each of the local editors will wire to New York a brief editorial story of the events of his section that he believes will be of interest to the rest of the country. In New York, editorial writers with Samuel Hopkins Adams in charge, will go over these stories, shape them up, being careful not to destroy the local color, and wire three or four pages of finished editorials back to each branch, thus the whole country will contribute to the national editorials. A few hours later Ridgway's will be on the presses in fourteen cities being printed at newspaper speed.

The local news and editorials will be treated just as thoroughly by the local editor for his own section. We have secured the best man obtainable in his district, one who can reflect the life of his section, in Business, Politics, Sports, Finance, Society and Education, week in and out. There will be nothing but clean, crisp, up-to-date news that will keep wide-awake readers alive to the big events that are happening around them.

What about stories and illustrations and general articles? We shall have plenty of them. The best we can buy. We believe in humor and every form of wholesome amusement. Nothing will be left undone to make these features a great success with our readers. We shall seek contributors everywhere. Ridgway's will undoubtedly make a great many literary reputations, just as Everybody's did. We are already able to announce a great serial story by Joseph Conrad, to be called "The Secret Agent." It will begin in the first issue. Mr. Conrad has written sea stories that have made him famous. In The Secret Agent he has entered a new field. It is a story of European Diplomacy. The scene is laid in London, well known as an asylum for European Anarchists. A story of this kind is necessarily full of action and fascination. The Secret Agent is especially so.

Gelett Burgess will conduct a department of humor, consisting of at least four pages each issue, fully illustrated. It will be kept up-to-date. When you see the first number you will appreciate how good this department is. Mr. Burgess will have the aid of the best artists and illustrators at home and abroad. Another feature of the illustrations will be a sixteen-page section of half-tones printed on super paper, depicting important happenings, local and national. There will be weekly full-page cartoons, true to the topic and the times.

Here are some of the contributors who are now at work for us:

Emerson Hough	Winston Churchill
Broughton Brandenberg	Agnes Laut
Ernest Poole	Eleanor Hoyt Brainerd
Harvey J. O'Higgins	Jacques Futrelle
Charlotte Perkins Gilman	Henry C. Rowland
Ralph D. Paine	George W. Ogden
John L. Mathews	Lucia Chamberlin

One of the greatest features of Ridgway's will be the Washington Bureau, under the direction of Martin Egan. We propose to tell you in an interesting way, every week, just what each department of the national government is doing in your service. Mr. Egan will have a staff of twelve associate editors in order to cover every department of the government. There will be special representatives for the Senate, the House and the Diplomatic Service. This Washington Bureau will make us better Americans. We are all interested in our great big government, yet, how much do we know about it?

What will be the policy of Ridgway's?—principally to tell the truth. We shall go for the big things. We shall not try to run down or over anybody. If there are two sides to a question, as nearly always happens, we shall tell the truth on both sides, and our aim will be to tell the truth, not because it pays and not because it hurts, but because it helps. If we give things as we find them, the average American citizen can be trusted to reach a very definite conclusion by the shortest possible route. We shall stand squarely on the platform "A Militant Weekly for God and Country."

Ridgway's will be on sale everywhere to-morrow morning. It will be a 64-page weekly, and will be sold at 10c a copy or $5.00 a year. We advise you to get your order in early, because advance orders indicate a big demand, and we shall not print beyond immediate requirements. You can buy Ridgway's in the same way as your newspaper or magazine. It will be sold by the newsdealer and the newsboy, on the stand or in the street.

PLANS COMPLETE FOR BIG SERIES.

First World Championship Game at National League Park on Tuesday.

ALTERNATE AFTER THAT.

Johnstone and O'Loughlin the Umpires; Many New Rules Made by Commission.

The first game of the world championship series between Chicago's two pennant winning teams will take place next Tuesday afternoon at the west side grounds.

The umpires for the entire series will be Johnstone of the National league and O'Loughlin of the American league.

Prices of admission to all games will be doubled over prices prevailing through the regular season. Reserved seats for games at the National league park will be placed on sale today at 10 a. m., and those for games at American league park will go on sale tomorrow.

Four victories by either team will conclude the series. This may make it necessary to play seven games.

All games will start at 3 o'clock.

Murphy Wins the Toss.

A toss of a coin, after a conference yesterday at which Presidents Murphy and Comiskey, President Pulliam of the National league, and Secretary McRoy, representing the American league, were present, decided the place for the opening game. Manager Jones and Secretary Fredericks of the White Sox also attended the conference.

The baseball men met at President Pulliam's apartments at the Auditorium Annex and arrangements for the world's series as far as the Chicago clubs are concerned practically were completed. Both Presidents Murphy and Comiskey were more than anxious to have the struggle commence on their own grounds and agreed to toss for the choice. President Murphy did the flipping and Comiskey chose heads to win. It was a tail and Murphy scored the first victory.

Four Victories Decide Series.

With the opening game at the west side grounds on Tuesday the games will alternate at the west and south side parks until one club has won four games, entitling it to the supreme title in baseball. In case the teams should find it necessary to play the full series of seven games the seventh and final contest will be played on grounds to be designated by the national commission, which has full control in the matter. According to the commission, should a game be postponed on account of rain the next game will be played at the same park at which it was postponed.

The conference was productive of all kinds of harmony, and the arrangements went through without a hitch. The serious business of the session was taken up after a little love feast of the magnates, and was disposed of with rapidity and success. The assignment of Umpires Johnstone of the National league and O'Loughlin of the American league, notification of which was given out at Cincinnati yesterday by Chairman Garry Hermann of the national commission, met with general approval, as these two men were considered perhaps the most capable in either of the major leagues.

Prices to Be Doubled.

Practically the only objection arose over the regulation of prices of admission for the series, over which the national commission has full control. President Comiskey objected to the increase, declaring the prices should be the same as prevailed during the regular playing season. "Diplomat Harry" Pulliam, however, quickly disposed of the matter when he announced that the regulation of the prices came under the jurisdiction of the national commission. Besides, said Pulliam, a precedent was set by the commission last year in the world's championship series between the Giants and Athletics.

By the regulation of the prices, box seats at both grounds will be sold at $2, the remaining 75 cent seats will sell for $1.50, the 50 cent seats at $1, and all the bleacher room at 50 cents. The reserved seats for the games at the National league park will be placed on sale this morning after 10 o'clock, while those for the south side grounds will be sold on Saturday morning.

There is a demand for tickets that assures huge crowds despite the extra admission prices. These requests for tickets have been coming into the baseball offices for weeks, while newspapers have been in receipt of hundreds of letters from enthusiasts at a distance who wanted to make sure of securing seats.

Pulliam Approves Stands.

President Pulliam made a trip to the south side grounds to look over the seating capacity and found everything in fine shape. Comiskey is working the contractors overtime to make extra accommodations for the great mass of fans who are expected. Commy knows crowds and knows what they will do, therefore he is going ahead and preparing. Pulliam is pleased with the conditions at both parks, and left for his old home at Louisville last night. He will return for the championship series on Monday, when Chairman Hermann of the national commission will be here to confer with President Johnson and himself before the start of the struggle on Tuesday.

ADDITIONAL RULES FOR SERIES.

National Commission Improves on Code for Big Games—Umpires May Punish Players.

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 4.—President Hermann, on behalf of the national commission, today announced the following additional rules to govern the world championship series:

Rule 16—the authority of the umpires in these contests will be supreme and the umpires are authorized to eject from the game all players indulging in vile and indecent language and unfair tactics. Before the distribution of the prize money belonging to the players the commission will take cognizance of all reports by its umpires and inflict such penalties as it sees fit against offending players, and the penalties so inflicted shall be taken from the prize money belonging to such players.

The following players will be eligible to participate in the games and none others:

Chicago National league club—Brown, Mordecai; Chance, Frank; Evers, John J.; Gessler, H. H.; Harper, Charles W.; Hofman, Arthur F.; Kling, John G.; Lundgren, Carl L.; Moran, P. J.; McCormick, John F.; Overall, Orvil; Pfiester, John; Reulbach, Edward; Schulte, Frank; Sheckard, James T.; Slagle, James F.; Steinfeldt, Harry; Taylor, John W.; Tinker, Joseph B.; Walsh, Thomas J.

Chicago American league club—McFarland, Edward; Sullivan, William; Hart, H.; Towne, J.; Patterson, R.; Altrock, N.; Owen, F.; Walsh, E.; White, G. H.; Smith, F.; Feine, L.; Donohue, J.; Isbell, F.; Davis, G.; Hahn, E.; Tannehill, L.; Jones, F. H.; Dougherty, P.; Dundon, C.; Rohe, George.

The entire commission and its secretary will be represented. The business representatives of the commission will be John Heydler and Robert B. McRoy. The headquarters of the commission will be at the Auditorium Annex, Chicago. The official scorers selected by the commission are A. J. Flanner of the Sporting News and Frank C. Richter of the Sporting Life.

The national commission, together with the club owners and managers and players of the contesting clubs, as well as the umpires and official scorers, will meet at the Auditorium Annex hotel, Chicago, on Monday, Oct. 8, at 11 a. m.

In order that the club officials of the two leagues and the special guests of the commission may be properly provided for fifty tickets will be delivered each day to the commission for this purpose.

Rain checks shall be issued each day regardless of the weather conditions. Should a game be postponed on account of weather the checks issued shall be good for the next game in the city.

The official ball of the National league will be used in all games on National league grounds, and the official ball of the American league in all games on American league grounds.

CINCINNATI FANS ARE COMING.

Special Trains Are Talked Of to Bring Spectators to the World Baseball Series.

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 4.—[Special.]—Parties of Cincinnati fans are being organized to witness the grand struggles between the Spuds and the White Sox at Chicago. It is expected there will be over 400 of the reds' followers at the ringside.

John Spinney and Ed Ashenbach, leaders in amateur baseball circles, are going to run specials. Bellevue and Newport (Ky.) fans will be there to root for Lee Tannehill of the Sox. George Rohe's east end friends will be there also. Jim Keenan, Jake Stensell, and fans from the courthouse and city hall have decided to go.

The Macon, Peerless, and Owl athletic clubs are going in a body to root for Nick Altrock, who belongs to the Peerless club, of which Jake Baschang is president.

John Dugan of the Trades Union league, also will make the trip. Then there will be Garry Hermann, John Bruce, and others from these diggin's.

DREYFUSS IN THE BOSTON CLUB.

Said to Be Interested with George Dovey of St. Louis in the Recent Purchase.

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 4.—[Special.]—George Dovey of St. Louis, a wealthy street car man, and Barney Dreyfuss will appear on the surface soon in the Boston baseball deal. This announcement is made here by those who should know. Dovey had a long conference with Dreyfuss here some days since, then left for Boston suddenly, though not until he had admitted to a close friend that if the deal for the transfer of the Boston club had been completed he would own the greater part of it. Dovey also is said to have given the first intimation that Barney Dreyfuss, too, was to appear in the deal. This story has gained weight here, though it has not been stated whose money Dreyfuss will put into the affair. The meeting at which the Boston club matter is supposed to have been closed was held here at the office of Dreyfuss, and Dovey was enjoined by the president of the Pittsburg club not to say a word to any one. Dovey, however, could not see any cause for secrecy. Though he first gave out that he was on his way to Boston to sell a few street cars he later admitted it was baseball he wanted.

Baseball Player Dies.

Memphis, Tenn., Oct. 4.—[Special.]—Robert W. Geddes, the Cotton States league pitcher, with Baton Rouge last season, is dead of typhoid fever. He had been purchased by the New Orleans Southern league club.

STAKE RACE TO FOUNTAINBLEU.

Perfect Ride by Shaw Lands Brady's Horse in Front in Triumph Event at Brighton Beach.

New York, Oct. 4.—[Special.]—James B. Brady's $25,000 Fountainbleu, ridden by Shaw this time instead of Jack Martin, was victorious in the Triumph stakes for 2 year olds at 1 mile at Brighton Beach today. Fountainbleu—he that had been disgracefully beaten in the Flatbush stakes and other races—quickly went to the front today, and, getting a perfect ride from Shaw, simply breezed to the wire, where he won by five lengths in 1:40 2-5.

Dinna Ken, from an outside position, had to run around his field in the early stages, and then blew up when Koerner called on him for a real burst of speed in the stretch. F. A. Forsythe's Montgomery came from behind in the last quarter and nailed the place.

J. D. Odom's Angler, the second choice, heavily played at the last moment, and superbly ridden by Garner, won the handicap at a mile and a half by a length. Garner waited with the Hindoo horse while Miss Crawford, the favorite, and Blennenworth raced out in front to the head of the stretch. Then Garner forced Angler between them and came away.

First race, 6 furlongs—Eldorado, 110 pounds [Horner], 2 to 1, won; Dan Buhre, 110 [J. Harris], 8 to 1, second; Yankee Girl, 107 [Sewell], 4 to 1, third. Time, 1:13 4-5. Prince Fortunatus, Elixir, Viva Voce, Jennie Wells, Narelle, El Fall, Hard Shot, and Get Aboard ran.

Second race, steeplechase, selling, about 2 miles—Boundbrook, 150 pounds [Gallagher], 8 to 5, won; Caller, 150 [Butner], 3 to 1, second; Garter Knot, 145 [Turnburke], 7 to 2, third. Time, 4:12. Russell Sage, Nuit Blanche, Gupsic, Adams, Allegiance, Bonfire, and Modest ran.

Third race, selling, 1 1-16 miles—Ed Ball, 105 pounds [C. Ross], 11 to 5, won; Oarsman, 107 [Sewell], 7 to 1, second; Deutschland, 114 [Dugan], 9 to 5, third. Time, 1:45. Bragg, Onatas, Robador, Ebony, Tartan, Schoolmate, and Palm Tree ran.

Fourth race, the Triumph stakes, for 2 year olds, 1 mile—Fountainbleu, 112 pounds [Shaw], 11 to 5, won; Montgomery, 107 [Troxler], 4 to 1, second; Prince Hampton, 104 [Hildebrand], 8 to 1, third. Time—1:40 2-5. Little Minister, The Wrestler, Dinna Ken, and Manana ran.

Fifth race, 1½ miles—Angler, 112 pounds [Garner], 8 to 5, won; McKittredge, 106 [Hildebrand], 8 to 1, second; Miss Crawford, 116 [Miller], even, third. Time, 2:34 4-5. Priority, Blennenworth, and King Henry ran.

Sixth race, 7 furlongs—Jacobite, 100 pounds [Horner], 4 to 5, won; Gambrinus, 105 [J. Harris], 20 to 1, second; Fish Hawk, 94 [Brussel], 6 to 1, third. Time, 1:12 3-5. Homelander, East End, Monet, Emperor of India, and Workman ran.

Seventh race, selling, 6 furlongs—Sly Ban, 111 pounds [Martin], 5 to 1, won; Saylor, 108 [Cochran], 10 to 1, second; Slickaway, 116 [Miller], 13 to 5, third. Time, 1:13. Prince Frederick, Park Row, Willing Hand, St. Estephe, Reflector, Dr. Dix, Anna Smith, Gentian, Quinn Brady, Society Bud, Delmore, Dr. Kellsworth, and Comedian ran.

JOCKEY MILLER IN FATAL FALL.

Boy Is Thrown from Mount in Race at Louisville and Dies at the Hospital.

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 4.—Jockey B. Miller, who had the mount on Dresden in the second race, fell today and several horses ran over him. His skull was crushed and he died in a local hospital tonight. He was 19 years old and a native of New York City. It was his first mount since he was suspended.

Charlie Eastman beat Martha Gorman in the feature race. Form players had a bad day. Weather clear; track fast. Summaries:

First race, selling, 5 furlongs—Laura E., 10[?] pounds [Moriarity], 8 to 1, won; Nedra, 105 [Seder], 3 to 1, second; John Kaufman, 112 [W. Carroll], 10 to 1, third. Time, 1:00 4-5. Coco, Dulzura, Nancy Hart, Blaze o' Light, Francis J., Isabel Aintree, Alta McDonald, Tulip, Steadfast, Intaglia, Aline Crockett, Honore, and Jay Swift ran.

Second race, 6 furlongs—French Nun, 110 pounds [Lloyd], 10 to 1, won; Petit Duc, 110 [J. Hunter], 30 to 1, second; Nun's Veiling, 108 [Mountain], 3 to 1, third. Time, 1:14 1-5. Oberon, Bitter Brown, Conjurer, Pinta, Frank Bill, Bensonhurst, Gallop Off, Revolt, Lady Lavish, Dresden, Elude, Potter, and Investor also ran.

Third race, 6 furlongs—Charlie Eastman, 96 pounds [Moreland], 6 to 5, won; Martha Gorman, 105 [Nicol], 2 to 1, second; Hector, 100 [Rice], 8 to 1, third. Time, 1:13 1-5. Subador, Sanction, Invincible, and Platoon ran.

Fourth race, free steeplechase, handicap, full course, about 2 miles—Little Wally, 135 pounds [Dayton], 10 to 1, won; Lady Jocelyn, 132 [O'Neill], 12 to 1, second; Sigmund, 136 [Archibald], 3 to 2, third. Time, 4:02 2-5. Ninepin also ran. New Amsterdam ran out. Dalesman refused to jump and Town Moor fell.

Fifth race, 5½ furlongs—Electorine, 103 pounds [Boland], 12 to 1, won; Nellette, 98 [R. Fisher], 60 to 1, second; Miss Lida, 108 [Dealy], 12 to 1, third. Time, 1:07 4-5. Demo, Tom Dolan, Marmorean, Camp, Judith Louise, Zanliss, Sister Huffman, and Chase ran.

Sixth race, selling, 1 mile—Golden Mineral, 104 pounds [C. Morris], 7 to 1, won; Brait, 90 [Carroll], 8 to 1, second; The Only Way, 108 [Keyes], 15 to 1 third. Time, 1:41. Prince of Pless, Whippoorwill, Ingolthrift, Doc[?], Barklemore, Anna May, Mcgregor, J. P. Mayberry, and Belden ran.

Streator Meeting Closes.

Streator, Ill., Oct. 4.—[Special.]—The fall meeting of the Streator Trotting association closed today with splendid racing. In the 2:20 pace Figet won two heats, Maud Sherbet two, and Elsie M. two, the money being divided. Black Bess, Guy Reeder, Gwendolyn, and Teddy Briton started. Best time, 2:17½. Juanetta took the first heat of the free for all pace in 2:12¼. The next three went to Barney L. Miss Belle Robinson won third money. The Streator was won by Milt Rice in 1:49. Van Cleave second, and Speaks Bay third. Nicona won the half mile and repeat, with Jessie second and Revolution third. Best time, :49½.

Nelson Wins from Nolan.

Calumet, Mich., Oct. 4.—[Special.]—Ole Nelson of Calumet was awarded a decision over Jack Nolan of Milwaukee after ten rounds of clever fighting before the Red Jacket Athletic club tonight.

Regan and Roach Fight Draw.

Sedalia, Mo., Oct. 4.—[Special.]—John Regan of St. Louis and Billy Roach of Sedalia fought six rounds tonight to a draw here.

Notes of the Golfers.

Judge Lorin C. Collins, who is now located at Panama, was a visitor at the Chicago Golf club yesterday.

Tom Bendelow does not think golf is on the wane, having laid out twenty-three new courses this year. He recently laid out two eighteen hole courses at Louisville and lengthened the links of the Detroit Country club to 6,200 yards.

Mrs. A. T. H. Brower, president of the Women's Western Golf association, writes that the recent team match at Toronto was remarkable, as with a single exception all of the twelve matches finished on the home green. Mrs. Brower's caddy lost a ball and this probably cost the western women a win, as they tied. The visitors were royally entertained by the Canadians.

SOX "SUBS" BEAT CLEVELAND, 3 TO 1

Fiene Pitches and Only Three of the Regulars Are in the Lineup.

HOME RUN BY DONOHUE.

His Hard Hit Turns the Tide in One of the Fastest Games of the Season.

Viewed from the recently scaled heights of Pennantville, Napoleon Lajoie's Cleveland invaders appeared so diminutive to Manager Jones yesterday that the White Sox leader elected to humiliate the former terrors with his reserves. With only three of the regulars in the lineup, and Louis Fiene, the Iowa giant, pitching like a seasoned veteran, Comiskey's champions easily earned the victory by the score of 3 to 1 in seventy-five minutes.

Five thousand thirty-third degree loyal rooters braved the threatening weather to give vocal proof of the sincerity of their welcome to the returned conquerors. Every appearance on the field by a champion was the signal for a salvo of applause. No one resented the use of the secondary forces. By common consent Mr. Jones could have introduced a team entirely made up of bench warmers. The strain on the fans had been removed; every one sanctioned the plan of the south side general to save his regulars for the supreme struggle next week.

Not Hit for Five Innings.

Not even a surfeit of joy over the pennant victory could prevent apprehension when Joss, the tall twirler of the visitors, began his stunt of mowing down the White Sox. This feeling was intensified as the monotonous "three up, three out" gave a brevity to the first five innings that made a record breaking major league ball game look imminent. In those five periods, during which Joss must have been in a trance and failed to realize that the league race had been settled, the visiting twirler and his support denied the White Sox the semblance of a hit.

Veteran Eddie Hahn twice tasted defeat in his efforts to get to first base. O'Neil, who cavorted in Manager Jones' garden, also was unable to straighten out Joss' benders. Rohe, who had Tannehill's place at third, and Veteran "Jiggers" Donohue had two faultless times at bat during the monotonous portion of the game. The temporary disgrace of the first baseman, however, was dissipated later.

Visitors First to Score.

Cleveland tried out Feine in two innings, getting one hit, and after Joss had struck out in the third Caffyn pushed out a safety through Dundon, watched Stovall perish by the lightning work of Rohe in shooting across to Donohue and came in with Cleveland's only run on Turner's single to center. Lajoie grounded to Dundon, and only once after that, when the big manager slashed out a double, did the Naps have more than a faint hope of getting another count.

It was left to Quillin, nervous but eager recruit, who was laboring under the handicap of filling the shoes of George Davis at short, to break the hitting ice for the home team with a hit that dug up the turf in right field and was neatly sacrificed by Dundon.

Feine to the Rescue.

Then "Soak 'Em Louis" Fiene doubled to the right field circus seats, sending Quillin in with the run that brought the score to even terms. Hahn's high fly was taken in by Turner, O'Neill got free transportation, but Rohe perished by the high sky route.

At this juncture Manager Jones tried an "enie-meine-mo" count of his happy, indolent, and proud regulars, but the manager took a second thought and decided to let the recruits fight it out. A few words whispered to Donohue had the desired effect. The first baseman sent a drive out to left field that Caffyn failed to reach after a hard effort and easily made the circuit of the bases, putting the Sox a run ahead and loosening the old time south side enthusiasm. Then, for good measure, Dougherty's pass, Roth's Texas leaguer, Quillin's bunt, and a passed ball added another run. Score:

Notes of the White Sox Game.

No player on either side tried to steal a base.

President Comiskey has decided to utilize the roof of his stand for the press during the world's series.

Predicted rain for today not only may interfere with the game but delay the carpenter work at the south side grounds.

But for Donohue's batting in the rally that followed in the seventh inning the game might have been played in record time.

Fiene was not hit hard by any of the visitors, with the exception of Lajoie, and only two flies went to the Chicago outfield.

Fiene used a wide break outshoot that made Bemis look foolish reaching for it. His control was perfect and no Nap walked.

Among the fans who encouraged Catcher Roth to play great ball was a baseball enthusiast who introduced Roth to professional baseball.

Mr. Pulliam left for Louisville last night. He promised to return with the largest delegation of fans the blue grass state ever sent to a post-season series.

Fielder Jones will use as many of his recruits as possible in today's game with Cleveland. Davis still is complaining, and Isbell is not in form.

Stovall had a ridiculous fall in the eighth inning, the result of trying to carry his bat with him to first base. He tripped on the timber and was an easy out, Donohue to Fiene.

Passing the word among them a delegation of fans teased Comiskey after the game on losing the toss for the opening post-season game by a coin that had two tails instead of an obverse and a reverse.

"All there was left of interest in the National league race," said President Pulliam, "was the struggle for honors between Cincinnati and Brooklyn, and the latter seems to be victor for fifth place."

Some of the fans pleaded with the scorers to give Quillin a base hit on his bunt in the seventh inning, but as the ball was fielded to third to catch a runner the western recruit did not get credit for a safety.

"Fiene is a great pitcher," said Comiskey. "Paid him for loafing this year, and he picked up some money with Callahan until the national commission became frightened over the semi-professional teams."

President Harry Pulliam of the National league, President C. W. Murphy of the Cubs, and the Old Roman fraternized after the game, and when Comiskey said he was shy of carpenters to put up extra seats his west side rival guaranteed to loan him ten expert workmen for Monday.

OWNER AND JOCKEY RULED OFF.

A. T. A. Stewards Take Drastic Action in Cases of Perry and Obert—Trainer Hall Loses License.

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 4.—Owner H. J. (Doc) Perry and Jockey Willie Obert were ruled off the turf for life and the license of George Hall, a trainer, was revoked under a ruling announced this afternoon by the stewards of the American Turf association.

The ruling follows an extended investigation into a confession made some days ago by Obert that he pulled the horse Coruscate on the last day of the summer meeting at Latonia. Obert testified that Perry, who owns Coruscate, gave him $500 to do the job. Hall's license was revoked because he had the riding contract on Obert and the jockey testified he had pulled Highland Fling and other horses on the Canadian circuit.

It is understood the investigation is not ended and further developments are expected.

SPUDS WIN GAME, 4 TO 0.

SCORE SHUTOUT ON THE PIRATES WITH MISFIT LINEUP.

Pfiester Holds Pittsburg Batters Safe, While His Teammates Land on Leifield and Pound Out Victory—Rain Stops Contest for a Few Minutes in Sixth Inning—Evers Plays Third, Hofman Short Stop, and Lundgren Second Base.

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 4.—[Special.]—The Spuds won another game today, taking the first game from the Pirates, 4 to 0. Handicaps do not seem to have any effect on the new champions, for, with two-thirds of the regular infield missing, Chance and his men won easily.

The weather man tried to stop the game, but, in spite of his efforts, 2,500 fans turned out to see the team which has made such a wonderful record. A shower stopped the contest for a few minutes at the beginning of the sixth inning, but the Spuds were in the lead at that time, and would have won even if no more rounds were played. The rain stopped and the game continued to the end.

Pfiester the Whole Show.

Little enthusiasm was shown over the game. The Pirates were weakened by the loss of Wagner and Clarke, but the main reason for Pittsburg's failure was Jack Pfiester. The Spud southpaw was effective at all times and did not have to exert himself to win, for his teammates connected with "lefty" Leifield's offerings almost from the start. The Spud infield was badly crippled by the absence of Tinker and Steinfeldt, who have been given leave of absence for a few days. Evers and Chance were the only regulars on hand. Evers was moved over to third and Lundgren was at second, while Hofman played a star game at short. Fred Clarke started the game in left field and made a hit in the first inning and then retired, letting Tommy Sheehan run for him and the Pirates were switched around at once. Sheehan went to third and Leach took Clarke's place. Catcher Phelps was spiked in the first inning and he also retired from the game, Pietz taking his place.

Double Play Stops Spuds.

A double play stopped the Spuds from scoring in the first. Hofman had reached first on a fumble. He went to third on Sheckard's hard grounder to Nealon. When Schulte struck out and had to be thrown out at first, Hofman tried to come home and was caught at the plate.

In the fourth inning the run getting started. Schulte walked after Sheckard was out, Chance grounded to first, and Gessler sent a swift bounder through the pitcher's box, which brought Schulte over the plate. Kling singled and stole second in the fifth and went to third on a passed ball, scoring when Meier fumbled Hofman's grounder.

The rain stopped action only a few minutes in the next round. Schulte had singled and had been forced by Chance and the Chicago manager had added one more stolen base to his list, when O'Day called a stop. When the shower stopped the inning was resumed and Gessler went out on a long fly to left and Lundgren popped out.

Count Two Runs in Ninth.

Chance started a batting rally in the ninth with a two bagger to deep left. Gessler rolled out, and with the infield and outfield playing in close, Lundgren planted a long fly in deep center over Beaumont's head, bringing in Chance. Lundy later scored on Evers' infield hit and a wild throw by Nealon. Score:

Notes of the Spuds' Game.

The Spuds will play at Youngstown, O., tomorrow.

Saturday's game between the Spuds and Pirates will end the season in Pittsburg.

Wagner sat in the grand stand during the game. He probably will not take part in any more games this season.

Kling gave way to Moran in the eighth in order to dress in time for his train. He left for Chicago tonight to rest up a few days before the world's series.

The Pirates came nearer a score in the ninth than at any other time. Two men were out when Ritchey was passed and Peitz hit safely to center. Abstein was sent to bat for Leifield, but he sent a fly to Gessler.

The Cincinnati reds are making their headquarters in Pittsburg this week and will play at Braddock tomorrow. Their game at East Liverpool, O., was canceled today, much to the disappointment of Frank Bancroft, and they watched the Spuds and Pirates play.

BROOKLYN TAKES FIFTH PLACE.

Beats Boston in a Double Header on the Grounds of Tenney's Baseball Team.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 4.—A double header brought the local National league season to a close today, Brooklyn taking both games. Bases on balls converted into runs by hits gave the visitors the first game. Lewis was put out of the game for protesting. The second game was cut to five innings to enable both teams to take the boat train to New York. Brooklyn won by bunching hits. The double victory gave Brooklyn fifth place in the league standing. Jockey Club Stewards Meet.

At yesterday's meeting of Western Jockey club stewards the license of Jockey Wesley Welsh was revoked. Recently a boy was arrested on a metropolitan track charged with pocket picking, and Wesley Welsh's jockey license was found on the lad. Hence yesterday's action. Jockey James M. Stevens was restored to good standing, as were a number of persons who had participated in unlicensed meetings. Licenses were granted to Trainers Daniel Conley, Jane Himy, W. F. King, John Kurt, C. A. Lawson, Charles O'Leary, W. E. Phillips, Robert Steele, Louis Tauber, and Henry Whitaker; Jockeys J. Battiste, William McIntyre, Guy Neal, Edward Nealy, and James Reese; and Apprentices Arthur Delaby, C. Herman Everitt, and Dean Lloyd. Many applications of various kinds were put over.

DAY OF UPSETS AT LEXINGTON RACES

Defeat to Favorites Comes in Many Events and Only One Choice Wins.

KENTUCKY TODD IS FIRST

Captures 2 Year Old Futurity, Bluehill Being Third; Hard Luck for Bailey.

[BY HENRY TEN EYCK WHITE.]

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 4.—[Special.]—The plungers and players of favorites got a succession of hard jolts today, as choice after choice went down to defeat. Trouble began in the 2 year old Futurity, for which the Boston colt, Bluehill, stood third in the summary. Then the plungers bet on Main Sheet at odds of $100 to $35, and he never won a heat. Then Tommy Murphy uncorked a good thing in the 2:16 trot, and, after it had won a heat in 2:08¾, it blew over the fence. Captain Derby in the 2:12 pace was the only favorite to pull through.

Kentucky Todd won the 2 year old Futurity in 2:14¾, 2:16¼, and showed a lot of class. Blue Hill, which took a record of 2:15¾ at Cincinnati, was the choice, but came out sore all over to warm up, and began breaking as soon as the colts scored. Finally, they were sent away to a nice start. Kentucky Todd took the pole at the turn, and marched alone the rest of the mile, gradually increasing his speed until the wire was reached. He was at the quarter in :35, the half in 1:09, the three-quarters in 1:42, and came home seemingly at ease in 2:14¾. United States Senator Bailey's filly, Lucille Marlowe, made a strong finish and came second, beaten a length. Blue Hill was a bad third.

Fierce Start for Bailey's Filly.

The start of the second heat was something fierce for the Bailey filly. Walker gave the word when she was out of position, two lengths back of the others and pacing instead of trotting. Everybody on the track except the judges and the starter saw the error and all supposed it would be remedied, as she was so far behind the distance flag fell in her face.

When the judges declared the filly distanced, the tall Texan was hopping mad. He was gloomy anyhow, as his 3 year old futurity filly, Vera Prodigal, died this morning. She was sick after the futurity race yesterday, other complications ensued, and there was no chance to save her. Kentucky Todd won the second heat as he liked in 2:14¼. The Native getting the place after a hard drive. Blue Hill broke at the three-eighths and never was a contender.

Main Sheet Tires, Norman B. Wins.

The 2:06 trot took three heats to decide. Starting a 3 to 1 favorite over the field, Main Sheet went to the half in the opening mile, then tired, and Snyder McGregor, which had been third all the way, beat both leaders home in 2:07. Norman B. made such a strong finish after breaking on the first turn that he was fancied for the race after this heat, and dragged it off in 2:06¾, 2:07¼, although the finish of the final mile with McGregor was close.

In the second heat Angiola was fussy about scoring with the other horses and was finally sent off an eighth of a mile back of the others, which accounted for her being distanced. McGregor was close.

After the race Main Sheet was worked three more miles in 2:12½, 2:13¼, 2:30, to prepare him for the McDowell purse next week.

Murphy's "Good Thing" Fails.

Tommy Murphy's "good thing" in the 2:14 trot was a handsome stallion called Guy Axworthy, a 4 year old which is slated to succeed his sire in the stud. Belle Isle was favorite at even money against the field and took the opening heat in 2:13, Guy Axworthy finishing eighth. But in the second mile Murphy sent him away and soon had a favorable position from which to make his drive. Belle Isle led to the half in 1:05 and at this point Guy Axworthy was fully three lengths back. The official time of the last half was 1:03¾, making the mile 2:08¾. Separately timed, Guy Axworthy trotted the half mile in 1:02½ and he stepped the homestretch quarter in :30½.

Then it looked to be all over, but in the succeeding miles Axworthy broke on the backstretch and never was in at the finish, Belle Isle winning in 2:11, 2:11¼. Guy Axworthy's mile is the best for the year by a 4 year old trotting stallion. He is out of Lillian Wilkes, 2:17¾, and, although beaten today in his first race, he is a classy nag and is expected to trot 2:05 next season.

Flora Directum to Start.

Charlie Dean arrived today with the 3 year old pacing filly Flora Directum, and will start her in a stake for her age tomorrow. As she will meet Brenda Yorke, 2:08¾, and Kelly, 2:10, the filly is not expected to win, but she paced the Springfield (Ill.) track in 2:11¼ so handily the other day that Dean thinks she may get a piece of the money.

The Transylvania is to be decided tomorrow and will be a great betting race, with Mack Mack and Nutboy the favorites. Solon Grattan will get some backing from the Chicagoans here, and is deemed good for a couple of miles in 2:08.

Big Betting on Transylvania.

The betting tonight on the Transylvania was terrific, exceeding in amount anything seen for years. Over $80,000 had been played in the auction pools when the boxes were closed for the night. Early tomorrow speculation will be resumed. In all the betting the California horse, Mack Mack, was the choice, with Brilliant Girl, also from the coast, a strong second choice. Some of the pools aggregated over $2,500, and in all of them the Chicago horse, Solon Grattan, was well supported. His owner, John R. Thompson, is here, and he and his friends are backing the horse.

A sample pool: Mack Mack, $800; Brilliant Girl, $500; Solon Grattan, $400; Nut Boy, $400; Allie Jay, $100; Charles Belden, $100; Elmilagro, $55; Lake Queen, $35; Morone, $35; Emboy, $35; the field, consisting of The Phantom and Margaretto, $10.

Mack Mack Is Sold.

George A. Graves and Charles H. Traiser, both of Boston, tonight purchased the McKinney gelding Mack Mack from J. R. Bowles of Portland, Ore., for $10,000.

NAME MEN FOR BIG GAMES

OFFICIALS FOR WESTERN FOOTBALL CONTESTS ANNOUNCED.

Conference Committee Chooses 43 Former Stars of Gridiron, Both East and West, to Referee or Umpire—Six from Chicago and Five from Michigan—Walter Camp Here Today to Interpret New Rules at Meeting of Coaches and Players.

Officials for the football games of the conference colleges this fall were selected in a body by the committee chosen by the "big nine" representatives last winter at a special meeting held at the Chicago Beach hotel last night. Forty-three of the most prominent men that ever wore moleskins are included in the list.

All the best officials the west ever has had, some that have done the best work in the east, and many just out of college and still in the athletic limelight are named.

The three members of the committee—Dr. J. E. Raycroft of Chicago, Prof. Moran of Purdue, and Prof. Smith of Iowa—agreed on the officials without any hitch in the proceedings.

"I regard the west fortunate to have such men as officials," declared Dr. Raycroft after the meeting. "I do not believe the east will have a finer lot of men to decide its games. We not only have the best of the west, but as good as the best of the east. I think these officials will have much to do with smoothing out trouble over the new rules."

Following is the list selected:

G. B. Walbridge, Lafayette.
E. Wrenn, Harvard.
Lieut. Kromer, West Point.
R. D. Starbuck, Cornell.
C. McCarthy, Brown.
W. Edwards, Princeton.
R. Hoagland, Princeton.
H. Hadden, Michigan.
Ralph Davis, Indiana.
H. H. Hackett, West Point.
J. De Witt, Princeton.
C. A. Reinhardt, Lafayette.
A. Kelley, Princeton.
Phil Allen, Chicago.
Henry Gale, Chicago.
W. McCornack, Dartmouth.
Neil Snow, Michigan.
Henry Clark, Chicago.
R. Hammill, Chicago.
N. Burkland, Illinois.
F. Lowenthal, Illinois.
J. Hollister, Beloit.
J. A. Foster, Cornell.
J. F. Darby, Cornell.
Dave Fultz, Brown.
F. Hollister, Michigan.
Jake Stahl, Illinois.
J. Hunter, Northwestern.
A. P. Jameson, Purdue.
J. W. Esterline, Purdue.
W. Kennedy, Chicago.
Rex Kennedy, Chicago.
R. O. Bard, Princeton.
Dr. Stauffer, Pennsylvania.
F. O. Porter, Cornell.
C. Redden, Michigan.
C. M. Thorne, Northwestern.
O. D. Mann, Syracuse.
C. Kilpatrick, Syracuse.
R. Bourland, Michigan.
Roy Keehn, Indiana.
Dixie Fleager, Northwestern.
J. Lindgren, Illinois.

Camp Here to Interpret Rules.

Football authorities and players in the middle west will meet in a conference at the Chicago Beach hotel this morning to talk over the new rules with Walter Camp, dean of the American college game, who is making a special trip west to interpret and make clear the tangles of the new code.

It is estimated that from 70 to 100 coaches, players, and officials will be present at the opening session. All the conference coaches, including Stagg, Williams of Minnesota, Lindgren of Illinois, Sheldon of Indiana, and Chalmers of Iowa, will take part in the discussion. Every man who ever officiated in a game in the west is invited.

Discussion probably will center around the ten yards rule, the forward pass, and the onside kick, which seem to be the chief elements of the new rules. Mr. Camp is the author of the ten yards rule, the sponsor for the forward pass, and an exponent of the onside kick.

Camp to Explain Rules.

No formal program has been mapped out, but it is stated officially that Mr. Camp will read a paper of his opinions on every angle of the new code of rules. This essay will be similar to the one he read at the eastern conference. Director Stagg, a member of the rules committee with Mr. Camp, also will express his views. Free discussion then will follow the remarks of the two leaders, in which every one present will be given an opportunity to state his views, and Mr. Camp will endeavor to interpret them and explain the possibilities of the new game.

It is thought the work of the conference will be completed in one day.

Stagg Expects Freshmen to Win.

"I predict the freshmen will lick the regulars," said the maroon chieftain after practice yesterday. "We have some mighty good men in the freshman ranks, and some that are hardly varsity material in the lineup of their opponents. I'll bank a few peas on the freshies."

This will be the first occasion Chicagoans will have of seeing the game played under the new rules. The forward pass, with a dozen variations, will be tried by both elevens, while the onside kick, double passes, criss crosses, wing plays, and fair catches will be attempted. Everything Stagg has taught his men in the four days' practice will be shown.

Little success is expected with the new plays. Stagg believes his men have not had near enough practice, and declares it will take three weeks' more work before they will be able to show up satisfactorily. Practice yesterday was of the midseason order. It consisted of three hours' work, in which every preliminary was tried, with a topping off of a little tackling in the open field, Eckersall booting the ball to the backs. Steffen showed wonderful ability in dodging, while Walker and Iddings made the ends look ridiculous.

LAKE FOREST ACADEMY.

Coach Clarence B. Herschberger, once Stagg's star kicker, has a promising lot of new material to work with at Lake Forest academy. Five old men of last year's victorious team have returned—Capt. Schnur, quarterback; Oswald and Peters, ends; De Broulahart and Frost, halfbacks.

The new men include Bedell, the 220 pound tackle from Fairbury High school; Savage, halfback on Beloit last year; Runkle of Macomb normal; Hotchkins and Simon from West Division. The team should win most of its games and Manager Watkins announces the following schedule:

Oct. 13—East Side High school of Milwaukee at Lake Forest.
Oct. 20—Open.
Oct. 27—Northwestern Milwaukee academy at Highland Park.
Nov. 3—Culver M. A. at Culver.
Nov. 6—Evanston High school at Lake Forest.
Nov. 10—University High at Lake Forest.
Nov. 17—Morgan Park at Morgan Park.

Ellsworth Under the Knife.

"Shorty" Ellsworth, formerly captain of the University of Chicago football team, now coach of the Colorado School of Mines eleven, is seriously ill in Golden, Colo. He was operated on Monday for an injury to his thigh. Ellsworth rallied from the operation and at last reports was resting easily.

Tom Hammond's Team Wins.

Memphis, Tenn., Oct. 4.—[Special.]—Maryville college was beaten today by the University of Mississippi football eleven, 16 to 6. The Mississippians were coached by Tom Hammond, formerly a Michigan player.

High School Football Notes.

Lack of material at Wendell Phillips has put that team behind the other schools. There have not been enough players for two teams, thus preventing scrimmage work. Nevertheless, the boys are confident of beating R. T. Crane tomorrow.

Oak Park plays its first game with Evanston tomorrow and a score of aspirants were given a strenuous scrimmage yesterday afternoon by Capt. Overstreet. The material is fine, averaging 160 pounds, and they go into the game with much spirit.

North Division did not play Chicago Latin yesterday, as the latter did not appear. Capt. Dornblaser called out the scrubs and gave the regulars the ball to develop the offense, which in the game with Hoyne was weak, and after a forty and twenty minute halves the first eleven showed a great improvement.

BOWLER MAKES PERFECT SCORE

H. Strassheim of the Edgewater Team in the Colonna League Makes 12 Successive Strikes.

Rolling with the Edgewater team in the Colonna league last night, Henry Strassheim cleared the alleys twelve successive times for a perfect score of 300. His average was 233 2-3.

In the Monroe league the Centurys averaged 937 2-3 and twice defeated the Tuxedos, who notched 947 1-3. The Sunsets blanked the Brunswicks. Scores:

HAMILTON VOSE LEADS GOLFERS.

Representative of Milwaukee Returns Low Score in Chicago Tournament.

VETERANS IN CUP PLAY.

W. H. Comstock of Home Club Wins Age Limit Handicap Event.

Hamilton Vose of Milwaukee, one of the most consistent of western veterans, yesterday led a field of fifty-one starters in the qualifying round for the Chicago cup, the chief trophy of the annual open tournament of the Chicago Golf club.

Playing in misty weather over a course wet with showers, the Milwaukee player celebrated his first appearance in a local tournament for three years by getting a total of 79, two strokes lower than that made by Kenneth P. Edwards, the young Midlothian representative.

Jarvis Hunt was the only home player to qualify in the first two flights, but W. H. Comstock made amends by winning the age limit handicap, open to players of fifty years of age and over. This event appears to gain in popularity, and yesterday twenty-eight of the old boys started and finished. Comstock had an allowance of 23 and finished one stroke ahead of W. H. Freeman. Ald. Badenoch for the third time finished close to the winner. Calvin S. Smith and Charles E. Willard had best gross totals of 92.

Albert Seckel of Riverside and A. B. Caldwell tied for low net score in the open handicap and will have to play off. Six players tied for the four last places in the third flight cup. V. Shaw Kennedy withdrew, and Frank Hall, after waiting to play off the tie, also withdrew. In the afternoon the sun came out and ideal golfing weather succeeded the gloom of the morning. Summary:

ENTER FOR GOLF TOURNAMENT.

Sixty-nine Women Qualify for National Championship at Brae Burn Next Week.

New York, Oct. 4.—[Special.]—Sixty-nine entries appear on the list of entries given out today by Secretary Morgan of the United States Golf association for the women's national golf championship next week at Brae Burn Country club, near Boston.

The list includes Miss Pauline Mackay, the title holder, but does not include Miss Bishop, champion of 1905. Her friends say her entry has been sent and Mrs. Sanford has named her for the eastern team to play the western women on Saturday. Including all points there are fifteen western entries, with single entries from the south and Canada. New England makes a strong entry, but the representation from Philadelphia and New York clubs is lighter than in other years. The western and leading entries are as follows:

Brae Burn Country club—Miss Margaret B. Cobb.
Country club, Brookline—Miss Louise A. Wells, Miss Elizabeth S. Porter, Miss Emily N. Lockwood, Miss Fanny G. Osgood.
Country club, Springfield—Miss M. Coats, Mrs. Arthur E. Hedstrom, Miss Anita E. Phillips, Miss H. M. Carr.
Denver Country club—Mrs. George W. Roope.
Evanston Golf club, Chicago—Miss Isabella Smith, Mrs. A. T. H. Brower.
Edgewater Golf club, Chicago—Miss Marion F. Warren, Mrs. E. C. Berriman.
Englewood Golf club, N. J.—Miss Julia R. Mix, Mrs. S. F. Lefferts.
Essex County Country club—Mrs. E. F. Sanford.
Essex County club, Mass.—Miss H. S. Curtis, Mrs. E. P. Whitney.
Fall River—Miss Kate C. Harley.
Exmoor, Chicago—Miss Frances Everett.
Hamilton Golf club, Canada—Miss Phepoe.
Homewood Country club, Chicago—Miss Ruth C. Steele.
Hinsdale Golf club, Chicago—Mrs. Frane Anderson.
Huntingdon Valley Country club—Mrs. Caleb F. Fox, Mrs. W. G. Miller.
Lake Geneva Country club—Mrs. H. A. Beidler.
Merion Cricket club—Mrs. R. H. Barlow, Miss Frances C. Griscom.
Midlothian Country club, Chicago—Miss Myra Helmer, Mrs. Charles L. Dering.
Oakley Country club—Miss Mary C. Dutton, Miss Pauline Mackay.
Palmetto Golf club—Mrs. C. M. Hinckle.
Riverton Country club—Miss Florence N. Ayres.
San Francisco Golf and Country club—Mrs. R. Gilman Brown.
St. Louis Country club—Miss Grace Semple.
Wollaston Golf club—Miss Mary B. Adams.

Soccer Football Notes.

Soccer football is growing all over Illinois. The Illinois Central league with eight clubs is the latest to get in line.

The Chicago club will leave tomorrow night to play at St. Louis on Sunday. The team will be as follows: Roberts, goal; James and Dixon, backs; Williamson, Scott, and S. Govier, half backs; J. Evans, D. Thompson, J. Watt, R. Govier, and A. Shallcross, forwards.

ROAD'S FREE REN[T] IS CALLED REBAT[E]

Rock Island Official Forced [to] Admit Grain Company Gets Privilege.

STICKNEY IS UNDER FIR[E]

Interstate Commerce Commi[s]sion Hears More Testimony [...] on Traffic.

H. Gower, freight traffic manager of [the] Rock Island system, admitted on the w[it]ness stand at the hearing before the inte[r]state commerce commission yesterday that [in] effect his road is paying rebates to the Rosenbaum Grain company. The rebat[es] take the form of free rent for the elevat[or] at Kansas City belonging to the Rock Isla[nd] which the Rosenbaum company has und[er] lease. While making this admission in [re]gard to his own company, Mr. Gower d[e]clared that the 1¼ cents per 100 pounds whi[ch] the Union Pacific pays the Peavey compa[ny] for elevating its own grain is in effect [a] rebate, and that its payment has forced t[he] Rock Island for competitive reasons to ma[ke] its questionable arrangement with the Ro[sen]baum company.

Mr. Gower, on taking the stand, stated [he] wished to explain the contract between [the] line and the Rosenbaum company relati[ng] to the elevator at Kansas City. Mr. Rose[n]baum, he said, built the elevator on the Ro[ck] Island's tracks at the road's request an[d] with the understanding that the railwa[y] would buy it from him for what it cost an[d] then lease it to him for an annual rent[al] amounting to 5 per cent of the investmen[t]. The cost proved to be $257,252.29, including, Mr. Gower said, $4,135.75 which was paid t[o] Rosenbaum not to compensate him for h[is] trouble in building an elevator for his ow[n] use, but as interest on the money he had ex[pended] and been out of pocket up to t[he time] the Rock Island bought the property.

Tells of Deal with Rosenbaum.

Thus far the witness had explained every[thing] to the satisfaction of the commission[ers]. It was when he started to tell why the Rock Island discontinued paying Rosenbaum 1¼ cents for elevating his own grain that he go[t] into trouble.

"There had been some trouble over rent," he said, "and finally on July 1 it was agreed that the payment of the allowance should be suspended, and that during the suspension of the allowance the rent should be re[...]mitted."

"Do you mean to say the Rock Island is giving Rosenbaum that elevator rent free?" demanded Mr. Clark.

"Yes, sir," was the response.

"Can you see any difference in giving $5,[...]000 in the form of rent and $5,000 in the form of a cash rebate? Aren't they in principle the same thing?"

Mr. Gower meditated a moment and then replied: "Well, to be exact, I suppose giving free rent, like paying an allowance, is in effect the same as giving a rebate."

"Yes, one's a rebate and the other a re[...]bating 'device,'" retorted the commissioner.

All the Rock Island's contracts with the Rosenbaum company were produced at th[e] hearing, but it was decided not to examin[e] them until a general hearing under the La Follette resolution is held.

Stickney's Line Is Under Fire.

A. B. Stickney's line, the Chicago Gre[at] Western, one of the roads complaining abou[t] the Union Pacific's allowance, was also unde[r] fire during the day. One of its tariffs w[as] produced which provides for a charge o[f] one-eighth cent for storage for each te[n] days' grain left in its elevator at Kansa[s] City after expiration of the free storag[e] period. The charge may, however, the tarif[f] provide, be remitted if the delay be cause[d] by the failure of the road to take out grai[n] which has been ordered out by the owner[.] Frank T. Heffelfinger of the Peavey Grai[n] company asserted on the witness stand tha[t] under this tariff a freight agent might grant valuable and unlawful favors to a favored shipper with whom he acted in collusion.

J. A. Monroe, freight traffic manager of th[e] Union Pacific at Omaha, took the witnes[s] stand to defend his road's contract with the Peavey company. He denied that the 1¼ cents' allowance to the Peavey company i[s] in the nature of a rebate.

"It smells just as sweet under the new name, doesn't it?" asked Mr. Green, counsel for the Burlington.

Mr. Monroe contended that peculiar con[di]tions made necessary the payment of an allowance at Omaha in order to prevent grain from being diverted from that point to other markets. Frank T. Heffelfinger elaborated at length on the same point.

Different Rates for Same Work.

James Pettit, president of the Peavey Grain company, who took the stand to defend his company's contract with the Union Pacific at Omaha, was forced to admit before he re[...]tired that the Peavey elevators in Chicago get only ¼ of a cent per 100 pounds for ren[der]ing the same service for which the Peavey elevators in Omaha get 1¼ cents.

It is expected that the hearing of testimony in the case will end today, and that the members of the commission will leave for Washington this evening or tomorrow morning.

SOUTHEASTERN RATE FIGHT WILL BE RENEWED HERE.

Commercial Association Acts with Cincinnati Interests to Secure Readjustment of Schedules.

It has been settled by the commercial interests of Chicago and Cincinnati that they shall coöperate in renewing their endeavors to secure a readjustment under the new rate law of the southeastern rate situation. To that end they will institute proceedings which probably will test the provision of the law empowering the interstate commerce commission to fix rates.

The final decision was reached at a conference between H. C. Barlow, executive director of the Chicago Commercial association, and the traffic committee of the Cincinnati Receivers' and Shippers' association in Cincinnati.

The fight which it has been decided to renew is an old one. The shippers of cities in the central west have been striving for years to get the railroads to grant them more favorable rates on manufactured articles to the southeast as compared with those granted to the shippers of cities on the Atlantic seaboard. It was in passing upon a case brought by the Cincinnati chamber of commerce and the Chicago freight bureau that the United States supreme court in 1897 handed down its opinion holding that under the original interstate commerce act the commission was not empowered to fix new rates.

Beginning Oct. 10, the Southern Pacific will make a 25 per cent reduction in its tariff on commodities under refrigeration. On the new basis articles requiring refrigeration will be hauled at the same rates as articles which do not require it.

ROAD'S FREE RENT IS CALLED REBATE

Rock Island Official Forced to Admit Grain Company Gets Privilege.

Interstate Commerce Commission Hears More Testimony on Traffic.

H. Gower, freight traffic manager of the Rock Island system, admitted on the witness stand at the hearing before the interstate commerce commission yesterday that in effect his road is paying rebates to the J. Rosenbaum Grain company. The rebates take the form of free rent for the elevator at Kansas City belonging to the Rock Island which the Rosenbaum company has under lease. While making this admission in regard to his own company, Mr. Gower declared that the 1¼ cents per 100 pounds which the Union Pacific pays the Peavey company for elevating its own grain is in effect a rebate, and that its payment has forced the Rock Island for competitive reasons to make its questionable arrangement with the Rosenbaum company.

Mr. Gower, on taking the stand, stated he wished to explain the contract between his line and the Rosenbaum company relating to the elevator at Kansas City. Mr. Rosenbaum, he said, built the elevator on the Rock Island's tracks at the road's request and with the understanding that the railway could buy it from him for what it cost and then lease it to him for an annual rental amounting to 5 per cent of the investment. The cost proved to be $257,252.29, including, Mr. Gower said, $4,155.75 which was paid to Rosenbaum not to compensate him for his ability in building an elevator for his own use but as interest on the money he had expended and been out of pocket up to the time the Rock Island bought the property.

Tells of Deal with Rosenbaum.

Thus far the witness had explained everything to the satisfaction of the commission. It was when he started to tell why the Rock Island discontinued paying Rosenbaum 1¼ cents for elevating his own grain that he got into trouble.

"There had been some trouble over rent," he said, "and finally on July 1 it was agreed that the payment of the allowance should be suspended, and that during the suspension of the allowance the rent should be remitted."

"Do you mean to say the Rock Island is giving Rosenbaum that elevator rent free?" demanded Mr. Clark.

"Yes, sir," was the response.

"Yes; one's a rebate and the other a rebating 'device,'" retorted the commissioner.

All the Rock Island's contracts with the Rosenbaum company were produced at the hearing, but it was decided not to examine them until a general hearing under the La Follette resolution is held.

Underwriters' Association Closes Two Days' Session at the Auditorium Hotel with the Election of Officers —William L. King of Chicago Honored with the Presidency—Three Papers Read, Each Advocating Change from Present Policy.

Mrs. Gertrude B. Blackwelder, president of the Chicago Woman's club, has the honor of being the first woman who ever has appeared on the program of the Fire Underwriters' Association of the Northwest, the largest fire insurance organization in the world, which closed its two days' convention in the Auditorium hotel yesterday.

Mrs. Blackwelder was introduced as an "insurance woman," as her husband is a prominent underwriter. She declared that the insurance business was based on cooperation rather than competition, showing a greater advancement in this direction than most activities. Mrs. Blackwelder sees in the insurance business much good fellowship and a fine camaraderie. She took occasion to tell of the work of the Chicago Woman's club.

Chicago Man Is President.

Officers were elected at the close of the afternoon session as follows:

President—William L. King, Chicago.

Vice president—Clarence G. Meeker, Sycamore, Ill.

Secretary—N. E. Briggs, Chicago.

Treasurer—W. R. Townley, Chicago.

Board of directors—F. E. Barney, Minneapolis; W. P. Benton, Indianapolis; C. L. Hecox, Columbus, O.; A. A. Maloney, Kansas City; B. T. Duffey, Detroit; George E. Redfield, F. C. Haselton, C. E. Mann, and Robert S. Odell, Chicago.

The morning session was filled with underwriting pyrotechnics. There were three papers, and all gave expression to sentiment that is not prevalent in company circles.

Louis S. Amonson of Philadelphia believed that it was time for the insurance people and the public to form a community of interest, so that the fire waste could be reduced and the cost of insurance correspondingly be decreased. He declared that if the business men were approached in the proper spirit he felt assured that they would join hands with the underwriting fraternity in an effort to minimize arson, carelessness, and the various causes that contribute to the annual ash heap.

State Agent Opposes Central Policy.

The paper of Fred S. Penfield of Indianapolis, state agent of the Germania, caused comment. Mr. Penfield decried the centralizing of rate making and the rate promulgation power in the hands of a company organization covering the entire west. In this expression he was running counter to the policy that recently has been put into effect, and hence was bold enough to condemn a line of action that had been completed by his superiors.

E. J. Tapping of Milwaukee, president of the National Association of Local Fire Insurance Agents, also brought his grievances to the western managers of companies. He took the ground that if the companies endeavored to destroy the local agents' national organization it would pass into the hands of the radical element and the companies would find that the association movement would soon drift into extreme trades union principles.

CHARGE OF HERESY DISMISSED.

New York Methodist Episcopal Conference Refuses to Put the Rev. H. G. Mitchell on Trial.

Rochester, N. Y., Oct. 4.—The heresy charges brought against the Rev. H. G. Mitchell by the Rev. George A. Cook were dismissed today by the Central New York Methodist Episcopal conference, in session at Penn Yan. The committee which investigated the charges reported that in their judgment the specifications do not contain sufficient grounds to warrant the conference in proceeding to a trial. It is understood, however, that the charges will be preferred in another form at the next conference.

Fishing at Washington Park.

The south park commissioners announced yesterday that the fishing season at Washington park will open next Monday. Fishing is said to be unusually good at the park this season.

A Reasonable Plea For The Stomach

If Your Stomach Is Lacking in Digestive Power, Why Not Help the Stomach Do Its Work—Especially When It Costs Nothing To Try?

Not with drugs, but with a reinforcement of digestive agents, such as are naturally at work in the stomach? Scientific analysis shows that digestion requires pepsin, nitrogenous ferments, and the secretion of hydrochloric acid. When your food fails to digest, it is proof positive that some of these agents are lacking in your digestive apparatus.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets contain nothing but these natural elements necessary to digestion and when placed at work in the weak stomach and small intestines, supply what these organs need. They stimulate the gastric glands and gradually bring the digestive organs back to their normal condition.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have been subjected to critical chemical tests at home and abroad and are found to contain nothing but natural digestives.

Chemical Laboratory. Telegraphic address, "Diffindo," London. Telephone No. 11029 Central. 20 Cullom St., Fenchurch St., E. C.

London, 9th Aug., 1905.

I have analyzed most carefully a box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets (which I bought myself at a city chemist's shop for the purpose), manufactured by the F. A. Stuart Co., Temple Chambers, London, E. C., and have to report that I cannot find any trace of vegetable or mineral poisons. Knowing the ingredients of the tablets, I am of opinion that they are admirably adaptable for the purpose for which they are intended.

(Signed) John R. Brooke, F. I. C., F. C. S.

There is no secret in the preparation of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. Their composition is commonly known among physicians, as is shown by the recommendations of 40,000 licensed physicians in the United States and Canada. They are the most popular of all remedies for indigestion, dyspepsia, water brash, insomnia, loss of appetite, melancholia, constipation, dysentery and kindred diseases originating from improper dissolution and assimilation of foods, because they are thoroughly reliable and harmless to man or child.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are at once a safe and a powerful remedy, one grain of these tablets being strong enough (by test) to digest 3,000 grains of steak, eggs and other foods. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will digest your food for you when your stomach can't.

Ask your druggist for a fifty cent package or send to us direct for a free trial sample package and you will be surprised at the result. F. A. Stuart Co., 64 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

If You Pay the Price of Linen Collars Be Sure You Get Linen

If the collars you buy are not stamped "Linen" they're cotton!

"High-grade," "Specially Shrunk," "Best Made" and such high-sounding terms do not mean Linen—they mean to deceive you and make you forget you are buying cotton!

If you pay 15c. (2 for 25c.) for collars you ought to get real Linen collars. Because Triangle Brand Collars are lawfully stamped "Linen" and cost you only 15c., instead of the 25c. you thought linen collars cost.

Besides being Linen, Triangle Collars are 4-ply—just one-third more value than some 15c. (2 for 25c.) collars, which are 3-ply. And the "Three-thread Eyelet" buttonhole is always easy to button and hard to wear out.

Any style you've been used to you can get in Triangle Linen Collars for 15c. (2 for 25). Every collar of the 150 styles is guaranteed Linen—see the "Linen" stamp. If your dealer hasn't the style you want, write us and we'll see you get it.

ANOTHER fact about Devoe Lead and Zinc Paint which you may underestimate:

Any painter can mix white lead, zinc, linseed oil, color and turpentine dryer together; many make that kind of paint.

If it were in the same proportions, and mixed in the same way as Devoe, and of as good materials, it would be as good paint.

But we mix by machinery perfectly, the painter mixes by hand, imperfectly. Devoe paint is ready to use; but you pay for the painter's time.

REAL ESTATE—COUNTRY.

FOR SALE—A DELIGHTFUL COUNTRY HOME for a gentleman—$35,000 will buy a beautiful spot within one hour's ride of Chicago which has all the pleasures of the country with none of the annoyances of country life. For a man of means, who is looking for a country home where he can take his family and friends and enjoy fine boating, fishing, and hunting, and still run into Chicago during the day if necessary, this is the ideal place. It is 160 acres, one-half being a very pretty lake, which is clear spring water, well stocked with pickerel, bass, and other fish, and which is a great place for wild ducks. The drinking water from the springs is pure, cool, and health giving. There is a good magnesia spring on the place. There are the ordinary farm buildings, and also an old fashioned stone grist mill, driven by a 75 horse power turbine water wheel, which is run by the overflow from the lake. As the owner has a large country home adjoining, this place will only be sold to very desirable parties. A good profit can be made by running the mill. Address D F 304, Tribune.

Politician Guilty of Fraud.

Springfield, Mo., Oct. 4.—James B. Dodson, an attorney of this city, was found guilty by a jury in the federal court yesterday of having made false affidavits in a land entry before the United States land office here. Dodson is prominent in politics and recently announced that he would make the race for the republican nomination for governor two years hence.

TRADERS HEAR WAR SONGS

VICKSBURG VETERANS MEET ON THE GRAIN EXCHANGE.

Jules Lumbard Sings During Meeting Held to Discuss Plans for Raising Funds in Connection with Meeting of Survivors at Vicksburg—First Regiment May Make the Trip—I. P. Rumsey Is Chairman—Experiences Recalled.

Old war songs succeeded the bedlam of pit noise on the board of trade yesterday. Men who participated for Illinois and the union in the memorable campaign about Vicksburg gathered with members of the younger generation in the visitors' room of the big exchange and worked up interest in the forthcoming reunion of union soldiers who took part in the Vicksburg campaign.

Although held at the board of trade, the meeting was "all Chicago." The principal purpose was to arrange for a fund to send the First regiment of the Illinois National guard to participate in the meeting of survivors of the memorable fight, to be held at Vicksburg Oct. 25, 26, and 27. I. P. Rumsey presided as chairman of the meeting, at which Gen. Joseph Stockton, Maj. George B. Heafford, Col. C. R. E. Koch, Gen. G. B. Raum, Judge W. G. Patton of Springdale, Ark., and others made short addresses.

Jules Lumbard Furnishes Songs.

Jules Lumbard, patriarch singer of old war songs, enlivened the meeting with the airs and words that went so far toward buoying up the spirits of the men in blue. Fred Root, son of George F. Root, composer of many popular army songs, also lent to the musical program.

A committee composed of Joseph Rosenbaum, C. H. Taylor, Capt. James McElroy, H. C. Gray, E. Mathews, H. H. Carr, F. R. Warner, T. C. Smith, I. P. Rumsey, George C. Ball, and George Mendson was appointed to solicit funds for the carrying out of the plans.

Recall Patriotism of Traders.

Intermingled with the songs and the addresses was a steady run of reminiscence relative to the part that the board of trade played in the civil war. Through the efforts of the exchange three regiments were organized and equipped—officially known as the Seventy-second, Eighty-eighth, and One Hundred and Thirteenth Illinois. Gen. Joseph Stockton was the commander of the Seventy-second, the first of the board of trade regiments to be organized, and Maj. Heafford was among the first signers of the muster roll.

CALL TIME ON WATCH TRUST.

Speakers in Democratic Congressional Campaign Provided with Evidence as to Cheaper Price Abroad.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 4. — [Special.] — Watches are being distributed among its speakers by the democratic congressional committee to prove its contention that the watch trust sells time pieces cheaper abroad than at home. The idea is in this way, to make a practical demonstration of trust methods of selling abroad at prices less than those charged the home consumer. These watches were sold in England and reimported at a cost of freight added, less than the price to the American dealer. They cost the committee $7.98 each. The trust price here is $10.58. Each watch is accompanied by a tag containing the number and history of the movement and a case showing when and to whom sold, and at what price. In this way the sale abroad and reimportation can be verified.

IN THE NEW YORK MARKETS.

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—The dry goods market was strong and active today. An advance in staple ginghams was announced. Lines of denims have been advanced ½c a yard and southern colored goods are much stronger. Printing cloths are active at advancing prices. Raw silk is higher and more active. Cloakings are being sold in fancy lines quite rapidly and dress goods are selling more freely.

Metals—There was a strong advance in London tin, led by the spot position, which closed at £195 2s 6d, while futures were quoted at £194. Locally spot is quoted at $42.40@42.60. Copper was higher in London, with spot quoted at £90 and futures at £92 15s. Locally lake is quoted at $20.25@20.50; electrolytic, $19.75@20.25; casting, $19.50@20.00. Lead was 2s 6d higher, at £18 17s 6d in London. Locally the market was dull at $5.75@6.00. Spelter was 2s 6d lower at £27 5s in London. Locally the market was steady, with spot held at $6.10@6.20, or a shade higher on the average. Iron was higher in the English market, with standard foundry quoted at 54s 6d and Cleveland warrants at 55s. Locally the market was firm, with No. 1 foundry $21.00@22.00; No. 2 foundry, north, $20.50@22.00; No. 1 foundry, southern, $21.00@21.50; No. 2 foundry, southern, $20.50@21.00.

Antimony—The demand for antimony is more active and the market is stronger. On November-December shipments of antimony from Europe moderate premiums are still being secured. The leading buyers are withholding their purchases for 1907 requirements, but as refiners have sold practically their entire capacity for this year it is not expected that any lower figures will be reached. Cookson's is quoted at 25@25½c, Hallett's at 24@24½c, other brands 22¼@23c. In London Hallett's continues firm at £110 and ordinary brands remain firm at £105.

Butter—Firm; receipts, 9,085; street price, extra creamery, 26c; official prices unchanged. Butter at Philadelphia—Firm; good demand; extra western creamery, official price, 26c; street price, 26½c; extra nearby prints, 28c.

Eggs—Unchanged; receipts, 10,688. Eggs at Philadelphia—Firm; good demand; nearby fresh and western fresh, 25c, at mark.

Poultry—Alive nominal; western chickens, 14c; fowls, 14c; turkeys, 14c; dressed irregular; western chickens, 12@16c; spring turkeys, 16@22c; fowls, 12@15c.

FIX BLAME FOR $71,000 STEAL.

J. Henry Fischer Found Guilty of Big Theft from West Virginia Building Association.

Parkersburg, W. Va., Oct. 4.—J. Henry Fischer was today found guilty of embezzling $71,000 of the money of the defunct Homestead Building association. He was accused of embezzlement jointly with Robert Alexander, who died four months ago.

STOCKS DEEP IN THE RUT.

PRICES DRIFTING THROUGHOUT GREATER PART OF SESSION.

Early Spurt in Shares Followed by Weakening, Close Being Irregular—Money Rates Continue to Relax Both in United States and Abroad—Bond Tone Is Firm on Improved Demand Both in America and Europe—Quotations on Call.

[BY A SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—[Special.]—Stocks were deep in the rut today, prices drifting for the greater part of the session. There was an early spurt, then prices weakened, the close being irregular.

The money market continued to relax both here and abroad. Discounts yielded in London and Paris in spite of the weak [illegible] of the government banks, owing to the [illegible] of the October settlements. Early return of resources thus disbursed is expected there as here. The financial community was favorably impressed by the plan of currency reform presented by the committee of the chamber of commerce. Intimations that additional portions of the $26,000,000 of government deposits would be available to New York banks were accepted as an additional safeguard for the money situation here.

There was an improvement in demand here and there in the bond market, and the tone was firm. Total sales, par value, $[illegible]. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

Money on call firm, 3@5½ per cent; ruling rate, 5 per cent; closing bids, 3 per cent; offered at 4 per cent; time loans easier; 60 days and 90 days and 6 months, 6 per cent. Close: Prime mercantile paper, 6¼@7 per cent; sterling exchange steady, with actual business in bankers' bills at 482.[illegible] @483.70 for demand and at 479.75@479.80 for 60 day bills; commercial bills, 479¼@479¾; bar silver, 68¾; Mexican dollars, 53; government bonds steady; railroad bonds firm.

WHEAT DULL AND EASIER.

CEREAL WEAKENS AFTER SCORING A SLIGHT ADVANCE.

While Pressure Is Not Pronounced Market Gives Ready Response to Selling—Valentine Deal Continues as Foremost Topic of Gossip—Liberal Argentine Exports Estimated—Firmness Displayed in Coarse Grains.

The wheat market yesterday had a steady and a fall down. Only at infrequent intervals did the trade suggest anything bordering on even moderate activity, expected [illegible] porters holding back for developments [illegible] bears indulging only mildly in a pressing movement, although the market gave ready response to the weight of their offerings.

As was the case in the previous session everybody was on the lookout for a Valentine move, but, while some traders seemed confident that a good part of the wheat handed out came from the recently acquired Valentine line, the prevailing impression was that the holdings were kept practically intact.

The traders had much time to devote to unraveling of the mystery of Oct. 2, when the former president of the Armour Grain company bought an estimated lot of 2,500,000 bu of December and May wheat. Some of the keenest ferrets credited the purchases to Schwab and a few of his eastern friends; others saw the hand of Adolph Lichstern behind the deal, and others could not shake off the belief that the wheat was for Valentine and Valentine alone. The uncertainty of things had much to do toward restricting general activity. The market closed at declines of ⅛@¼c for December and ⅜@½c for May, after ruling ¼@¾c above the close of the day before.

Northwest Expects Larger Receipts.

Liverpool was a shade firmer early, but closed unchanged to ⅛d off. Receipts at Duluth and Minneapolis were 705 cars, well in excess of those of a week before, but 24 cars less than those of the corresponding day last year. Figuring that the movement soon would show a good increase, northwestern operators pressed the markets here and at Minneapolis at times. It came from various sources that fully 400,000 bu of the good export business reported the day before was nothing more than the covering of freights on recent sales.

Those who had expected a continuation of the encouraging trade with foreigners were disappointed, for all points reported dullness in the demand from abroad. The local cash demand was dull and at prices slightly shaded, and the northwestern centers were lower at 2c over December for No. 1 northern. Because of scanty offerings the Kansas City market displayed moderate firmness, the inquiry not being urgent.

Ohio Report Is Bearish.

According to King of Toledo, the Ohio crop of wheat aggregated 43,000,000 bu, or about 2,500,000 bu in excess of the government's September estimate. The Price Current spoke of an enlarged area seeded, and the weekly exports from Argentina were estimated at 1,000,000 bu, compared to actual shipments of 896,000 bu last week, and 640,000 bu last year. At 1,046,000 bu, the primary arrivals fell about 400,000 bu under those of the corresponding day in 1905. Clearances of wheat and flour at the seaboard were the equivalent of 501,000 bu. Local wheat receipts were 27 cars, slightly under the estimate.

Corn Dull and Steady.

Extreme dullness characterized the corn market throughout, almost everybody being on the waiting list. Despite the weakening tendency in wheat the cereal presented a fairly firm front all day, closing at prices unchanged from those which marked the previous day's finish, after ruling ¼c higher for the active options. While receipts were only 98 cars, of which 98 graded contract, compared to an estimate of 236 cars, there were some reports of a heavier movement in the near future.

Ohio reports indicated that the biggest crop in the history of the commonwealth would be harvested this year, the condition being given as 104, against 89 last year, and the area at 2,892,000 acres. The Argentine exports were estimated at 1,300,000 bu, against actual shipments of 1,300,000 bu last week, and 1,180,000 bu the similar period last year. The shipping demand was light, and Kansas City reported that it would have new Oklahoma corn next week. The seaboard cleared 45,000 bu, and primary receipts totaled 329,000 bu, against 555,000 bu last year.

Oats Relatively Firmest Cereal.

The oats market displayed relatively more firmness and activity than either of the more important grains. The general commission demand was improved and at no time was the selling pressure pronounced. There were further unfavorable reports from the northwest, and the demand at the cash tables was a little more brisk. Local receipts were 238 cars, of which 30 graded contract, against an estimate of 260 cars. The Ohio report indicated a yield of 46,000,000 bu, against a crop of 48,000,000 bu last year. Final prices were at advances of ¼c for December and ⅛@¼c for May. At one time gains of ⅜@½c were shown.

October Ribs Are Pressed.

October ribs were pressed hard at times by packers and local pit longs, but the trade in general in the provision market was dull and devoid of unusual interest. Considerable scattered support was given to the January products. Final prices were 2½c off for January pork, unchanged to 5c lower for lard, and 2½c higher to 10c lower for ribs.

The local receipts of hogs—14,000—were well under the estimate, and values at the yards displayed a sound tone. The western run of hogs was 45,800, against 53,000 a week ago and 48,800 a year ago. Shipments hence of meats and lard—1,653,000 lbs and 1,002,000 lbs, respectively—fell short of those of the corresponding day last year.

Rye Dull and Easy.

Rye was dull and easy. October was 60½c bid and December 62c bid. No. 4 sold at 56c and no grade at 54c f. o. b. Receipts were [illegible].

CEREAL WEAKENS AFTER SCORING A SLIGHT ADVANCE.

While Pressure Is Not Pronounced Market Gives Ready Response to Selling—Valentine Deal Continues as Foremost Topic of Gossip—Liberal Argentine Exports Estimated—Firmness Displayed in Coarser Grains.

The wheat market yesterday had a step up and a fall down. Only at infrequent intervals did the trade suggest anything bordering on even moderate activity, expected support holding back for developments and bears indulging only mildly in a pressing movement, although the market gave ready response to the weight of their offerings.

As was the case in the previous session, everybody was on the lookout for a Valentine move, but, while some traders seemed confident that a good part of the wheat handed out came from the recently acquired Valentine line, the prevailing impression was that the holdings were kept practically intact.

The traders had much time to devote to an unraveling of the mystery of Oct. 2, when the former president of the Armour Grain company bought an estimated lot of 2,500,000 bu of December and May wheat. Some of the keenest ferrets credited the purchases to Schwab and a few of his eastern friends; others saw the hand of Adolph Lichstern behind the deal, and others could not shake off the belief that the wheat was for Valentine and Valentine alone. The uncertainty of things had much to do toward restricting general activity. The market closed at declines of ⅛@⅜c for December and ⅜@½c for May, after ruling ⅛@⅜c above the close of the day before.

Northwest Expects Larger Receipts.

Liverpool was a shade firmer early, but closed unchanged to ⅛d off. Receipts at Duluth and Minneapolis were 705 cars, well in excess of those of a week before, but 244 cars less than those of the corresponding day last year. Figuring that the movement soon would show a good increase, northwestern operators pressed the markets here and at Minneapolis at times. It came from various sources that fully 400,000 bu of the good export business reported the day before was nothing more than the covering of freights on recent sales.

Those who had expected a continuation of the encouraging trade with foreigners were disappointed, for all points reported dullness in the demand from abroad. The local cash demand was dull and at prices slightly shaded, and the northwestern centers were lower at 2c over December for No. 1 northern. Because of scanty offerings the Kansas City market displayed moderate firmness, the inquiry not being urgent.

Ohio Report Is Bearish.

According to King of Toledo, the Ohio crop of wheat aggregated 43,000,000 bu, or about 3,500,000 bu in excess of the government's September estimate. The Price Current spoke of an enlarged area seeded, and the weekly exports from Argentina were estimated at 1,000,000 bu, compared to actual shipments of 896,000 bu last week, and 640,000 bu last year. At 1,046,000 bu, the primary arrivals fell about 400,000 bu under those of the corresponding day in 1905. Clearances of wheat and flour at the seaboard were the equivalent of 501,000 bu. Local wheat receipts were 27 cars, slightly under the estimate.

Corn Dull and Steady.

Extreme dullness characterized the corn market throughout, almost everybody being on the waiting list. Despite the weakening tendency in wheat the cereal presented a fairly firm front all day, closing at prices unchanged from those which marked the previous day's finish, after ruling ¼c higher for the active options. While receipts were only 319 cars, of which 98 graded contract, compared to an estimate of 236 cars, there were reports of a heavier movement in the near future.

Ohio reports indicated that the biggest crop in the history of the commonwealth would be harvested this year, the condition being given as 104, against 89 last year, and the area 3,192,000 acres. The Argentine exports were estimated at 1,300,000 bu, against actual shipments of 1,300,000 bu last week, and 1,500,000 bu the similar period last year. The shipping demand was light, and Kansas City said that it would have new Oklahoma corn next week. The seaboard cleared 45,000 bu, and primary receipts totaled 329,000 bu, against 555,000 bu last year.

Oats Relatively Firmest Cereal.

The oats market displayed relatively more firmness and activity than either of the more important grains. The general commission demand was improved and at no time was the selling pressure pronounced. There were further unfavorable reports from the northwest, and the demand at the cash tables was a little more brisk. Local receipts were 238 cars, of which 30 graded contract, against an estimate of 260 cars. The Ohio report indicated a yield of 46,000,000 bu, against a yield of 48,000,000 bu last year. Final pit prices were at advances of ¼c for December and ⅛@⅜c for May. At one time gains of ⅜c were shown.

October Ribs Are Pressed.

October ribs were pressed hard at times by packers and local pit longs, but the trade in general in the provision market was dull and devoid of unusual interest. Considerable scattered support was given to the January products. Final prices were 2½c off for January pork, unchanged to 5c lower for lard, and 5c higher to 10c lower for ribs.

The local receipts of hogs—14,000—were well under the estimate, and values at the yards displayed a sound tone. The western run of hogs was 45,800, against 53,000 a week ago and 41,000 a year ago. Shipments hence of meats and lard—1,653,000 lbs and 1,002,000 lbs, respectively—fell short of those of the corresponding day last year.

Rye Dull and Easy.

Rye was dull and easy. October was 60½c bid and December 62c bid. No. 4 sold at 56c and no grade at 54c f. o. b. Receipts were [illegible]

Barley was in fair demand and steady. Malting grades ranged at 41@56c, feed 38@39c, and screenings at 30@43c. Receipts were 67 cars.

Flaxseed was off ½c, in sympathy with the weakness in the northwest. No. 1 northwestern closed at $1.11½. No. 1 at $1.06, and October [illegible]

Timothy seed was neglected. October was [illegible], December $4.00 bid, and March $4.10 bid. Country lots ranged from $3.00@3.85.

INTERESTING TRADE GOSSIP ON 'CHANGE.

"It is now clearly evident that spring wheat and the strictly hard varieties of winter wheat are going to be in active request this year, for several reasons," says the first issue of "At the Market," the new house organ issued yesterday by Bartlett-Frazier-Carrington, under the management of Louis A. Lamb. "In the first place, we think that no one is now honestly disputing the fact that we have raised a comparatively small crop of spring wheat. Secondly, there is a small percentage of the winter wheat of what is known as the hard varieties that is really hard and glutinous this year, as the climatic conditions seem to have operated to make hard winter wheat in many sections mature so soft in quality as to have as much the appearance of soft winter wheat as hard winter wheat.

"So much for the domestic situation. Abroad it is acknowledged that there will be a large deficiency both in the quantity and quality of the hard varieties of wheat which are furnished by Russia. The result will be that heavy premiums will be exacted for spring wheat in this country, which will create a largely increased domestic consumption of flour made from soft winter wheat, of which we have a large supply of excellent quality. There are already indications that the demand for this quality is likely to increase in the near future."

A well informed grain man of Minneapolis wired Rycroft that this would be the last week of decreasing wheat stocks at that point.

J. F. Mackenzie, writing from Minneapolis, said: "The Peavey interests seem to think the spring wheat crop of the northwest, exclusive of durum, will be about 190,000,000 bu, instead of 160,000,000 bu, which has seemed to be the popular estimate. They are anticipating that the wheat movement will be continuous right through the year until March.

"Stocks a year ago reached their maximum here in January, while this year they did not reach the high point until April, and this is undoubtedly the basis for the idea that wheat stocks will not reach the maximum position until March."

"There is a decided difference of opinion as to the effect of large exports on the price of wheat," said J. F. Jackson. "Many believe they mean an enhancement in values. We are inclined to take the opposite view. We believe this is borne out in the fact that this country and Canada have exported 43,000,000 bu of wheat since July 1, against 15,000,000 last year. The price of December wheat a year ago today ranged from 83⅝c to 84⅜c, and May wheat 85¼c to 85⅞c. If large exports mean higher prices, why are not today's quotations higher than those of a year ago?"

Minneapolis wired that flour sales were moderate and the country movement of wheat large.

The Duluth Commercial Record estimates the flaxseed crop of the northwest at 30,000,000 bu, with a possible 10,000,000 bu in other sections.

Kneeland-Clement-Curtis had the following from their Argentine correspondent: "Stevedores' strike on at Rosario. Growing weather is favorable. Locust damage limited up to the present time."

Argentine shipments were estimated at 1,000,000 bu wheat and 1,300,000 bu corn. Last year's wheat shipments were 640,000 bu.

"The stock of wheat at Odessa amounts to 5,600,000 bu, compared to 800,000 bu a year ago. The weather is warm," said a special Russian cable. "The market is firm with sellers reserved. Arrivals at the Azoff small, and at the Crimea better."

Hog packing for the week was estimated by the Price Current at 375,000 hogs, against 355,000 the previous week, and 365,000 last year. The aggregate packing since March 1, was about 14,330,000 hogs, against 13,305,000 for the corresponding time last year, an increase of 1,025,000.

Cash wheat continued to rule dull. Both demand and offerings were light. Local exporters insisted that the reports of sales made to foreigners the last few days had been grossly exaggerated. Yesterday there were few bids in the market, and these were claimed to be below a working basis, even at the decline.

Differences were unchanged, No. 2 red being quoted 1¼c under December on track, and No. 2 hard 1c under. Kansas City and St. Louis reported a fair inquiry with prices relatively steady. At Minneapolis No. 1 northern was 2c over December. New York wired that there was a little export business in export wheat, although bids were not numerous.

A fair inquiry developed for corn and oats in the local sample markets, and sales were slightly larger. Corn was unchanged to ¼c lower, and oats were ¼c higher. Local sales were 12,000 bu wheat, 110,000 bu corn, and 225,000 bu oats. The seaboard reported 120,000 bu wheat, 80,000 bu corn, and 50,000 bu oats for export.

Pringle-Fitch-Rankin and Lake were conspicuous sellers of wheat throughout the day, and the crowd suspected that they were getting part of Valentine's line. Barrett, Ware, Friedman, and Brosseau were good sellers. Snydacker, Logan, and O'Brien were moderate buyers.

Corn trade was dull and featureless. Comstock sold a little early and Gebhart bought. In oats, Elmore, Kidston, Northern Grain, Wells, Rosenbaum Grain, and Knight-McDougal led the buying, with Peavey, Comstock, and Armour the best sellers. Sickel-Roberts and Neeld, a broker, sold lard. The buying was scattered, the large packers not doing much.

Estimated receipts for today are: Wheat, 44 cars; corn, 319 cars; oats, 247 cars; rye, 12 cars; barley, 68 cars; hogs, 15,000.

Minneapolis yesterday had 404 cars of wheat, Duluth 301 cars, and Winnipeg 270 cars. A year ago the receipts at the three points were, respectively, 721 cars, 228 cars, and 462 cars.

Closing prices for wheat in foreign markets were: Liverpool, unchanged to ⅛d lower; Paris, ⅛@¼c lower; Antwerp, unchanged; Berlin, unchanged; Budapest, 1c higher.

John A. McLeod has applied for membership on the board of trade.

LIVE CHICKENS ARE WEAKER.

Heavier arrivals of live chickens and an indifferent demand caused a ½c decline in prices. Peaches and grapes were lower. Receipts were heavy, and are likely to continue so for the present, while the quality was no more than fair. There was a good trade in potatoes at previous prices.

OPPOSED TO SMALL BANKS

FINANCIER THINKS $1,000,000 SHOULD BE MINIMUM CAPITAL.

Declares Larger Concerns Are More Carefully Managed than the Little Ones and Give the Depositors Greater Security Against Loss—Rock Island Railway Will Continue Putting Its Earnings Back Into the Property for an Indefinite Period.

"I see many views expressed as to the best means of securing greater safety for bank depositors," said a leading Chicago bank president yesterday. "I think the best way would be to get better men in the business, and one way to do so would be through prohibiting the organization of a bank with less capital than $1,000,000 cash. The present minimum for state banks is $200,000. If it were necessary to raise $1,000,000, banks like the Stensland one and like Dreyer's bank would not be possible. They merely converted their real estate business into a bank, and what may be covered up under such circumstances is difficult to discover.

"The banking business should be made more dignified, and a minimum capital of $1,000,000 would be a move in that direction. It is easy for a few men in the real estate and insurance business to raise enough money to control a bank with $200,000 capital, but to raise enough to control $1,000,000 would be difficult. It would also be much more difficult to steal $1,000,000 than it would $200,000. The process would be longer drawn out and the chances of discovery greater.

"Again, if $1,000,000 was the least involved the stockholders in the first instance would see that capable men were placed in control of the institution. A stockholder in a $200,000 bank may have such a relatively small amount at stake that he will not take sufficient interest in the character of the men conducting the business. As to the depositors, what with a capital of $1,000,000 and a like amount of liability on the part of the shareholders he would have $2,000,000 to secure his deposits against a maximum of $400,000 in the case of the small bank.

"Chicago is a big city and it has the means of organizing suitably capitalized banks in territories where such are needed. There is no use having in Chicago a state bank with small capital when there may just as well be a bank with large capital. The business of banking is profitable when handled by men who understand it, and with large capital made necessary before a bank could be organized, only men who know the business would be engaged to manage the institution.

All Must Take Vacations.

"So far as bonding clerks and officials is concerned it is an inadequate remedy. A $10,000 or $15,000 indemnity for the acts of an official in a position to loot a bank is a small consideration.

"None of our clerks or officials is bonded. But we keep close watch on all. The men are constantly shifted. Every one is compelled to take a vacation and he does not know who is to take his place. The officials of the bank choose a substitute for him. He goes on his vacation at a time specified by the officers. He does not know when the time will be. The officials also are obliged to take vacations."

"Does this include the president?" was asked.

"I haven't had the dates of my vacations determined as yet, but I take them frequently and am gone four or five weeks at a time. I am glad to have some one in my position, since one man may see things that another might overlook. So it happens that every one in this bank has a vacation and has a new man in his place. When a president and a cashier are allowed to run a bank they cannot be prevented from wrecking it."

No Change in Rock Island Policy.

Robert Mather, president of the Rock Island company, is quoted as saying as regards the Rock Island's position that the company will continue to put earnings back into the property for an indefinite period. The position of the Moore interests in the Rock Island and other railroads is unchanged from that of a year ago. The Harriman position in Chicago and Alton also remains as it was before.

Canadian Pacific.

Stockholders of the Canadian Pacific at their annual meeting adopted a resolution authorizing the issue of 4 per cent debenture stock for the extension of branch lines in the west and the leasing of small ones in Ontario and Quebec. President Shaughnessy announced that the $5,000,000 surplus earnings appropriated last year for extensions and improvements have not been used. At the annual meeting also the retiring directors were reëlected, and they in turn organized by the reëlection of Sir William C. Van Horne as chairman of the board, and Sir Thomas Shaughnessy as president of the company.

National Starch Bonds.

The Corn Products Refining company is seeking to refund into 5 per cent notes the $2,843,000 6 per cent first mortgage bonds of the old National Starch company. The predecessor of the Corn Products Refining also sought, but without success, to refund this issue. The refining company, however, has adopted an expedient which it is expected will bring the 6 per cent bondholders to terms. The policy is to dismantle the National Starch plants which secured the bonds. In this way their value can in time be so impaired that they will be worth much less than at present. It does not appear wholly unfair that the National Starch bondholders should be asked to accept a lower interest rate bearing security. That which the Corn Products Refining is offering is in every particular first class. A sinking fund is provided to retire them at maturity.

St. Louis Southwestern.

In the annual report of President Gould of the St. Louis Southwestern is found the following passage:

"In view of the large expenditures charged against maintenance, due and incidental to the improvement of the roadway, buildings and equipment, and to the shortage in the cotton crop, and other conditions fully set forth in the report of the vice president and general manager, the financial results for the year are most satisfactory. The work of improvement is still in progress at the date of this report, and under favorable weather conditions will continue throughout the ensuing fiscal year. The completion of the improvement work now under way will place the property in excellent condition for safe and economical operation and ultimately result in increased net earnings. At the date of this report the crop prospects are excellent and business conditions generally point to increased earnings during the ensuing fiscal year."

In the fiscal year there were issued $1,282,000 first consolidated mortgage bonds to acquire equipment trust notes of the St. Louis Southwestern railway company, and $12,326,000 to reimburse the treasury for advances for permanent betterments to the property.

Dividends Declared.

The United States Rubber company has declared the regular quarterly dividend of 2 per cent on its first preferred stock, including old preferred stock not exchanged for first preferred, and the regular quarterly dividend of ½ per cent on its second preferred stock, both payable on Oct. 31 to stock of record on Oct. 15. Books do not close. Although the earnings of the company are large and equal to a dividend on the common stock, and, although it was possible to make a disbursement on that issue, it was decided to increase the company's working capital and surplus and not order the payment of a common dividend at this time.

The Finance Company of Pennsylvania has declared the regular quarterly dividend of $1.25 on its second preferred stock, payable on Nov. 1 to holders of record on Oct. 22.

The Northern Pacific railway company declared the usual quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent, payable on Nov. 1. Books close on Oct. 12 and reopen on Nov. 2.

New York Clearing House.

At the annual meeting of the New York Clearing House association the following statement was made covering the year:

Exchanges	$103,754,000,000
Balances	3,832,000,000
Total transactions	$107,586,000,000

Total transactions since organization of clearing house (fifty-three years):

Exchanges	$1,761,301,000,000
Balances	82,470,000,000
Total	$1,843,771,000,000

Alexander Gilbert, president of the Market and Fulton National bank, was elected president of the association to succeed Dumont Clarke. Albert H. Wiggin of the Chase National bank was elected secretary. James Stillman of the National City bank succeeded William H. Porter as chairman of the clearing house committee. Mr. Stillman, as chairman of the committee, holds the most influential position in the gift of the association, and in such position can exercise great influence over banking practices in New York.

General Financial News.

Application has been made to the New York Stock exchange to list $1,000,000 preferred stock of the Canadian Pacific railway company and $20,280,000 additional common stock.

Officials of the Nipissing Mines company deny the company contemplates increasing the par value of its stock. It is said that work at the mines in Cobalt is progressing favorably and the management expects that earnings will not be less than $500,000 per month.

Oak Park "L" Traffic.

Traffic of the Chicago and Oak Park Elevated for September showed an average decrease of 1,109 passengers daily, or 2.47 per cent. The decrease was due to the conversion of the west side cable lines into trolleys. The figures follow:

Personal Mention.

George Van Zandt has resigned as president of the Prairie State bank and George Woodland, formerly vice president, has succeeded him.

Chicago Stocks.

In the local stock market Sears-Robuck preferred showed some weakness on small transactions. The price touched 93. Swift & Co. stock was active and firm. Diamond Match was steady. The price is now holding around 125. A few shares of South Side Elevated sold at 94.

Foreign Exchange.

The market opened practically unchanged from Wednesday, with some demand for remittances for Tuesday's steamer, at a trifling premium over bills for Saturday's mail.

Actual rates for bankers' sixty day sight sterling were 479⅝ to 479⅞; London sight, 4.8360 to 4.8870; cable transfers, 484½ to 484⅝; commercial long, documents payment, 479⅞ to 480⅝; short marks, 94 7-16 to 94 9-16; sight francs, 521¼ to 520⅝; florins on Amsterdam or Rotterdam, 39⅞ plus 1-16 to 39 15-16.

The leading foreign exchange bankers quote the following posted rates:

London sight	4.85
Berlin sight	.94¾
Paris sight	518¾
Vienna sight	.20¼
Genoa sight	518¾
Copenhagen, Stockholm, and Christiania	26.80

Clearings in Chicago yesterday were $37,776,877, and a week ago $36,608,379. New York exchange sold yesterday in Chicago at 5@10c discount before clearings and 5c discount after clearings.

IN FOREIGN MONEY MARKET.

LONDON, Oct. 4.—Money was in restricted supply today owing to repayments to the Bank of England, which more than offset the dividend distributions. Discounts were a shade easier. Prices on the stock exchange continue steady, with moderate investment purchases of British securities. Consols hardened on the fact that there was no change in the Bank of England's rate of discount, but they eased later on the poor bank returns. Foreigners benefited by Paris support. Turkish bonds were weak. Americans, after an irregular opening, hardened to over parity on good local support. Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé picked up well after the dividend disappointment, but Canadian Pacific was weak in spite of the bonus declaration. The market closed irregular, with the exception of United States Steel. Imperial Japanese 6s closed at 103½.

The weekly statement of the Bank of England shows the following changes:

Total reserve, decreased	£2,980,000
Circulation, increased	582,000
Bullion, decreased	2,397,413
Other securities, increased	1,390,000
Other deposits, decreased	5,000
Public deposits, decreased	1,595,000
Notes reserve, decreased	2,986,000
Government securities, decreased	2,000

The proportion of the bank's reserve to liability this week is 3850 per cent, as compared with 42.83 per cent last week.

BERLIN, Oct. 4.—Domestic securities on the boerse today were fractionally lower. Russian shares were firmer.

PARIS, Oct. 4.—Prices on the bourse today were unsteady, and Turks became heavy on account of the movement of troops on the Bulgarian frontier. Notwithstanding the heavy loss of gold and the report yesterday that the rate would be increased, the Bank of France did not raise its discount rate today. Russian imperial 4s closed at 72.25 and Russian bonds of 1904 at 482.00. The weekly statement of the Bank of France shows the following changes:

	Francs.

Mandel Brothers

Friday and Saturday will be
Children's Days

PROMPTED by the realization that the wonderful progress evidenced in the designing and creation of garments for misses and children entitled them to a display during opening week, we have decided to hold special children's days Friday and Saturday in our beautiful apparel section on the second floor, State St.

Never before has there been so much attention paid to attire for girls as at this season; never have makers realized the importance of these lines as at present. Nor have they been alone in their efforts, as our most hearty co-operation has always been at their disposal

The results have fully met our expectations, and mothers will be charmed as never before with the magnificent showing of garments—styles never even thought of before for the little ones.

Many of the handsomest things were imported from Paris especially for this occasion, and they are truly a revelation of the highest art in the designing of artistic attire for juniors, misses and children. Another important feature is our complete showing of stylish garments designed particularly for small women—styles entirely identical with those created in the larger sizes. Second floor, State street.

Girls' school coats at $10
Girls' practical school coats in a wide range of styles. The materials are Scotch mixtures, checks, plaids and plain cheviots, double-breasted effects and extremely full box backs. Prices are $15, 13.50, 12.50 and $10.

Misses' smart coats at $10
Misses' smart school coats of attractive mixtures, checks and dark plaids, in shadowy effects, fly front and double-breasted styles, swagger box back, coat collar and collarless effects, $10, 12.50, $15, 17.50 to $40.

Girls' sailor dresses at $5
Girls' one-piece and regulation sailor dresses of plain serges, cheviots and fancy checks and plaids, some attractively trimmed in contrasting colors, others in plain tailored models, $5, 7.75, $10, 12.50 up to $20.

Handsome new junior suits $15 up
Junior suits for misses, in new mixtures and attractive checks and plaids, English box and semi-fitted models, mannish coat collars and deep shaped revers, extremely full cluster plaited skirts. These are in entirely new and novel effects. Prices are $15, 17.50, 18.50 up to $45.

Evening and dress coats $30 up
Our selection of handsome evening and dress coats for children, juniors and misses is more extensive this season than ever before. They are of excellent quality broadcloth in all the pretty colorings, beautifully trimmed. Prices are very moderate, indeed, ranging upward from $30 to $75.

Friday and Saturday will be special coat days for the little tots as well

Bearskin cloth coats, with full box back and double-breasted front, in white, blue, green and navy blue; 1 to 4 years, 3.50.

The infants' section seems fairly abloom with the bright beauty of new things for the baby—cute creations that will delight a mother's heart as never before. We take especial pride in our showing in these lines, but space forbids but a brief mention of the many novel ideas. Third floor, State.

Box coats in gray mixtures and checks, trimmed or in plain box style; very handsome garments, prices 5.00, 5.95, $6 & 6.95.

Moleskin cloth coats in gray, green and red, collar and cuffs trimmed with braid, fancy buttons, 2 to 4 yrs., spec'l, 5.95.

Gray krimmer cloth coats with inlaid collar and cuffs or box style, 2 to 4 year sizes. Very special values at only 5.00.

Russian hats in gray krimmer cloth to match above coats, with earlaps and black brush, finished with silk cord, at $1.

HEARST DEFIES "BOSS" M'CARR

Candidate's Cold Blooded pudiation of the Brook Leader Means Chaos i That Borough.

TIGER GOADED MAY T

Murphy and Sullivan Clans Likely to Prepare for Poli cal Slaughter Under Re peated Attacks.

BY RAYMOND.

New York, Oct. 5.—[Special.]—Mr. H has struck a crisis in his affairs. a alliance with the regular democrats here and in Brooklyn has disintegra such a sensational way as to make it probable that his chances for election wholly disappeared.

He has come to an open break wit McCarren, the Brooklyn boss, and as a of the determination of the Indepen league to put up local candidates acro river in opposition to those nominat the organization. McCarren has publi pudiated Hearst and may even go so fa come out for Hughes.

It is difficult to see how Mr. Hearst po can win with the regular democracy in B lyn against him. At the same time, t nation in regard to Murphy is nearly as and the likelihood is that Murphy and H also will break away publicly within next day or two.

Bravery but Not Politics.

Mr. Hearst has acted with great bra in denouncing Mr. McCarren, which h in a special item issued at Chatham t It was brave enough, but it was not poli Democratic headquarters here at the toria hotel are nearly abandoned until found out whether Hearst and Murphy to fight or not, but in Brooklyn it is handed war without equivocation, an Hughes does not carry that borough by 7 majority next month, he is not the ma people think he is.

This fight between Hearst and McC has been brewing, of course, since h the Buffalo convention. McCarren r sents the element in democracy over which never has affiliated with Hearst is, beyond a shadow of doubt, a corpor man, as Mr. Hearst repeatedly has ch him with being. He represents all the most and traction elements generally none the less, he has built up a spl local machine, and he is just as autoc democratic dictator on the other side as Murphy is in Manhattan.

McCarren is more or less new to his jo only secured final control three or four ago, and perhaps he lacks the poise a longer enjoyment of the sweets of le ship would have given him. He unders fight Hearst at Buffalo, just as McC did. He had his delegates behind him a Hearst just as solidly as Murphy ha for the editor.

McCarren Long on Regularity.

Immediately after the nomination made, however, McCarren, in whom the dition of regularity has been a strong one mediately declared that he would give H warm support in the regular Brooklyn paign. It was supposed for a time the c date would be only too glad to get this for some days there has been an underst ing that the so-called Independence lea an organization which would defy the a tiny of a census agent, and which seem assume jurisdiction in various parts of city and country without any particular dence of a definite following, announced it proposed to make independent nom tions for the judiciary and local offic Brooklyn, in opposition to those regul put in the field by the McCarren organiza It was a proposition enough to give an politician fever and ague, because, alth Mr. Hearst carried the borough of Broo last year in his race for the mayoralty. Independence league was not then existence. Furthermore, it was propose fill the judiciary ticket with two or t young lawyers of that league who had engaged in furthering the Hearst move of late, but who had neither professional political standing sufficient to entitle t to such distinction.

Puts Issue Up to Hearst.

When the Independence league pe whose headquarters are in the Gilsey ho announced positively that they would a new ticket in the field in Brooklyn. Mr. Carren's red Irish-American blood ran. He called one of his own lieutenants to and sent him to catch Mr. Hearst up the with this message:

"Tell Mr. Hearst that although we fou his nomination at Buffalo, we are reg democrats and we abide by the result. I in Kings county our organization is the r lar party and we expect his support. I desire us on our nominations for the ass bly, state senate, judiciary, and congress shall consider that he is bolting the de cratic party. He may indorse all our no sees, make arrangements of fusion with or fight us. If he chooses the last course him that Mr. Hughes will carry Kings cou by a majority of 50,000 to 75,000. If we port Hearst I believe we can carry the cou for him by 20,000. It's up to him."

Before this message reached Hearst a he had taken matters into his own hands declared war on McCarren and all his t In a public statement issued at Chatham Hearst said:

"I am a democrat, but a Jefferson de not a 'corporation democrats' a allow a hired agent of corporat McCarren to define my democracy or unworthy candidates for me to suppo

Means Chaos in Brooklyn.

Mr. Hearst knew what he was doing, and his defiance of the Brooklyn complete. His definition of McCarre the following passage of the Chatham st ment has been particularly galling to org nization democrats in Brooklyn, because true:

"Mr. McCarren, by calling himself a d ocrat, does not make himself a democrat. he should call himself honest, it would make him honest. If he should call his ti a good ticket, it would not make it a ticket. As a matter of actual fact, the Carren ticket is notoriously unfit and sh not command the support of honest de erats or honest independents."

This bravery on the part of the democr candidate for governor and his defiance the worst elements in his own party so fa Brooklyn is concerned, will help him am all decent people there. They will recog that it took a good deal of political pluc make such a statement, and the knoc
